JONES BLASTS WALLACE AS UNFIT TO GUIDE RFC

Easy Cabinet Job Is All Right, He Tells Hearing.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—White maned Jesse Jones, who has supervised the lending of 45 billion dollars in federal funds in 13 years, flatly asserted at a senate committee hearing today that he considers former Vice President Wallace unqualified to head the federal loan agencies.

Bringing his long feud with the former Vice President to a new climax, the 70 year old Texan brought loud applause from the jampacked senate caucus room by blurting out Wallace's name in response to goading from Sen. Pepper [D., Fla.].

The occasion was a hearing before the senate commerce committee on a bill by Sen. George [D., Ga.] to divorce the Reconstruction Finance corporation and the other big government lending agencies from the commerce department. This bill has been given senate preference over action on confirmation of President Roosevelt's nomination of Wallace to succeed Jones as secretary of commerce.

Crowd Big and Unruly.

The hearing was easily the best political show staged in years on Capitol hill, with an eager and unruly crowd milling outside the caucus room. Inside were about 500 persons, some sitting sardinelike on the too few chairs and standees filling every nook and cranny of the room and jamming the exits.

One capitol policeman on duty at the main door had his shirt torn from its mooring by the pushing throng. He got help from fellow officers barely in time to save his trousers. In a front seat, a woman screamed when some one stepped on her toe. Another woman ruefully eyed a torn veil.

When Jones entered, half an hour late, he wore a confident smile. Proceedings were disrupted for 15 minutes when he burst into the room. People fell over themselves trying to make a path for him. Flashlights illumined the room and movie cameras began to grind. Photographers huddled by the dozens in various parts of the room snapped pictures.

Fears "Idealistic Schemes."

Until Jones became nettled at Sen. Pepper's questions, the hearing had proceeded without direct reference to personalities. Jones opened his testimony by reading a prepared statement in which he avoided use of Wallace's name but warned against placing the RFC under the supervision of any man "willing to jeopardize the country's future with untried ideas and idealistic schemes."

Pepper, a leading senate proponent of turning the commerce department over to Wallace with no change in the vast lending powers which were incorporated in it when Jones became commerce secretary in 1940, asked Jones if he believed

SENATORS TOLD UNTRIED IDEAS WILL PERIL U. S.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24 (AP).—Jesse Jones' statement before the senate commerce committee follows:

"It seems to me that the paramount issue before this committee in consideration of the resolution offered by Sen. George (to make a separate department of the lending agencies) is not the location of the powers which the congress has, from time to time, delegated to the Reconstruction Finance corporation, but the proper character of their administration.

"The RFC and its subsidiaries conduct the most gigantic business enterprise, or series of business enterprises, that the world has ever known. They affect the entire economy of this nation. The way in which they are administered from now on is even more important, if that is possible, than their administration in the past, since the post-war adjustments will need to be most carefully handled in order not to destroy our entire business and financial structure.

Must Have Good Judgment.

"The man who is given the vast responsibilities contained in the RFC act should be one of proven and sound judgment with business knowledge gained from experience in business. The country has a right to expect a man in this important place whose philosophy is in line with the principles which made our country great.

"It is my firm conviction that the government's investment in plants and facilities, and in raw materials of all sorts, represented by billions of dollars in taxpayers' money should not be made the subject of careless experimentation.

"It is equally important to stop and think how the lending power of the RFC will be administered. For the last 13 years the resources of the RFC have been used to supplement private credit. So that funds might be available when private resources were not adequate the RFC act specified loans should be made either with full security, or so secured as to assure repayment.

Abuses Possible.

"The discretion which the latter injunction leaves with the directors of the RFC could easily be abused either by inexperience, visionary planning, or a disregard of the taxpayers' money.

"Certainly the RFC should not be placed under the supervision of any man willing to jeopardize the country's future with untried ideas and idealistic schemes. The lending agencies of the government can be administered, as they have been, on a nonpartisan basis, for the benefit of all the people, or they can be used to destroy what we have built up in this nation in 170 years. That, to my mind, is the issue which this committee and the congress must decide."

CHECK COMMUNISTS' INFILTRATIONS, PLEA OF CANADA'S BISHOPS

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 24 [Special].—A warning against the peril of communism was issued today by the national board of the Catholic hierarchy of Canada thru its permanent secretariat in Ottawa. The statement was signed by Cardinal Villeneuve and the archbishops of Vancouver, Toronto, and Regina. It said in part:

"We warn once more against materialists and atheistic communism which now personifies in the world all the unleashed forces against the church and against the moral values of which she has the care; namely, human dignity and Christian liberty.

"The courageous part which the Russian people have played in turning away from the world the frightful Nazi domination must not blind us regarding the world revolution which the leaders of international communism always seek.

"Governments and simple citizens alike have the very grave obligation of checking amongst us communistic infiltrations under whatever external appearance they present themselves."

IT'S GO NORTH, YOUNG WOMAN, GO NORTH; NOW!

New York, Jan. 24 (AP).—Lady, are you 29 and still unmarried? You can't dance? Got red, rough hands? Shy with boys? And people talk about you behind your back?

It won't matter in Alaska, according to Mrs. Jane Hope Whitney, U. S. O. club director just returned from there. She stated flatly today that any wallflower determined to get a man should unpack her snow shoes and trek northwards.

At one recent U. S. O. dance there were five girls to 250 men, she pointed out.

Electricity Shut Off in Britain to Force Saving

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 24.—Electricity was cut off in several districts of London and adjoining counties without warning today during the peak breakfast period, after the public failed to heed the fuel ministry's radio and newspaper appeal for drastic economies. The stoppage lasted 15 minutes.

Britain Spends 57 Million a Day to Keep War Going

LONDON, Jan. 24 (AP).—John Anderson, chancellor of the exchequer, reported in commons today that Britain was spending about 57 million dollars a day for the war, or about 21 billion annually.

2 Ex-Convicts Tell $150,000 Vault Looting

Two south side ex-convicts sat in the detective bureau last night after their arrest in connection with a $150,000 vault robbery last Saturday. Between bites of pork chop sandwiches and blueberry pie they told detectives how they planned the looting of the 177 safety deposit boxes in the E. H. Rumbold real estate offices, 624 W. 119th st.

The hoodlums, Thomas Leahy, 50, native of Chicago and former piano playing song plugger, and Llewellyn Morgan, 44, former Brooklynite who figured in the escape from Stateville prison by Roger Touhy and six other convicts in October, 1942, talked freely. Leahy said he was lookout at the robbery, and Morgan told of having "cased" the Rumbold office.

Both Name Ex-Convict.

Both men implicated Willie Niemoth, 54, one time safe blower, also held by police, but the gray haired ex-convict who was arrested in the Chrysler plant, where he was employed, denied the charge.

Meanwhile, at the detective bureau, Mrs. Otilla Obinger Wayne, 35, of 7850 Cregier av., with whom Leahy has been living, worried about the condition of her elaborate five room apartment, which police continued to search last night after earlier finding $6,990 there.

Morgan, first to be captured, told Sgt. Timothy O'Connell, who led the search for the robbers, that he met Leahy first in Michigan City [Ind.] prison when he went to the prison hospital during an illness.

$300 Sought for Prison Pal.

Leahy and Danny McGeoghegan, both working in the hospital, were doing time for a robbery of the State Bank of Culver, Ind. Last November while Morgan was living at a 119th st. address, about 100 feet from the Rumbold vault, he met Leahy again. Leahy, he said, asked for a loan of $300 to provide defense for McGeoghegan, who is under indictment as a participant in a robbery of the State Bank of Clearing in 1930.

The two men's stories agreed that it was decided that Morgan would find out all he could about the Rumbold vault, which he did. He said he was to receive 5 per cent of the loot for the job.

A Thoro Worker.

A thoro worker, Morgan said he feigned illness in order to visit a physician whose office is above the Rumbold office and on the same floor as the home of Robert C. Rumbold, 73, a brother of E. H., and watchman for the office. He made friends with Robert Rumbold, learned the vault had no alarm system and, a week before the robbery, "fingered" the watchman for Leahy by walking down the street with Rumbold.

Meanwhile, Leahy interrupted, Niemoth was hired as "torch man" for the job, but when it was determined that there was no alarm, it was decided to use chisels to make the job look as amateurish as possible.

The robbery was committed without incident, Leahy declared, and his split was "a little over $10,000."

Money Is Found.

Chief of Detectives Walter Storms explained that Sgt. O'Connell got the first tip on the robbers' identity when he traced to Leahy's sister ownership of the car used by the thugs. With Kensington police, Capt. Andrew Aitken and Deputy John Warren, O'Connell first arrested Morgan, then Leahy, and Mrs. Wayne, and finally Niemoth.

Later a policewoman found $1,200 in Mrs. Wayne's brassiere, but she asserted the money was hers.

Mrs. Wayne's first husband was Harry Obinger, acquitted in 1937 of the murder of Policeman Martin J. Condon, who he said had been keeping company with his wife.

Chief Storms said last night that police were searching for two other men, one of whom walked with a limp.

Take Oppeln; Hurl 6th Army Against Nazis

LONDON, Jan. 25 (AP).—Ripping thru German Silesia and East Prussia at blitzkrieg pace, the Russians yesterday captured Oppeln, Upper Silesian capital, and reached within 4½ miles of Breslau. In an outflanking maneuver they thrust 34 miles northwest of Breslau.

There were reports that the Russians already had crossed the Oder river line and had snapped shut the war's greatest trap on East Prussia.

In westernmost Poland, against apparently stiffening opposition, the soviet forces nevertheless plunged ahead a dozen miles in the neighborhood of Poznan on the most direct path to Berlin. Poznan is 137 miles from the German capital.

Four orders of the day by Premier Stalin and a long midnight war bulletin broadcast from Moscow disclosed the continued sweeping scope of the Russian offensive and announced that a sixth army had joined the great drive.

Say Reds Cross Oder.

The Germans announced that the Russians had thrust tanks and patrols across the Oder river in Silesia, but contended all had been wiped out. A Reuters, British news agency, dispatch from Moscow said the Russians had established "at least one bridgehead" across the river, which guards the heart of Germany.

While Moscow did not confirm this breaching of the Nazis' "last-ditch" line, the nightly war bulletin said that Marshal Konev's 1st Ukraine army group had extended its frontage on the east bank of the Oder to about 50 miles. Among more than 200 towns captured was Margareth, 4½ miles southeast of Breslau, chief city of the industrially important province. Earlier, Stalin had announced Konev's capture of Oppeln, 48 miles southeast of Breslau.

Call Situation "Acute."

After disclosing the Russians' Oder river crossing and the imminent peril of Breslau, the German DNB agency broadcast that the battle for East Prussia had "become somewhat acute," with tank columns of the 2d White Russian army of Marshal Rokossovsky "reaching the district of the Vistula estuary southwest of the port of Elbing," last land escape route from East Prussia.

While the Germans added that this thrust was forestalled, the Russian war bulletin left little doubt that the less than two-thirds of East Prussia still in German hands soon would be totally severed from the fatherland.

Rokossovsky's army group, in a day of steady progress, thrust to within 16 miles south of Elbing and within 42 miles southeast of Danzig, the bulletin disclosed. Among the 200 towns taken in this northward drive thru westernmost East Prussia were Miswalde, Rosenberg, and Riesenburg, the latter 14 miles west of the Vistula estuary.

Hint Province Cut Off.

In guarded language the German radio implied that possibly the cut-off already had been made, saying that the Russian aim was to cut the railway that runs down from Starting Sunday!

"I Fight with the Infantry"

Now you can read the story of the war the doughboys don't talk about — the day-by-day story of the chaos, confusion and suffering as experienced under fire by America's heroic front line soldiers.

Starting Sunday, the greatest infantryman of this war—the first man to win the top four medals given our fighters in this war—will tell what happened to his company of 192 men and six officers. Don't miss Capt. Maurice Britt's own story, "I Fight with the Infantry," starting in Sunday's Chicago Tribune.

DRIVE TO EDGE OF CLARK FIELD; BREAK RIVER LINE

RUINED PLANES OF JAPS LITTER CAPTURED FIELD

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BAMBAN, Luzon, P. I., Jan. 23 [Delayed].—The wreckage of planes on the Bamban air base, satellite of Clark field and the first major Japanese air base in the Philippines to fall to 6th army troops, explains why there have been so few air raids by the enemy.

The first American troops crossing the field today, hours after the last Japs had fled, found every clump of trees surrounding two runways, forming a V-shaped field, filled with what once were enemy planes. In addition, rows of 10 and 15 planes ran across the open dispersal areas. Despite attempts to camouflage them with nets, all had been wrecked.

Sgt. Lyle Spidle, Lafayette, Ind., one of a group of air force experts who arrived on the field a few minutes after the infantry, said the planes had been put out of commission by navy and army raids.

To the south, smoke is rising from Clark field, a few miles away. And just beyond, great columns of smoke are swirling up from Fort Stotsenburg.

Seize Airport Near Prize Base in a 10 Mile Gain.

MacARTHUR'S HDQ., Luzon, Jan. 25 [Thursday]—(AP).—American motorized units burst to the edge of big Clark field Wednesday. They spearheaded a swift moving drive which overran one of the prized airdrome's satellite fields and brought the Americans to within sight of mountainous Bataan.

Right behind the motorized units the 40th division cracked the Bamban river line, where the Japanese had been expected to make a stand. It advanced to within three miles of Clark field with its 13 air strips.

The drive penetrated to within a little over 40 air line miles of Manila. It moved so fast that little artillery spotter planes actually landed on the captured air field before the ground troops got to it. The Americans then crossed the Bamban river close by mountains where the Japanese had fled from deep dugouts under air attack.

Advance 10 Miles.

Americans of the 40th division captured the town of Bamban, near the newly won air field, 60 road miles from Manila, and motorized units sped on south to Mabalacat. They also were operating near Fort Stotsenburg.

This represented gains of nearly 10 miles from captured Capas, and carried the Americans for the first time into Pampanga province, the gateway to Manila.

Maj. Gen. Oscar W. Griswold's 14th corps, comprisng the 37th and 40th divisions, have carried Gen. MacArthur farther and farther toward Manila but the stiffest fighting has taken place to the northeast and east near Rosario. That is in the sector of Maj. Gen. Innis P. Swift's 1st corps, made up of the 43d, 6th, and 25th divisions and the 158th regimental combat team.

Warships Support Troops.

Fifteen days after the American landings at Lingayen and 13 after the beginning of the coastal push northeast of San Fabian, warships still were being called on to provide heavy fire support for the 43d division and the 158th regimental combat team struggling from ridge to ridge near Rosario. The Japanese resistance there was fierce and well directed. Rosario guards the approaches to Baguio, Philippine summer capital.

For the first time since the invasion of Luzon opened Jan. 9 at Lingayen bay, Gen. MacArthur reported casualty figures which showed at least 10 Japanese slain for every American.

During the first two weeks of the campaign, the Japanese casualties were estimated to approximate 14,000.

Of these 6,449 dead have been counted. Another 423 were taken prisoner and an estimated 7,200 were wounded.

657 Americans Dead.

"Our casualties are 657 killed, 187 missing, and 2,301 wounded, a total of 3,145," the bulletin said.

The American air force for the first time included among its targets famed Corregidor on an island in Manila bay where the gallant last stand of American forces was made in 1942.

The bulletin said 45 tons of explosives dropped on Corregidor caused "large explosions." Subic bay in the Manila sector was another target.

Girls in Army Abroad Safer: Nancy Astor

LONDON, Jan. 24 (AP).—Virginia born Nancy Astor challenged male protests in commons today against the sending of British girls to military duties overseas with the assertion that many of the girls would be safer in uniform abroad than in ordinary clothes at home.

Nancy Astor.

The Laborite faction, led by men, had protested against compulsory overseas duty for the auxiliary territorial service [ATS or British WACs]. They said the ATS girls would face temptations as well as danger of enemy action.

The 65 year old Mrs. Astor ridiculed the protests as an insult to women.

Before the fight was over, sex, the war, morals, Russia, and Foreign Secretary Eden became topics in a debate that kept the house in an uproar for four hours.

Fear for Morals, "Unnecessary."

James Grigg, war secretary, pleaded that the girls were needed to release men for the front lines in Britain's campaign to get 250,000 more fighting men.

Grigg said some members of parliament were "unnecessarily fearful as to the moral dangers" and remarked, "These girls have got their heads screwed on all right."

Cries from the speaker for order came as Mrs. Astor and Aneurin Bevan, the Laborites' most vitriolic speaker, swapped oral punches.

"The Labor party has been saying for years, 'Equality among the sexes,' and you don't mean it," Mrs. Astor said, accusing Bevan of talking "humbug." Turning sharply, Bevan, a former coal miner, shouted, "O, shut up, you cheap jack."

She "Gabbles All the Time."

Then, ignoring cries of "Order, order!" Bevan shouted:

"The woman gabbles and gabbles all of the time. We really ought to have some protection against her. I see no reason why we should have a rag bag mind of that sort inflicted upon the house."

Mrs. Astor won in the showdown. The house approved the war credits bill—the technical issue on which the debate developed.

Koenigsberg the capital, and thence across the Polish corridor to the reich proper.

Rokossovsky's men, besides extending their hold in the Polish corridor, also launched a new invasion of East Prussia from the southeast, taking Lyck, Neuendorf, and Bialla, in a success that brought Stalin's fourth order of the day.

This apparently joined the second White Russian forces solidly with those of Marshal Cherniakhovsky's 3d White Russian group, which had stabbed up to the border Tuesday in the same area.

Gain in Lake Region.

Cherniakhovsky's men yesterday dug deeper into East Prussia on the northeast and east, taking more than 250 communities, including the big towns of Angerburg and Widminnen, in a drive thru the lake region below Koenigsberg.

Between Silesia and East Prussia the 1st White Russian army of Marshal Zhukov drove toward Poznan.

A German military spokesman said the Russians were "at present" attacking Poznan from the east and south, but that "the violent fighting thus far has not yet reached the suburbs." The Poznan radio went off the air with the terse explanation, "The Russians are coming."

Moscow, however, placed Zhukov's forces still some 25 miles east of Poznan, with capture of five towns in that area. Kiecko, one of the towns seized, is 160 miles east of Berlin. In all Zhukov's men captured 800 places in Poland, including Kalisz, powerful hinge position with which the Germans had sought to guard both Breslau and Poznan. This capture won an order of the day from Stalin.

Thrust 149 Miles from Berlin.

Nearest soviet announced approach to Berlin, however, was by Konev's group, which seized the Polish border town of Rawicz, near Silesia and only 149 miles southeast of Berlin. This thrust also put the Russians 34 mile northwest of Breslau.

Southwest of Lodz, which lies some 56 miles east of Kalicz, the soviet bulletin announced that an encircled German grouping had been annihilated, with 6,000 of the enemy slain, 3,000 captured and 53 tanks seized.

Soviet announcements of German casualties have been few thus far in the offensive that began Jan. 12, but early in the breakthru Moscow suggested that many German formations were being ripped apart and left isolated in the rear for later disposition.

New Army Hits In South.

As the pattern of the gigantic soviet offensive continued to unfold, Stalin in another order announced that a sixth powerful army group had joined the assault.

This was Marshal Malinovsky's 2d Ukraine army, conquerors of much of Hungary, who drove up into Czechoslovakia and advanced 16 miles of a 25 mile front in the mountains and forests just above the Hungarian border.

Among towns taken in their first rush were Roznyo [Roznava], 33 miles southwest of Kassa and 38 miles north of Miskolc, Hungary, and Jolsvatapolca [Jelsava], 13 miles west of Rozsnyo.

Coupled with the drive of the 4th Ukraine army of Gen. Petrov in the Polish-Czechoslovak border area, this offensive was rapidly fashioning a great pocket in the Carpathians.

The Germans told of still another soviet drive, a renewal of the clean-up efforts against the long trapped Nazi forces in Latvia.

The Germans still were putting up a heavy counter-offensive southwest of Budapest, seeking to drive to that ruined Hungarian capital in which the remnant of a German-Hungarian garrison fought on against the enveloping Russians.

Of 83 German tanks destroyed Tuesday, 34 of them were in the area southwest of Budapest, the Russian announcement said, while soviet forces yesterday continued to beat off attacks.

GERMAN WAR REPORT.

Following is the text of the German Wednesday war bulletin as broadcast by Berlin:

"Our attack southwest of Budapest, supported by formations of the luftwaffe, effectively gained further ground northward yesterday.

"Between the northern border of Slovakia and the Vistula, the bolshevists, who had penetrated as far as the area of Makow, were checked in the mountains.

"In upper Silesia, break-thru attempts were frustrated on the eastern fringes of the industrial area. Enemy pressure increased on the northern fringes and against the Oder, between Oels and Brieg.

"In the battle zone east of Breslau, determined counter-attacks of our units threw the bolshevists out of several localities.

"In the western portion of East Prussia the enemy pushed forward in a northern and northeastern direction to the neighborhood south of Elbing and Mohrungen. In the eastern part of East Prussia the fighting has shifted to the Masurian lakes region.

"In Courland after severe artillery preparation the soviets launched an attack with a focal point southeast of Libau, as well as south of Frauenburg and northwest of Doblen."

GERMANS ORDER ALL ABLE BODIED MEN INTO FIGHT

LONDON, Jan. 24 (AP).—While the Moscow radio today broadcast frontline reports that the Nazis were evacuating all civilians from Silesia, Pomerania and Warthegau [Poznan province], the Nazi Transocean news service reported "new lines are under construction inside the reich." The Paris radio added that Berliners were digging trenches around the capital.

"Every German able to bear arms is being thrown against the advancing Russians," Transocean reported, saying all available forces are being mobilized and the remaining civilians are being recruited for the volkssturm, or home guard.

A Moscow broadcast tonight said Gestapo Chief Himmler had set up a new eastern front defense council with "unlimited powers" and with himself personally presiding.

Commands All Troops.

Moscow reports did not indicate how this affects the position of Col. Gen. Heinz Guderian, believed in military command of the whole eastern front, but said Himmler's council had "unqualified command over all garrisons and reserves in the eastern theater of war and all troops transfered from other fronts as well as power to mobilize all civilians for service in the volkssturm, landwehr and on fortification works, to evacuate people and industrial plants and to confiscate and dispose of personal property."

A German prisoner captured today in St. Vith, Belgium, said the reichstag had been in session a week. The latest news the prisoner had heard was that the Red army had reached Krakow—which occurred Jan. 19.

Nazis Call for Sacrifices.

Moscow reported clashes between volkssturmers and the Gestapo as men resisted separation from their families. Russian broadcasts called upon the Nazi fleet and volkssturm to mutiny.

On the home front, Germans got an assertion from their leaders that military measures on the eastern front are "still being improvised."

A propaganda spokesman said that "we must sacrifice every comfort of life and join the defense to the fullest extent to crush this greatest of all dangers to the reich."

Allied counter-propaganda bombarded the German people. These broadcasts, beamed from both east and west, hammered home news of German army defeats, the plight of German refugees, and the futility of prolonging the war. Ghost voices broke in on German broadcasts to give the Nazis fresh news of German military disasters.

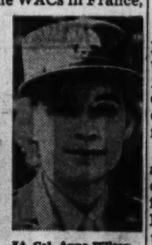
Without confirmation, a Brussels radio broadcast quoted a Stockholm dispatch as saying that "a mass evacuation of Berlin has started."

"It is a hundred times worse than October, 1918," a Berlin resident was quoted.

WAC HEAD IN FRANCE ASKS FOR 2,000 MORE SPECIALISTS AT ONCE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 24.—Lt. Col. Anna Wilson, head of the WACs in France, said today she imperatively needed 2,000 more WACs to supplement man power.



Lt. Col. Anna Wilson.

"Radio operators, photographers, meteorologists, and secretaries are indispensable and should be rushed over by air," she said. "Interpreters, draftsmen, chauffeurs, and automobile mechanics also are required immediately. In addition, there is a pressing need for women who are registered nurses or doctors of medicine or who have special technical training as hospital dietitians or physical therapeutists."

Lt. Col. Wilson stressed the importance of a real newspaper printed on the continent for the WACs and G. Is, giving them news about themselves and the folks back home. "Such a paper," she said, "would be invaluable to maintain the morale of American troops."

MAJ. GEN. EDDY WINS D. S. M. FOR DASH IN FRANCE

WITH THE U. S. 3D ARMY, Jan. 24 (AP).—Lt. Gen. Patton, presented the distinguished service medal to Maj. Gen. Manton S. Eddy of Chicago today for his leadership of the 12th army corps in the drive across France which was climaxed by the crossing of the Moselle and Meurthe rivers. The 3d army commander also presented an oakleaf cluster for his distinguished service medal to Maj. Gen. Troy H. Middleton of Louisiana for directing the 8th corps in the conquest of the Brittany peninsula.

THREE RESCUED FROM BLAZE.

Firemen fighting a blaze in a two story building at 1343 Blue Island av. yesterday rescued Mrs. Beulah Hill, 30, Negro, and her two children, who were trapped in her second floor apartment. They are Juanita, 8 months, and Lillian, 2 years.

RUSSIANS SEIZE FAMED ESTATE OF HINDENBURG

LONDON, Jan. 24 [Reuters].—The Russian armies last night captured the property of a famous German junker indicted by them as a war criminal—Maj. Gen. Oscar von Hindenburg, son and heir of the late field marshal and president.

Neudeck estate, declared by Hitler an inalienable family fief of the Hindenburgs, lies just south of the road from Deutsch-Eylau to Freystadt in East Prussia. Two days after capturing the site of the memorial to Marshal Von Hindenburg at Tannenburg, the Russians overran the estate of his son.

Accused in Mass Murder.

Oscar von Hindenburg, who lived at Neudeck and celebrated his 62d birthday on Jan. 3, was publicly indicted by the extraordinary soviet commission for the investigation of war crimes last March. As chief of prisoners of war camps in his province, he was alleged to have been one of the immediate organizers and leaders of the mass murder of Russian prisoners. The commission stated that documents proving the charge had been found in a safe at the gestapo headquarters in Kiev.

Neudeck estate has twice played a role in the intrigues that paved Hitler's way to power.

In 1932, when junker inefficiency and junker graft of state subsidies were under fire from democratic critics, a group of East Prussian land owners gave Neudeck to the aged president to insure his intervention in their favor by more tangible ties than those of birth and tradition alone.

Way Opened for Hitler.

The gift helped Hindenburg in January, 1933, to make up his mind to turn out Chancellor Kurt von Schleicher for tolerating public criticism of the junkers and to put in the candidate presented by his junker friends—Hitler.

In August, 1933, when Hitler was "working" the Hindenburg family to insure his own succession as chief of state after the imminent death of Marshal Hindenburg, he used the occasion of a Tannenburg celebration to declare Neudeck a taxfree fief of the Hindenburgs for all time, thus gaining the gratitude of the son.

There is only one other property in Germany to which Hitler has given this privileged status, that of the arms firm of Krupps.

TWO ILLINOIS YANKS GET 25 YEAR TERMS IN PARIS ARMY TRIALS

PARIS, Jan. 24 (AP).—Five more American army enlisted men were sentenced today to 25 years at hard labor by a court martial for having looted trains and sold government property. Among them were Sgt. Herman Duck, T/4 Nathaniel W. Ray and Pvt. Tony Diomedes, all of the 724th railway operating battalion.

[In Washington, D. C., the war department gave these addresses: Sgt. Herman Duck, Detroit, Mich.; T/4 Nathaniel W. Ray, Urbana, Ill., and Pvt. Tony Diomedes, 1220 West Ohio st., Chicago.]

Pvt. Edward J. Keohane, inducted in Milwaukee, Wis., was among three soldiers who later pleaded guilty to having wrongfully disposed of government property. Pvt. Virgil E. Clutts, inducted in Chicago, pleaded not guilty.

CHICAGOAN AN ARMY COOK.

Pvt. Tony Diomedes, 35, 1220 W. Ohio st., has been in the army a year, serving as a cook, said his sister, Mrs. Irene Conti, 5719 N. Major st. Diomedes' wife and three children live at the Ohio st. address, she said. Mrs. Conti declared her brother had worked as a clerk for Western Union before induction.

YANKS, BRITISH PRESS FOE BACK ON WEST FRONT

French 1st Army Scores Gains in Alsace.

PARIS, Jan. 24 (AP).—The British 2d army made advances of up to 2,000 yards today and pulled within three miles of the Roer river at three points inside Germany. The United States 1st and 3d armies methodically continued ironing out the Nazis' Ardennes salient against stiffening resistance.

The French 1st army's attack at the southern end of the long front also progressed steadily, securing several crossings of the Ill river, but in northern Alsace the Germans sharply increased their pressure on the United States 7th army and it was disclosed that the American withdrawal, announced yesterday, had amounted to an average of seven to eight miles.

The most important British success in the Maas-Roer triangle was the capture of the major highway center of Heinsberg, which is nine miles northwest of Linnich, northern anchor of the United States 9th army.

3 Miles from Roermond.

While some of Lt. Gen. Dempsey's troops fought into this seven-way road junction after a mile advance from Aphoven, others gained 2,000 yards in the center of the assault front and captured the town of Haaren. Still others cleared the towns of Montfort and Weerd in Holland, driving within three miles of the Germans' Maas [Meuse] river bastion of Roermond.

[A Stockholm dispatch said German military circles reported that reconnaissance aircraft yesterday spotted heavy troop concentrations west of Julich on the western front and asserted a new allied offensive could be expected at any moment.]

Cold, foggy weather handicapped the allied ground forces and restricted air operations after two days of fine flying weather, but all three continent-based tactical air forces managed to get in some action during the day.

Pilots reported a great exodus of German rail and road transport streaming northeastward from the Ardennes sector, causing speculation that much of the equipment might be in process of transfer to the Russian front.

Ninth air force fighter bombers flew 342 sorties and destroyed or damaged 663 trucks and 68 tanks and armored vehicles, bringing their three day total of destruction against the enemy to 5,644 pieces of equipment. This total, which included 725 tanks and armored vehicles, was for the 9th air force alone.

Bulge 5 Miles by 40.

The Germans made a vain effort to hold on to what is left of their Ardennes bulge, now a sliver roughly five miles wide and 40 miles long. They counter-attacked against Lt. Gen. Hodge's 1st army in the St. Vith area and lashed back at Lt. Gen. Patton's 3d army.

But Hodges' troops gained 3,000 yards in one sector and Patton's men made as much as a mile and a half, closing within 3½ miles of the German frontier in the vicinity of Binsfeldt. The 3d army repulsed a counter-attack there and pounded northeast to the area of Holler, which is two miles east of captured Trois Vierges.

The veil of secrecy was lifted slowly from the French assault in Alsace, disclosing that it involved "allied" troops under Gen. De Tassigny and that the drive was headed generally eastward against the Rhinebank corridor north of Colmar rather than against the Nazi pocket in the Colmar area itself.

Crossed in Surprise Drive.

The Ill river was crossed in a surprise drive that swept out of the foothills of the lower Vosges mountains and at its deepest point penetrated slightly more than four miles. Old Maginot line positions dot the plain lying between the Ill and Rhine rivers.

[A Reuters dispatch from London quoted a German Transocean news agency broadcast as saying that the United States 6th army group had made a large scale break-thru between Selestat and Colmar.]

The new positions of Lt. Gen. Patch's 7th army in northern Alsace was indicated roughly as a line running southeastward from Reipertsweiler thru Niedermodern, Haguenau, and Bischolz to Bischwiller.

The exact front established by the withdrawal, announced as for the purpose of obtaining more advantageous positions, was not disclosed, but during the day the enemy launched attacks against the areas of Niedermodern, Bischolz, and Bischwiller.

Several thousand civilians were evacuated in the withdrawal, more than 8,000 by train alone. Priorities were given F. F. I. and public officials believed in most danger of reprisals from the Germans.

HERE'S NAZI OFFICIAL REPORT OF FIGHTING ON WESTERN FRONT

Wednesday's German war bulletin as broadcast by Berlin said:

"The majority of the British attacks between Roermond and Gellenkirchen were again frustrated. The enemy pressed back our lines only at Heinsberg.

"In the course of their strong attacks launched from the north and west the Americans succeeded in entering completely destroyed St. Vith yesterday. The enemy pushes on our front southwest of St. Vith and on the Clerf sector failed.

"Heavy local fighting is in progress in the region of Vianden, where the enemy attacked up to 14 times thruout the day with concentrated forces.

"Between Reipertsweiler and Haguenau our troops pushed forward as far as the sector of Roth and Moder and cleared the territory north of taht sector of the enemy. Haguenau forest has also been crossed from one end to the other. An enemy attack based on Selestat was repulsed. In the Rappoldsweiler region severe defensive fighting with the attacking Americans is in progress.

"In the battle against Anglo-American supplies, our E-boats sank a steamer of 7,000 tons off the mouth of the Scheldt after hard fighting with light enemy naval forces."

LEVIES 15 FINES IN CRACKDOWN ON FIRE HAZARDS

Judge Erwin J. Hasten in License court yesterday fined 15 persons and issued warrants for the arrest of nine others as he heard more than 50 cases of alleged violations of the city code pertaining to the regulation of fire hazards. He continued the cases of 14 on motions to vacate the fines if the hazardous conditions were eliminated.

Jack Gold, operator of the Monarch hotel, 517-21 N. Clark st., who had been ordered to repair the hotel fire extinguishers, was instructed to pay a fine of $100 and costs today. Among the defendants granted continuances were: Harry M. Shuger, owner of the Warner hotel, 3305 Cottage Grove av.; Agnes McKenna, owner of a cocktail lounge at 5251-53 Madison st., and Victor Manufacturing and Gasket Company, Inc., 5750 Roosevelt rd., where two persons were killed and 14 injured in an explosion Dec. 14. Eversharp, Inc., 1800 Roscoe st., proved it had spent $100,000 in attempting to comply with fire regulations and was granted a continuance to Feb. 21.

Brussels Gets Gasoline Shipments from British

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Jan. 24 [Reuters].—British authorities are giving 440,000 gallons of gasoline to Brussels every month, it was stated tonight. This represents about 60 per cent of pre-war Belgian consumption. It was announced that 37,000 tons of foodstuffs for the Belgian civil population has been brought to Antwerp by British ships.

COLONEL FINDS 2 WHO FOUGHT JAPS WITH HIM

Lt. Col. Henry P. [Jim] Crowe, 45, who has been in the marine corps for 25 years, visited Col. Chester L. Fordney, head of the central procurement division in Chicago, yesterday and found two young sergeants who had served with him at Guadalcanal, Tarawa, Saipan, and other Pacific battle grounds.

Lt. Col. H. P. Crowe.

Sgt. Eddie Dankoski, 25, of Hillsboro, Montgomery county, showed Col. Crowe a sniper's bullet that was taken from his neck two weeks ago. He got it on Saipan. Sgt. Kenneth De Vilbiss, 23, of 2318 W. 121st pl., Blue Island, was wounded twice while fighting with Col. Crowe's battalion. The sergeants have been attached to Col. Fordney's office because of their wounds.

Col. Crowe, whose home is in Los Angeles, Cal., enlisted in the marines in World War I., then was out of service less than two years before reënlisting. He was shot in the chest at Saipan, and later was wounded by shrapnel as he was being treated by medical aid men. He was cited by Adm. Nimitz for "greatest personal valor."

14 NAZI PRISON CAMPS IN PATH OF RED DRIVE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24 (AP).—Fourteen German prison camps where Americans were believed to be confined were last known to lie in the path of the Russian drive against Germany, the war department reported today.

Red Cross advices indicated at least some of the camps may have been moved. Chairman Basil O'Connor said provision was made to send emergency supplies to camps where the men might be taken in Germany, and to supply those whom the Russians might free.

The 14 camps listed by the army and their locations: Stalag 20-B, at Marienburg, 24 miles southeast of Danzig; military prison at Graudenz, 60 miles south of Danzig; stalag 20-A [prison] at Thorn [Torun], 24 miles east of Bromberg; stalag 357, at Kopernikus, south of Thorn [Torun]; oflag 64, at Schubin [Altburgund], 13 miles southwest of Bromberg; stalag 21-D, at Posen; stalagluft No. 4, at Gross-Tychow, south of Belgard; stalagluft No. 7, at Bankau, 50 miles east of Breslau; stalag 344, at Lamsdorf, 55 miles southeast of Breslau; stalag 8-B, at Teschen, 18 miles southeast of Mostrau; reserve lazaret [hospital] No. 2-A, at Vienna; stalag 17-A, at Kaisersteinbruck, 40 miles southeast of Vienna; stalag 2-B [ground force personnel], at Hammerstein, 85 miles southwest of Danzig; civilian camp at Kreuzburg, 50 miles east of Breslau.

RED ASSAILS U.S. ADVOCATES OF EASY PEACE

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

MOSCOW, Jan. 24.—The soviet press today snapped back at foreign advocates of mercy for a defeated German nation. Ilya Ehrenburg, who wields one of the sharpest pens of soviet journalists, writing in the newspaper Pravda, attacked Americans and British for their views on the future organization of Europe.

Ehrenburg's article, titled "That Will Not Happen," declared that arrogant Germans proclaim Americans to be their saviors. The Red army now rushing to Berlin "shall punish the evil-doers," Ehrenburg said.

'School for Fascist Hooligans.'

Chief targets of Ehrenburg's ire were:

The American army school for former German policemen near Aachen, Germany, which he said represented an American decision "to teach these murderers democratic culture and then send them back to work; thus it is a school for raising the qualifications of Fascist hooligans."

Protests of an American magazine, Politics, against the proposed use of German labor to rebuild destroyed Russian towns, a Catholic plea for mercy for defeated peoples, and Dorothy Thompson's contention that the German people in the future should be free to vote for Hitler if they wish.

Ehrenburg said, "This varied company is united in its endeavor to shield Germany from its just punishment."

Saves World from Hitler.

As a result, the Germans regard Americans as their saviors and "arrogantly proclaim, 'You've liberated us—we can now rest and prepare for the next war,'" Ehrenburg asserted.

"They'll not say this to the Red army," he said. "We've not come to free Hitlerites from Hitler, we've come to liberate ourselves and the whole world from an aggressive Germany. We'll not reëducate German police officers. We'll not discuss with them the restoration of Lubeck or Cologne; they'll first have to restore Smolensk, Warsaw, and Le Havre."

550 MILE ODER RIVER IS LAST BERLIN BARRIER

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Rising in the highlands of Upper Silesia and emptying into the Baltic sea at the Prussian port of Stettin, the Oder river is one of the last natural barriers to Berlin before the soviet armies.

It is 550 miles long and passes thru the heart of Silesia, the main industral center of eastern Germany. Stettin is the port of Berlin, from which the Germans started their push into Russia. Its wooded stretches and low banks provide natural defense positions, but the general shallowness of the river may not prove too difficult for the Russian armies to ford. When not frozen in the winter, the Oder is navigable from Stettin to north Silesia.

The river begins to be navigable for barges in southern Germany at Ratibor, where it is 100 feet wide, and for larger vessels at Breslau, where constant dredging always is necessary.

LONDON HEARS SLAV KING MAY RECALL CABINET

LONDON, Jan. 24 (AP).—Yugoslavia's political crisis took another odd turn today. King Peter hurriedly summoned Premier Ivan Subasic twice for conferences that some diplomatic quarters believed might result in reinstatement by the young monarch of the "dismissed government."

Subasic first was summoned to Peter's suite as the cabinet was meeting and had hardly returned when he again was called to visit the king.

There was no indication of what prompted the king's action unless it was the fact that the premier had decided to return to Belgrade and join Marshal Tito in establishing a fusion government. Yugoslav sources said Juraj Shutej, finance minister, who is pro-Tito, attended the first conference.

One significant fact stood out. Peter has not issued an official decree dismissing Subasic and his ministers. Until he does the cabinet could constitutionally ignore the king's request that it step out.

YANKS BATTLE NAZIS 8 MILES FROM BOLOGNA

ROME, Jan. 24 (AP).—Fifth army patrols engaged strong German defenses on highway 65 within eight and a half miles of Bologna today as snow ceased falling on the Italian front.

On the 8th army front farther east the Germans were reported carrying out demolitions of houses in the entire area of their Senio river stronghold of Alfonsine.

The German air force struck at supply arteries to the 5th army front. Allied planes hit tactical targets and communications in Italy and northwestern Jugo-Slavia. Eight allied planes are missing.

Fifth army patrols met heavy fire at Casa Nuovo and at Monte Fano.

BELGIAN WOMAN TELLS HOW NAZI MURDERED G.I.s

LIGNEUVILLE, Belgium, Jan. 24 (AP).—A middle-aged Belgian spinster, who said she saw a German noncommissioned officer murder eight captured American tankmen, today led a United States' burial squad to the frozen bodies which were in a roadside snowbank.

On the same day, Dec. 17, the same German reconnaissance battalion of an armored SS [elite guard] division moved up the road two miles and slaughtered some 100 other Americans in an open field.

This German outfit has been blamed for a number of other atrocities against Americans and civilians all across Belgium.

Three Yanks Hear Story.

Mlle. Marie, who keeps house for her farmer brother, told the story of the murder of the eight Americans to Capt. George W. McBurney of Tuscaloosa, Ala., assistant inspector general of the 30th division; Lt. Henry Schmitz, New York, a 30th division officer, and Sgt. Mark B. Carl of Chambersburg, Pa., McBurney's assistant.

"I was milking Dec. 17 when the Germans came down the road, marching 24 American prisoners before them," Mlle. Marie said. "The Germans, all of whom were young and loud, were shouting at the Americans and knocking them about.

Dig Graves for Nazis.

"About 20 yards from our house they halted the Americans and ordered eight of them to dig graves for three Germans who had been burned to death in a knocked-out tank in front of the house.

"After the Americans finished digging the graves, the eight were lined up along the road. The German noncommissioned officer then stepped up and shot them in the face one at a time. The Germans then kicked the bodies over the hill into a ditch.

"Afterward the Germans asked if I'd seen what happened. I told them no. I knew that if I'd said yes they would shoot me, too.

Germans Steal Shoes.

"Later other Germans came and looked at the bodies. They stole the shoes—all except one's, whose shoes apparently wouldn't fit the Germans."

The arms of most of the victims still were raised up stiffly in surrender when the bodies were found.

In the shirt pocket of one 18 year old tank man was a letter from his girl back in New York state, received only a few days before. It was dated Nov. 13.

LT. GEN. BEN LEAR MADE U.S. DEPUTY CHIEF IN EUROPE

46 Years in Army; Rose Thru the Ranks.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24 (AP).—Lt. Gen. Ben Lear became the army's deputy commander in Europe today—another milestone in 46 years of leaping from enlisted man to lieutenant general.

Lt. Gen. Lear.

Lear will be charged with administrative matters of United States troops, allied headquarters announced in Paris. Among his duties will be control of American man power in the European theater, including direction of the present reclassification program which is expected to bring many rear area soldiers to the front lines. His assignment is not connected with the direction of the campaign which is on an allied basis.

Stilwell May Get Job.

Lear's new assignment revived speculation that Gen. Stilwell may be named to succeed him as chief of United States army ground forces, at least temporarily. Stilwell, currently the only four star general without a specific assignment, was recalled last October as commander of United States forces in Asia.

Lear's career goes back to 1898 when he was marched up and down a few times, rolled a blanket, fired about 20 shots, and told that now, he was a soldier.

As a sergeant in the Colorado volunteers, he went ashore at dusk one day in 1898 on a Philippine Island to establish a line and secure what now would be called a beachhead.

Lear learned then, the hard way, what troops should know about combat.

Morale His Chief Concern.

As he rose thru various ranks and commands, he may have seemed to some recruits rough and gruff and insistent upon training and discipline. But, his goal was to turn out fighting men who could take care of themselves in battle.

Morale, that intangible difference between a good soldier and an indifferent one, has been one of Lear's chief concerns.

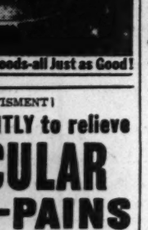
Known as a stern disciplinarian, Lear received considerable publicity in 1941 for his punishment of American soldiers who called "Yoo-hoo" at some shorts-clad girls on a Memphis golf course they were passing in motor trucks. Lear compelled the soldiers to make a long march to atone for what he regarded as unsoldierly conduct.

Lear was in command of the 2d army at Memphis, Tennessee, for some time after the start of the war, then came to Washington.

Lear, now 66, reached the statutory retirement age in May, 1943, but was recalled immediately to active duty.

NAVY CROSS WON BY CAPT. KNOLL IN PELELIU WAR

Capt. Frank P. Knoll, 27, veteran of three major Pacific operations and winner of the navy cross, home after 25 months overseas, has decided that his job as demolition expert with the 7th marine regiment is "pretty touchy."



Capt. Frank P. Knoll.

He came to that decision, Capt. Knoll said, after he had a chance to examine closely two large holes made by Jap shrapnel in a pack he wore during the invasion of Peleliu Island. Capt. Knoll personally was unscathed, altho he helped clear 400 yards of beach and reef of mines before preliminary troops landed.

Capt. Knoll was awarded the navy cross for this action. He is the son of Mrs. Emma Knoll, 1407 Greenleaf av. His wife, Janet, lives at the same address.

Historic Banner

Mrs. Frances Burroughs exhibits engineer corps banner, first to fly over the reoccupied Philippine Islands. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

An engineer corps banner, said to be the first flag raised in the reoccupation of the Philippines, is one of the proudest possessions of Mrs. Frances Burroughs of 10 W. Elm st., who received it from her husband, Lt. Col. Fred E. Burroughs. The banner was raised after a Japanese flag on Leyte Island was torn down, Col. Burroughs wrote, and previously it was owned by a regiment of engineers of which he is commanding officer.

Measuring more than 6 by 4½ feet, the flag is too large to be hung in her home, so she will preserve it as a souvenir, Mrs. Burroughs said last night.

Col. Burroughs was a member of the national guard and was called to active duty in December, 1940. He has been overseas for 18 months. In his absence, Mrs. Burroughs is residing with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Strobel Jr., at the Elm st. address.

REPORT U-BOAT SUNK 400 MILES FROM BRITAIN

LONDON, Jan. 24 (AP).—The probable sinking of a German U-boat in the Atlantic 400 miles from Britain was reported by the R. A. F. coastal command tonight—another sign that submarine packs may be on the prowl.

Norwegian reports said the Germans recently stationed 100 new U-boats at Norwegian ports as far north as Narvik to resume the underseas campaign. Prime Minister Churchill warned last week of renewed U-boat warfare and a German war bulletin two days ago said six merchant ships and three Canadian corvettes had been sunk in the Atlantic by Nazi subs.

In the coastal command action a Sunderland flying boat straddled the submarine with depth charges despite a heavy shower of flak from the surfaced vessel. There was a great explosion. Flyers said the U-boat went down by the stern and disappeared in a patch of oil.

U. S. ROADBLOCK IN BURMA TURNS INTO DEATH MILL

MYITKYINA, Burma, Jan. 24 (AP).—A road block established by Americans of the "Mars task force" on the old Burma road about 80 miles north of Lashio has become a Japanese death mill.

The enemy for the sixth straight day sent small forces up a steep hill against the strong American position today.

Many Japanese died along the mountain slopes in persistent attempts to dislodge the American infantry and artillery units under Brig. Gen. John P. Willey of Hampton, Va.

Up to yesterday the artillery ambush had killed more than 350 Japanese who were retreating southward.

Cross Jungle Mountains.

The Japanese were part of a force who had been fighting a delaying action on the Burma road in a supreme effort to deny the allies the use of the new overland supply route from China to India which has just been cleared.

By a forced march of 15 miles across jungle covered mountains the Americans cut in behind the Japanese and lined up their guns on a hilltop overlooking the Burma road. To make the march the Yanks had to hack a path thru dense growth for their Missouri mules carrying heavy howitzers.

Japanese forces south of the road block discovered the danger and sent four small tanks against the stronghold, but they were knocked out by accurate fire. Before the Japanese could warn other enemy elements retreating from the north, the latter ran head on into the road block and almost the entire force was wiped out.

About 700 Japanese believed to be still above the road block have broken up into elements of platoon size in an effort to escape.

Chinese Lose 6,000 Men.

WANTING, on the China-Burma Frontier, Jan. 23 [Delayed]—(AP).—Chinese troops, pushing southwestward from recaptured Wanting to drive the last Japanese from the Burma road, were putting the final heroic touches today to an offensive which started eight months ago with the crossing of the Salween river.

Chinese casualties in the struggle to open the Chinese section of the road were put at 6,000, including 2,000 dead.

Exploiting American made artillery and American air support to the fullest degree, the Chinese forces fought painfully thru some of the most forbidding country in the world, at times 10,000 and 11,000 feet above sea level.

Eat Pack Animals.

Reports of American liaison teams, doctors and advisers who went along with the Chinese are filled with details of the ordeal. They tell of pack animals dying of exhaustion and being cut up for food, of coolies sinking into the mud and dying under their burdens, of wounded men who could not be evacuated.

When the time came to take Wanting, the force was so weakened that even coolie bearers were sent forward with rifles.

[The Chinese high command Wednesday said that Chinese forces were approaching Mongyu from the north and northwest. Mongyu is the last place which must be recaptured before the Burma and Ledo roads can be joined. American pilots, cooperating with the Chinese ground troops, inflicted heavy casualties on the Japanese in the Mongyu area.]

MacArthur to Get First U. S. Flag to Fly at Manila

Portland, Ore., Jan. 24 (AP).—The first American flag unfurled over Manila when the city was captured by Americans in 1898 will be sent to Gen. MacArthur at his request. The battleship Oregon commission said today the flag—now in a museum—would be flown to the Philippines.

PRESS WIRELESS GOES TO LUZON WITH MacARTHUR

New York, Jan. 24 [Special].—A seagoing communications unit, organized by the Press Wireless crew at Tacloban, Leyte, accompanied Gen. MacArthur's invasion convoy into Lingayen gulf, it was learned today.

Military authorities permitted the release of the invasion news just as soon as security of the landings would permit, and Press Wireless gave an almost instantaneous transmission of the stories about the greatest achievement yet realized by MacArthur's forces.

"PREWI's" successful part in the undertaking was made possible by the cooperative spirit and intelligent forward thinking of the United States army public relations and other offices in the field, company officials said.

Contact Los Angeles.

The shipboard unit which accompanied the convoy was manned in part by PREWI and in part by the army signal corps. Chester Ford of the New York office of PREWI was assigned to the project by H. E. Stovall, the organization's manager for Philippine operations.

Contact was established between the Press Wireless unit on Luzon and the main Pacific station of the company at Los Angeles, Cal. E. N. Dotson, manager of the Pacific division of the company, said that news from Luzon is being relayed for the present via the company's station on Leyte. For technical reasons this arrangement will be continued for a short time.

Moving to Luzon.

Thereafter it is expected that the seat of the company's Philippine operations will be moved from Leyte to Luzon. From that time onward all traffic will flow directly into Los Angeles, rather than by relay from Leyte.

Press Wireless officials said the organization is fully prepared to give instantaneous service to the nation's press from any point of operation in the developing campaign against the Japanese, just as it is in the European theater.

Another Japanese General Dies; 23d Since May, 1944

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

NEW DISPUTE DELAYS GREEK PEACE PARLEY

ATHENS, Jan. 24 (AP).—Arrangements for a peace conference between delegates of the EAM-ELAS central committee and the Greek government of Premier Gen. Nicholas Plastiras are being delayed by the question of numerical representation, it was learned today.

The reply of the EAM-ELAS last night to the invitation of Regent Archbishop Damaskinos asked that they be permitted five delegates instead of three proposed by the government.

Foreign Minister John Sofianopoulos said the government had answered that it could not agree to more than three delegates for either side.

Prepare to Move German Government from Berlin

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Jan. 24 (AP). — Travelers arriving from Germany tonight said that preparations were being made to move government offices from Berlin "to some spot in central Germany." Foreign newspaper men also were advised to be ready to move elsewhere at a moment's notice, the travelers said. Many German government offices long ago were transferred to other cities as the result of allied bombings.

CHICAGO YANKS BUMP INTO JAPS ON MANILA ROAD

They Start Out on 'Last 100 Kilometers.'

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ON THE MANILA HIGHWAY, Luzon, P. I., Jan. 23 [Delayed].—A road sign saying "100 Kilometers to Manila" rose around a bend.

Col. Ed Murray of Sacramento, Cal., commander of this regiment of the former California national guard spearheading the drive down the highway, climbed into his jeep and said: "Let's get started on that last hundred."

A hundred kilometers is about 62 miles. Actually the troops are closer than that to Manila. At Capas yesterday, they were only 54 miles away. But road markers are road markers.

Anti-tank guns were concealed in the brush near the sign.

"This is embarrassing," said Arthur Sanatini of Springfield, Ill., and Irvin Buss of Clayton, Ill. "We've traveled 60 miles with these things and haven't tried them yet."

Chicago Scouts Wait.

The colonel stopped just beyond the road sign. Scouts were lying on the grassy banks awaiting the return of the flank patrols.

The scouts included four Chicagoans. They were George Krajchovich, 8114 Knox av.; Chester Drust, 3813 S. Winchester av.; Sgt. Bob Edelman, 5518 Berenice av., and Sgt. Anton Gustafson, 3410 Nagle av.

"As usual Chicago men are among those closest to Manila," they said. "We've come 60 miles and still have the original clips in our rifles."

They wondered if the last 100 kilometers was going to be as easy.

They had barely spoken when a light machine gun answered. The scouts were surprised. So was the colonel. We ducked. A flank scout came running in at a crouch.

"A Jap truck just stopped a few hundred yards down the road and dumped a load of men," he said. "They scattered in the woods. That's them shooting."

Gets Busy on Radio.

This was a signal for this correspondent to retreat around the curve from the road sign.

The colonel got Sgt. Leland Prows of San Jose, Cal., busy on the radio. In a few minutes American artillery was bursting in the woods. Four truck loads of American infantry men came speeding from the rear. The scouts got ready to move. The anti-tank gunners loaded.

But more Yanks came up thru the fields on the flanks. They converged on the woods. Guns rattled. Tanks roared past. Pete Nemecevic of Joliet, Ill., a medic, checked his emergency supplies, as yet untouched.

Infantry Clears Grove.

Then all was quiet again. The infantry on the flanks reported the grove was clear.

The anti-tank gunners unloaded. Krajchovich and Drust and the other scouts, just to be doing something, unloaded their original unused clips and put in new ones. Nemecevic repacked his supplies.

It was safe to go past the road sign. Now for that last 100 kilometers!

Yanks at Strategic Air Field

TRIBUNE WRITER AND PATROL SEE CLARK AIR FIELD

BY WALTER SIMMONS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BAMBAN, Luzon Island, P. I., Jan. 24.—We took off on a little patrol yesterday. When we returned today we had killed 19 Japs, captured three machine guns, and seen Clark field—the first free grounding Americans to do so in more than three years.

Our 40th division armored reconnaissance unit, equipped with everything in the ordnance book up to 37 mm. cannon, roamed far behand the Japanese lines. We saw fabulous quantities of enemy stores in barrios [villages] northwest of Clark field. We counted more than 100 Jap planes lying destroyed on various dromes.

Skirmish Against Japs.

We had three small skirmishes and were fired on by rifles, machine guns, mortars, and depressed ack-ack [anti-aircraft] guns. But we came back without a casualty.

The column of two dozen jeeps and M-8 armored reconnaissance vehicles left its bivouac area six miles south of Tarlac at dawn. It was commanded by Capt. John Scott Robinson of Kansas City, Mo., a cavalryman, who formerly was a cattle buyer, and accompanied by Capt. Charles Herbst of Menominee, Mich., a Catholic chaplain.

Soon we burst out of a wilderness of tall grass and drove into Bamban air field—a great grassy stretch.

The patrol reconnoitered the Jap pilots' barracks and the storage buildings. The barracks was a long cool building with a corridor down the middle and a sort of continuing shelf down either side where the flyers slept on a thatch of bamboo. The floors were littered with empty Japanese beer bottles.

We drove across the air field and swung south on a little field with saw edged grass eight feet high on both sides.

There was a stutter of machine gun fire off to the east where a Cub spotter plane was circling. The pilot banked sharply and swung over our column.

"This is a hell of a war; they are shooting real bullets at me," he yelled. He roared down a little trail at about 30 feet off the ground, banked again, and returned.

Fell Japs Like Grass.

"Five Japs ahead of you with machine guns," he bawled with a note of urgency in his voice. We pressed ahead but warily. Suddenly there was the bup-bup-bup of a heavy machine gun. It was answered immediately by similar fire of a slightly different timbre which we recognized as ours. Then our 37 mm. gun blasted—five times.

Our column halted. The men dismounted and hurried up the trail.

A Tommy gun tapped away like a champion typist.

Our lead jeep containing Sgt. Herschel Butte of Keensburg, Ill., Pvt. Charles Hoffman of Hagerstown, Md., Pvt. Leslie Wirtz of Iron Mountain, Mich., T/5s Sam Murray, Bad Axe, Mich., Arnold Riesgo of Tucson, Ariz., and Nello di Nelli of Isleton, Cal., pulled alongside and joined in with its heavier fire.

The machine gun fire cut down the Japs like grass. One was hit in the chest by a 37 mm. shell and spun head over heels before crashing into a ditch.

We moved south again, farther into enemy territory. Our mission was to get information, not fight skirmishes with the Japs. Avoiding main roads we forded small streams and a broad, shallow river. Then we stopped for lunch.

Biscuit and Cheese.

T/5 Don Nangle, 4625 Adams st., Chicago, a jeep driver, broke open a carton of crackers, hard—like dog biscuit. Hardy Fields of Reidsville, N. C., a gunner, opened a small can of cheese and a large one of corn. Corp. William Kowalski, of Hamtramck, Mich., tipped a can and poured into canteen cups water the color of apple cider and heavy with chlorine. Then he walked down and refilled the can from the Bamban river.

A crowd of natives emerged from the grass and watched us eat. A man with gold teeth and a guitar sang, "She'll Be Coming Round the Mountain." Little boys in the group wore slingshots like necklaces. We were nearing Fort Stotsenburg and Clark field. Slingshots were introduced by American soldiers stationed there before the war.

Corp. John Portschy, 1622 N. Keystone av., and Pvt. Lawrence Purcell, 7752 Clyde av., Chicago, fired a few experimental rounds with the slingshots and found them accurate.

Japs Sent for Food.

"Most of the Japs took to the hills a week ago," said a native in a candy striped shirt. "But they were getting hungry. They sent trucks yesterday and took all our pigs, chickens and eggs."

We headed south again but when we veered west natives flagged us down excitedly. They said six Japanese medium tanks were farther west on the road. We went forward more slowly while Capt. Robinson peered thru his glass. Then we halted. Robinson had observed three medium tanks headed west in a cloud of dust. They crossed the main highway below Mabalacat and continued west without seeing us. We had no wish to argue with their 47 mm. guns.

10 Japs, 2 Trucks.

When we got to a crossing a dozen Japs were rolling gasoline drums across the road ahead and loading them into two trucks. When the dust cleared Pvt. Johnny Stapleton was standing over a dead Jap sprawled in the road. Stapleton's Tommy gun was slung in the crook of his arm. I counted 10 Japanese dead. Both tanks were knocked out.

"They fired on our lead vehicle and started running when we fired back," Stapleton said. "Two of them were running down the middle of the road. I got this guy. I think Ruland over there winged a couple more with his rifle but they and the others disappeared in the weeds."

"They both staggered like they were hit," said Pvt. Wilbert Ruland of Madison, Wis., and Corp. William Schindel of Naperville, Ill.

Japs Fall Back.

After picking up three machine guns abandoned by the Japs we went ahead. There was an explosion off to our left and dirty flames leaped 200 feet into the air. We swung over to investigate. A dump containing about 400 barrels of gasoline was burning.

A native approached hesitantly making the V sign.

"About 90 Japs were here," he said. "When you came they set fire to this gasoline and ran."

Later we stood at an intersection and looked south. We could see Clark field No. 1, northernmost of the several Clark fields. Farther south to the left of the highway was the northeast angle of the field. Thru glasses we could see a litter of wrecked planes.

SUPER FORTS ATTACK IWO, JAP WATCHDOG ISLE; NO PLANES LOST

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24 (AP).—Super Fortresses based in the Marianas today slapped again at Iwo, Japanese watchdog island which lies midway on the B-29s' bombing route to Japan.

"Good results," including heavy explosions in the target area, with no losses of the big bombers were reported by Gen. Arnold, commander of the 20th air force. The daylight raid was made by an undisclosed number of planes from Maj. Gen. Curtis E. Le May's 21st bomber command.

It was the sixth B-29 raid on Iwo this year. The B-29s bombed military installations without encountering enemy fighter planes. Anti-aircraft fire was "slight to medium."

The Japanese told of continued attacks on the home islands. The Tokyo radio said six B-29s struck at ground targets on Honshu and Korea last night and today.

MOBILE WORKSHOPS AWAIT U. S. PLANES CRIPPLED OVER REICH

LONDON, Jan. 24 (AP).—American planes crippled on missions to Germany can land anywhere in France now with the assurance that they will be promptly repaired by "workshops on wheels," Brig. Gen. Joseph Morris, maintenance chief of the army service command, said today.

He credited the mobile repair and reclamation units with saving hundreds of American lives. Before the trailer outfits began rolling over the French countryside pilots of battle damaged bombers usually attempted to coax their ships back to their home bases, sometimes with tragic results, Morris said.

"Now a pilot can land anywhere in France, confident that one of the 'workshops on wheels' will be along in a matter of hours," he added.

LONDON, Jan. 24 (AP).—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told commons today that Romania was maintaining 14 divisions in the field to aid the allied cause. Eden declined to answer immediately whether Romania would be given the status of a co-belligerent.

RAILROAD DUNS YANK; HE DUNS IT RIGHT BACK

Chicagoan Answers from Philippines.

WITH THE 96TH DIVISION IN THE PHILIPPINES (AP).—Sgt. Arthur D. Dubin of Highland Park, Ill., believes "honesty is the best policy," but also applies "as ye sow, so shall ye reap" to his principles.

Dubin received a letter from a railroad in the United States informing him that he had been undercharged on a furlough railway ticket. The letter asked immediate remittance of $3.06 to cover the undercollection. Dubin replied:

"Please pardon the delay in answering your letter, but I received it only yesterday. It was found in an abandoned mail sack in the front line area. The mail orderly delivering that sack, I understand, was wounded en route to the front.

Sends Captured Currency.

"I appreciate your inconvenience, but inasmuch as the army finance department has not yet felt it safe enough to risk the taxpayers' money this far forward, I find it necessary to remit in the only cash vailable, captured Japanese invasion currency.

"You will note that the value of my remittance is 10 pesos, which is the equivalent to five American dollars. Therefore, and I quote your letter, 'I must ask you to send me immediately a remittance of $1.94 to cover this overpayment."

Railroad Cancels Debt.

In Chicago, M. R. Landes, city ticket agent of the Atcheson, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad, said the undercharge had been relieved and canceled by his treasury department before Sgt. Dubin's letter was received Jan. 1.

"I'm holding the 10 peso Japanese invasion note," Landes said, "until Dubin gets back. We have forgotten about the undercharge, but I hope he can get five dollars back from somebody. The girls in our office have 'adopted' the boy and have sent him a valentine."

Sgt. Dubin, who is 21 years old, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dubin. He studied architecture at the University of Michigan, where he completed three years' schooling before he entered the service in March, 1942. He has been overseas since June, 1944.

ARMY TECHNICIAN DIES.

Robert L. Scherrer, 28, an army laboratory technician, died of a heart attack yesterday at Vaughan General hospital, near Maywood. The soldier lived at 3325 Adams st., and had been stationed at Vaughan hospital since Jan. 23, 1944.

WALLACE UNFIT TO GUIDE RFC, JONES DECLARES

O.K.'s Him for an Easy Cabinet Post.

one man could successfully administer both the commerce department and the lending agencies.

"If you're trying to ask me if Henry Wallace is qualified for both jobs, I'd say no," Jones rasped out while the cheers of the crowd forced Chairman Bailey to appeal for order. Earlier, Jones had said that the commerce department, minus the lending agencies, was largely an administrative post in time of war, whose departments virtually ran themselves.

Approves Him as Secretary.

"I think Henry Wallace would make a fine secretary of commerce but he is not qualified to handle the many business enterprises of the federal loan agencies," Jones told Pepper.

When Pepper persisted in seeking to draw from Jones what he called "factual data" to support the latter's opinion of the qualifications of the former Vice President, Jones protested that he was not before the committee to testify against Wallace but to give his experience in running the RFC.

"You talk too much at one time," Jones snapped at Pepper. "I didn't say he was incompetent. Stick to the text."

Jones said the RFC had to deal with "some of the smartest men in the country" who came seeking loans, and added, "Where the honey is, the flies are. Where the money is, the moochers are. All the moochers were not in the WPA."

None Else Fool Enough.

Persistence by Pepper in seeking an answer to his question as to whether one man could handle both jobs brought from Jones, who has done so since he assumed the commerce portfolio four years ago, the reply:

"I think it is possible if he'll work hard enough, and enough hours, but I doubt if you would find any besides me who is fool enough to do it."

Jones said he has worked 12 hours a day, seven days a week for the last "12 or 13 years." He said that altho he has resigned as secretary of commerce in response to the President's demand, he still regards himself as both secretary of commerce and federal loan administrator until Wallace is confirmed.

May Still Keep RFC.

This touched off conjecture among committee members as to whether Jones might still be loan administrator if the George bill becomes a law before confirmation of Wallace. George said he thought so, but Sen. Overton [D., La.] disputed that view. George then offered a revision of his bill under which, he said, Jones might continue as the federal banker.

Jones testified that his letter to President Roosevelt, in reply to the President's request that he make room for Henry, spoke for itself with regard to his resignation.

"I don't expect to remain as secretary of commerce," he said sardonically. As for the loan post, he added, that was up to Mr. Roosevelt, but he is "not seeking the job."

"What is your term of office as loan administrator—one year, four years, or what?" Pepper demanded.

Doesn't Know Term.

"I don't know—does any one here know?" asked Jones, turning in his seat to look at the crowd, peering over his glasses. He was rewarded with a burst of laughter and applause.

When Jones left the stand the committee announced adjournment until 10:30 a. m. tomorrow, when Wallace will take the witness chair to give his views on the George bill.

The present flareup is the second time Jones and Wallace have tangled in a public row. The first was when Wallace accused Jones of using over-cautious methods which held up the stockpiling of strategic war materials. Jones said at that time that Wallace's handling of the board of economic welfare in this respect was without sound business methods and that the then Vice President used "half truths" and "no truths at all."

Wallace Responsibility Ended.

Jones was the victor in the previous clash, for, altho the President rebuked both men for public brawling, he abolished the board of economic welfare, which Wallace then headed, and turned its functions over to Leo Crowley.

Jones' prepared statement concerning separation of the lending agencies from the commerce department reiterated his previous assertion to the President that "the man who is given the vast responsibilities contained in the RFC act should be a man of proven and sound business experience."

Warning against "visionary planning" and "inexperience," Jones said the lending agencies can either be administered on a nonpartisan basis for the benefit of the people or used to destroy "what we have built up in this nation in 170 years."

Defends Present Makeup.

Jones defended the present makeup of the RFC, saying, "You don't hear much about the RFC because it is run by business men without ideas for remaking the world." He asserted, "We've got no politicians."

Pepper asked Jones if he believed any of his aids have had experience comparable to that of being secretary of agriculture, a post held by Wallace for 8 years. When Jones asked the purpose of this question, the Florida senator said he thought Wallace's experience equal to that of any man now in the RFC.

Asked by Sen. Brewster [R., Me.] what he thought of the George resolution, Jones said he believed the federal lending agencies should be divorced from the department of commerce.

"It's too much power, too much authority for any one man," Jones said. "I've thought so all along, regardless of who holds the jobs. But I still think somebody of proved business experience should head the loan agency, even if divorced from commerce."

Jones described himself as a small business man. "I know the problems of small business, but I also know the big fellows and how smart they are," he said.

George Outlines Bill.

George, a faithful administration leader in many matters despite President Roosevelt's unsuccessful effort to purge him from the senate, told how Jones got his jobs and great power—by congressional action based upon personal confidence in Jones.

But George emphasized that the senate had not only made clear that it was authorizing Jones and only Jones to head both the federal loan agency and the department of commerce. In addition, George said, it warned against permitting any one else to hold the two jobs. But now, George said, the President is able to continue the dual job system by executive order.

The hearing passed without reference to Wallace's dreams of a bottle of milk daily on the doorstep of every inhabitant of the globe, and there was no specific discussion of the former Vice President's attacks upon the American business system.

Power Over G. I. Funds.

But thru the hearing ran reference to Wallace's ideologies and his lack of business experience to replace Jones. George, in what he termed a "brief" resume of Jones' lending functions [it required 45 minutes] attached special importance to the fact that if Wallace succeeds Jones then Wallace will have control over the money provided for the nation's veterans in the "G. I. bill of rights."

"These powers," George testified, "ought not to be placed or continued in the executive branch of the government under a member of the official family of the chief executive.

"Their economic and political controls over the country simply cannot be estimated."

"It is difficult," said Pepper, "to escape the conclusion that this legislation [George's bill to divorce the loan agency from the department of commerce] was motivated by the appointment of Wallace.

"That might have been an aggravating circumstance," conceded George with a chuckle.

Will Push for Passage.

"It was the impelling circumstance!" retorted Pepper.

"No, I wouldn't go that far," George replied blandly. "I have no fight with Mr. Wallace."

Pepper then alluded to the fact that the commerce committee had granted George a hearing on his bill before considering the confirmation of Wallace, and demanded:

"Do you plan to press for passage of this bill prior to the confirmation of Mr. Wallace?"

"Prior to and subsequently!" roared George, "if Mr. Wallace should be confirmed."

Fears a Politician.

George and Sen. Burton [R., O.] then documented assertions that congress voted the dual job to Jones alone, and George resumed:

"I don't think these vast powers should be vested in an executive secretary. . . . I don't think such sweeping powers should be placed in one man's hands in the executive branch of the government."

Then, looking sternly at the members of the committee and the many other senators in attendance, George said:

"If one were disposed to be a politician in this affair, there is absolutely no way of measuring the consequences of his act."

"If the President were to withdraw the name of Wallace and substitute that of Jones," interrupted Sen. Bilbo, "would you continue to press for your legislation?"

Defends His Motives.

"I do not know that any members of the senate committee has the right to question my motives," came the rebuke from George. "But I have already said I would continue to demand this legislation."

Forty-five minutes before the hearing opened, hundreds were waiting outside the locked caucus room and other hundreds extended in line down two marble stairways.

Gets Alimony

MRS. GENEVIEVE BENBEN.

Mrs. Genevieve Benben, 34, of 5238 S. Monitor st., Midlothian, whose husband, John S. Benben, 32, is superintendent of public schools in Midlothian, was awarded temporary alimony of $20 a week yesterday by Judge John A. Sbarbaro in Superior court. She has a suit for separate maintenance pending, charging adultery and cruelty. They were married July 15, 1935, and separated Nov. 25, 1944. Judge Sbarbaro restrained Benben from selling household goods or withdrawing money from a bank account, and enjoined Mrs. Benben from interfering with Benben or his employment.

GEORGIA SENATE VOTES 31 TO 19 TO END POLL TAXES

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 24 (AP).—Responding to Gov. Ellis Arnall's call for abolition of the poll tax as a voting prerequisite, the Georgia senate voted 31 to 19 today to repeal the levy. The house has not acted.

The name of former Vice President Henry Wallace was brought repeatedly into the two hour debate with opponents of repeal asserting that the legislation stemmed from his Democratic convention address last year in Chicago in which he said the poll tax must go in the south.

Declaring that Wallace and former Gov. James M. Cox of Ohio, owner of the Atlanta Journal, were responsible for the repeal movement, Sen. Spence M. Grayson [Savannah] said "they are trying to force upon us the ideals and ideologies of people who have never lived in Georgia."

ALLIES' AERIAL EYES PIERCE CLOUDS IN SKY

BY FRANK STURDY.

(Sketches on back page.)

There is no hour of the day or night when the Germans and Japs may erase from their minds the tense fear of raids by bomber fleets of the American air forces and the royal air force.

A low, solid overcast once meant at least temporary security for an enemy city. A target the bombardiers were unable to see obviously could not be bombed. Now bombers make raids without regard to weather over the target and drop their destructive loads with uncanny accuracy thru cloud layers that are often several miles deep.

The first Germans treated to "thru the overcast" bombings saw their buildings blown to bits probably somewhat more than a year ago by raiders they heard in the sky, but never saw. No announcement of the technique was made by the air forces at the time it was new and first tried. First reports that a means had been found for "seeing" thru the clouds came in newspaper accounts from Europe based on stories seeping out of Germany.

Radar Devices Used.

In time, the army acknowledged that bombing unseen targets was meeting with success, but said the devices by which the bombardier aimed and released his bombs were secret. Since then, scores of 8th air force communiques have described results of raids on "invisible" German industrial centers.

Some facts about the equipment have become public. It is known that the system involves radar devices. These are based on principles of electronics and have been used extensively by both English and Americans for detecting enemy air and surface craft long before they could be seen. Radar has also proved useful in navigation.

Similar to Television.

The radar principle is based on the sending of a short wave signal by a transmitter that may be in a plane, a ship, or on the ground in a vehicle or building. These signals travel at the rate of 186,000 miles a second. When they strike any object, they bounce back to a receiver and are converted into a luminous figure on a fluorescent screen in the shape of the reflecting object. The result is somewhat like television.

To the English bombardier, the bombing device is known as the "gen box" or "black box." Signals transmitted to the earth pass thru the cloud layers, are reflected by the terrain, and give the bombardier a picture of the invisible roads, towns, and rivers over which he flies.

Details Still Secret.

For security reasons, the army still keeps secret the details of the method by which the radar device serving as the eyes of the bombardier functions with the famed Norden bombsight. When weather conditions are such that the bombardier can see the target, he simply lines the plane up so that it will fly directly over it, sets the sight for the speed and altitude, and the bombs are released automatically at the point where their trajectory will meet the point to be hit. All that is necessary is that the plane's speed and altitude be kept constant. Once set, the sight does the rest.

Whether the same method is used, the bombardier simply looking at the receiver screen instead of seeing the ground, or whether the sight in some way automatically reacts to the pattern on the screen, the army has not announced.

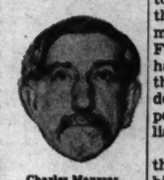
FRANCE BEGINS PURGE TRIAL OF ROYALIST EDITOR

BY ROBERT SAGE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 24.—Charles Maurras, 75, editor of the royalist l'Action Francaise and confirmed hater of democracy, went on trial today in Lyon on charges of collusion with the enemy as the French government announced the purge of traitors must be completed by May 1.



Charles Maurras.

Asserting that "all the evils and catastrophes which have befallen France are the result of the republic," Maurras in a two hour tirade told the court he was not a traitor but a "great patriot." He asserted that if France had listened to him he could have saved the country as far back as 1899 "by giving it a king."

At nightfall, as court was adjourned and Maurras was being led back to his cell, he asserted that he had not finished and would have plenty more to say at tomorrow's session.

Famous Men Called.

The indictment against Maurras fills 10 closely typewritten pages, but is based less on his political activities and his counsel as a supporter of Marshal Petain during the German occupation than on his alleged denunciation of patriots.

Crowds lined up before the closed doors of the Lyon Palais de Justice hours before the trial started, attracted by the fiery speeches Maurras was expected to make and by the widely known persons called to testify.

Among the defense witnesses are Henri Boreaux, the novelist, and Jerome Tharaud, both of the French academy; the widow of Marshal Joffre; Francois Daudet, grandson of Alphonse Daudet and son of the late Leon Daudet who was co-editor of l'Action Francaise, and former Prefect Angeli of Lyon who himself was sentenced to death for treason but won an appeal.

Witnesses called to testify against Maurras include Paul Claudel, poet and former ambassador to the United States; Francois Bidault, brother of the foreign minister, and Francisque Gay, editor of l'Aux, all of whom were allegedly denounced to the Germans by Maurras.

Believe Trials Delay War.

Holding that the nation's war effort and recovery are being delayed by the continued agitation over the punishment of collaborators, the government specified today that the purge in the central administrations must be finished by Feb. 15. Local administrations will have until March 15 to complete their purges. May 1 was set as the deadline for trial of all cases now pending which make the defendants liable to the death penalty.

These deadlines do not apply to the cases of Vichy ministers and high government officials who will be tried later by the newly created high court of justice with a special jury of 24 members. Neither do they apply to collaborators who have fled to Germany and who will be tried as soon as the French authorities are able to arrest them.

WIPE OUT JAP RACE TO LAST CHILD, BUCK ASKS

Chattanooga, Tenn., Jan. 24 (AP).—Permanent peace and the survival of the white race depend upon the complete annihilation of the Japanese people, men, women, and children, thru use of poison gas, Frank Buck, wild animal hunter and author, asserted here today.

"We are too soft, too humane to handle the Japs," he said in an interview. "If the 400,000,000 Chinese came under Japanese rule, were enslaved and reëducated by the Japs and then well armed, it would mean the death knell of the white races."

WORK OR FIGHT BILL APPROVED BY HOUSE GROUP

Anti-Closed Shop Clause Is Eliminated.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—A widely heralded "secret war report" to congress by the nation's top military and naval men was assailed today as a "propaganda build-up" for the administration's labor draft bill as the legislation was completed for house action next week.

Despite the "psychological coup," enlisting Gen. Marshall and Adm. King, a strenuous floor fight appeared in prospect against the measure which gives federal authorities job placement power over 18,800,000 men. It would forbid workers in the 18 to 44 age group to leave essential jobs without the consent of their draft boards and would require them to take work designated by the boards, under penalty of imprisonment or army induction.

Union Curb Removed.

The final draft reported by the house military affairs committee late today omitted an amendment, tentatively accepted Monday, which exempted workers ordered to change jobs from any obligation to join a labor union against their wishes.

Several hundred senators and representatives, attracted by ringing announcements by New Deal leaders that a highly confidential and off the record report on the war would be delivered at a closed conference in the library of congress, listened for three hours to Gen. Marshall, Adm. King, War Secretary Stimson, and Navy Secretary Forrestal.

Many went away disappointed at what they said was a tame recital of recent events which had been publicized in the press and critical of what they termed enlistment of the service chiefs in a campaign for the "work or jail" bill.

Secrecy Explained.

Adm. King did furnish some information which the navy has not disclosed, the legislators said, together with an explanation of why secrecy has been maintained. But most of the verbal report did not justify the "off the record" restriction, they added, and was obviously intended to convince reluctant members of the necessity for compulsory labor legislation.

The speakers did not mention the bill directly, but Speaker Rayburn [D., Tex.] tipped the administration's hand when he remarked afterward that those antagonistic to the measure should have been "very much impressed." He added that the "psychological effect" of the conference was "very good."

"Practically nothing was divulged that we didn't already know," remarked Rep. Michener [R., Mich.]. Rep. Shafer [R., Mich.] said: "It was just a New Deal buildup for drafting labor and it's too bad our military and naval leaders have to be forced into a political fight under the guise of making a secret and confidential report."

Speeches "Very Dramatic."

Rep. Ramspeck [D., Ga.], house whip, said the conference had improved chances for passing the bill, terming the speeches "a very dramatic and graphic presentation of the terrific problems we face."

An indication of the diversified opposition to the legislation was given in a number of floor speeches in the house. Rep. Vursell [R., Ill.] asserted no government agency should "be given spurs with which to ride herd on the American people." Representatives Voorhis [D., Cal.] and De Lacey [D., Wash.] of the left wing block also attacked provisions opposed by labor.

The labor draft bill was approved substantially as drafted by the committee earlier this week, except for deletion of the anti-closed shop proviso.

As a partial substitute for this section, the group inserted an amendment that workers ordered by draft boards to change jobs must be given a "reasonable choice of employers." Some members interpreted this to mean that a man could not be required to work in a closed shop plant if he contended this was an unreasonable request.

Veterans Affected.

Two amendments affecting discharged veterans also were written into the bill today. The first applies to veterans who, instead of returning to their old jobs after discharge, take work declared "essential" by man power authorities. Such men would have the legal right to re-employment in their "pre-war" jobs for 90 days after leaving the essential work. Present law grants this right only for 90 days after discharge.

The second veterans' clause directs local draft boards, where possible, to call first upon men who have not served in military forces to change jobs.

The bill places the labor draft machinery in the hands of the selective service system, under supervision of War Mobilization Director Byrnes.

Under its provisions, men aged 18 to 44 who fail to remain in essential work or fail to change jobs when so ordered by draft boards would be subject to either military induction or maximum penalties of $10,000 fines and five years in prison. Tho either penalty could be applied, it is contemplated that only physically fit men would be placed in uniform, and that those unfit for army service would face fine or imprisonment.

Work to Be Designated.

The measure directs Byrnes to designate the essential work where men would be frozen and specify plants requiring new workers. These instructions would be sent to local draft boards by the selective service system, and draft boards would instruct their registrants accordingly.

Local boards, when directed to channel men into critical work, would first call upon registrants in less essential jobs to volunteer for employment in designated plants. If insufficient volunteers responded within a specified time, men would then be ordered to change jobs or face the specified penalties.

KENOSHA CAFE OWNER FOUND SHOT TO DEATH ON LAKE COUNTY ROAD

Floyd Ventura.

Floyd Ventura, 30, of 2016 57th st., Kenosha, Wis., owner of the Esquire bar and restaurant, Kenosha, was found shot to death in his automobile early yesterday on Deep Lake rd., half a mile south of the Illinois-Wisconsin line, in Lake county. He had been shot four times thru the right temple at close range. More than $200 was found in his pocket and a two carat diamond ring was on his finger.

Kenosha police said Ventura was arrested in March, 1943, by federal agents for operating a still in Kenosha, and was sentenced in federal District court at Milwaukee. He was released on parole after serving a year. Last October he was fined $250 on a charge of selling liquor to a minor.

Kaye Rammel, 30, operator of the cafe, told police that she and Ventura were to have been married. She said she last saw him at 2 a. m. yesterday when he drove her home. Lt. Perry S. Tusler, Kenosha detective chief, said he learned Ventura received a telephone call from Chicago between 9:30 and 10 p. m. Tuesday.

WORKERS IRATE AS WMC'S JOB 'DRAFT' STARTS

Allentown, Pa., Jan. 24 [Special].—The government's "guinea pig" test of its "war work or no work" policy got under way here today and many of the workers affected showed deep resentment against the war man power commission's action in driving them from their jobs.

The first of 97 brewery and soft drink plants workers, who were informally released by their employers for more essential work, appeared at United States employment service offices in Lehigh, Monroe, Northampton, and Bucks counties for referral to "critical" war plant jobs, many of which will pay 25 to 30 cents an hour less than their old work.

A middle aged brewery worker, the first to report here, said his forced transfer made him "unhappy."

"I don't want to change jobs and my wages will be lower," said the worker, who asked that his name be withheld.

One Takes $13 Cut.

The reaction of William Lauser, 47, Allentown brewery worker, was bitter. Lauser, who has a son in the army in the South Pacific, was referred to the Lehigh Structural Steel company as a cutting machine helper. He said his forced transfer by the WMC would reduce his weekly income from $53 to $40 a week.

"They're going to have a war right here," said one unidentified worker awaiting referral.

Another worker affected was Alvin Harmony, 52, who was ordered to transfer to the Lehigh Structural Steel company from a job he has held for 30 years at the Neuweiler Brewing company. "I'm afraid I'll have a hard time learning another job," said Harmony, who also will be cut in pay.

George Bittenbender, 27, a discharged navy veteran, was one of 22 men released by the Neuweiler brewery. When he appeared at the USES office here, however, he invoked his rights as a veteran of working at any job of his choosing so USES officials let him remain at the brewery.

Hope It Will Help Win War.

Typical of many comments was that of John B. Erie Jr., 31, a brewery salesman who was referred to the Consolidated-Vultee aircraft company purchasing department.

"If it looks as tho this transfer is going to help win the war, I'll work almost anywhere," said Erie.

Favorable comment on the enforced transfer came from Charles Younis, brewery salesman at near-by Catasaqua, who was referred to the Bethlehem Steel corporation plant here.

"This should have been started three years ago," said Younis. "There should have been a general mobilization."

Other workers declined to comment on the fear that they might lose jobs altogether if they objected to being transferred.

Meanwhile, at a press conference at the local WMC headquarters, officials tried to smooth over adverse public reaction by enlisting the aid of newspapers. Dr. Frank Maguire, WMC director, said the "modified labor draft," which he engineered under WMC Chairman McNutt's sweeping job control order of last July, is designed to provide 1,052 workers in the area for critical war work and to test the draft theory for possible nationwide use in other labor shortage areas.

Under the plan, employment ceilings in nonessential plants are reduced and the men thus made available are ordered by the WMC to take war jobs unless they have pressing personal reasons. Workers who refuse to transfer without valid cause are denied other jobs.

Scope of Draft Widened.

Cement, apparel, textile and nonmetallic mining industries are the next groups to be tapped for excess workers in this area, Maguire said. More than 340 cement plant workers will be "processed" at USES offices tomorrow and Friday, said the WMC director.

In Philadelphia, Regional WMC Director Paul Lewis said the plan has been extended to labor shortage areas thruout Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware. WMC officials said 36 firms in Philadelphia need 10,447 critical and essential workers. Other industrial areas thruout the state report varying shortages of men.

MARGARINE ADVANCES TO 3 RED POINTS A POUND ON SUNDAY

Margarine will be increased from 2 to 3 red points a pound Sunday in an effort to cut down its use in the frying pan and put it on the table as a butter substitute, the office of price administration said yesterday.

Fat pork cuts, now point free, will be put on rationing at 1 point a pound. They include jowl bacon, fat backs, jowls, and jowl butts, from which lard also is made.

Six more red ration stamps, good for meats, fats, oils, and butter, will become valid Sunday, and five more blue stamps, for canned goods, will be good Feb. 1, the OPA announced. The red coupons, valid indefinitely, will be the only ones issued in the five weeks ending March 3.

The blue stamps, the only ones validated in February, will continue the regular 50 points per person per month rate of issue.

Red stamps to be validated are Y-5, Z-5, A-2, B-2, C-2, and D-2 in book 3. Each will be worth 10 points. Validated blue stamps, also worth 10 points each, are H-2, J-2, K-2, L-2, and M-2.

Name your own figure!
(TALL, MEDIUM, SHORT?)

You name it, we have it! Yes, there's a new slant to this business of fit—it's Bond's proportioned sizes. Taller or shorter than average? Bet you've had the dickens of a time, with extensive alterations (and expensive charges to match!). But have you tried Bond's? Ah, there's a different story. Perfect fit, in a jiffy—because Bond suits are designed in three distinct proportions for tall, medium or short. Think how the Bond way saves you fitting headaches and alteration costs. Think, too, how these colorful Bond suits will steal the show. Yes—it all adds up to a fine figure, in more ways than one. Happy thought, isn't it? Sizes 10 to 20, tall, medium and short. Sizes 38 to 44, medium and short.

6 CHICAGO DISTRICT, 4 DOWNSTATE YANKS WIN BRONZE STARS

The war department announced yesterday the award of the bronze star to six Chicago area soldiers. They are 2d Lt. Earl W. Montgomery, 5610 N. Ashland av.; Sgt. George W. Nicolopulos, 2414 N. Spaulding av.; Sgt. Sidney Yablun, 4859 N. Sawyer av.; Pvt. Joseph L. Pliska, 4428 S. St. Louis av.; Pvt. Robert D. Knipp, 4630 N. Harding av., and Pvt. Leo Winckowski, 1320 Jackson st., North Chicago.

Pvt. Knipp's award was posthumous. He was reported killed in action last June 24 in France.

Staff Sgt. George H. Reimer of Coulterville; Tech. Sgt. Howard M. Rich of Atlanta; Pvt. Walter Radick, Granite City, and Sgt. Reinhold A. Maschhoff of Hazelton, all of Illinois also received the award.

KNOCKS OUT NAZI GUN NEST; GETS HIGHEST MEDAL

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24 (AP).—A sergeant who three times walked into heavy enemy fire to lay explosives against a deeply entrenched machine gun nest on the approaches to Cherbourg has been posthumously awarded the congressional medal.

The sergeant, John D. Kelly, 23, former log cutter of Cambridge Springs, Pa., survived that feat, the war department said, but was wounded twice later and died Nov. 23.

When Kelly volunteered to blast the Nazi strongpoint last June 25, the advance of 79th infantry division units on Fort Du Roule had been held up by fire from the machine gun nest.

While the units waited for two hours, Kelly loaded up with TNT, walked into the open and laid the explosives against the strongpoint, neutralizing it on the third trip.

PUK'S MARRIAGE A MOVING EPIC OF LOVE AND HISSES

New York, Jan. 24 [Special].—Passionate kisses one minute and orders to pack and get out the next were the lot of the blonde ex-model, Puk Paaris, during the months she spent in a Massachusetts farm house in 1942 with her millionaire husband, Dr. Joseph Gevaert.

This picture of Puk's tempestuous married life was given in Supreme court here today by her former maid, Mrs. Agnes Baker, a middle aged New Englander, who testified that Puk was a dutiful and affectionate housewife who loved her moody husband and came back "like a little dog" at his call each time he repented an eviction order.

23 Flareups Cited.

Puk, whose romance with Dr. Gevaert, a Belgian industrialist and film magnate, has encompassed one marriage, one divorce, one re-marriage, five separation agreements, and 23 "pack up and move" flareups, is suing for a separation decree and $50,000 a year alimony. Their latest rift dates from last Sept. 15, when the doctor reversed the usual procedure by packing his own things and moving out of their 5th av. apartment.

"I was originally hired as a maid," said Mrs. Baker, "but I finished up by being a packer and unpacker."

She informed Judge Louis A. Valentine that she had paid her own fare to come from Great Barrington, Mass., to aid her former mistress.

"Some days," Mrs. Baker related, "Mrs. Gevaert would be cooking lunch, and Dr. Gevaert would be there kissing and caressing her, while the food burned. Then they would go in the dining room and they wouldn't be talking to each other. He would come to me and say, 'Start packing; she's leaving.'"

Trunks Always Ready.

The Gevaerts separated about 10 times that year, the witness said. She said the doctor always kept a supply of trunks, cartons, and boxes ready and that he would get these himself from upstairs whenever he ordered his wife out. He was never rude about these orders, she observed, always telling her to get out "in a very, very nice way."

Reconciliations always followed quickly, sometimes before the truck loaded with Puk's things could leave the farm, Mrs. Baker said. She told of one occasion when the Gevaerts danced together in the living room while she packed. She said Mrs. Gevaert pleaded with her husband to rescind a "get out" order, but that he shrugged his shoulders and said, "Keep on packing."

"I knew they were crazy about each other," said Mrs. Baker. "I never could understand what caused the separations."

"Next time YOU can take him to the dentist! They put ME in the chair and found three cavities!"

SLUGGED BY BURGLAR.

Hayword Webster, 3451 Indiana av., suffered a skull fracture yesterday when he was slugged in his home by a Negro burglar, who fled with $15.

YANK AND NAZI SWAP 'GREETING' BY BINOCULARS

WITH THE U. S. 7TH ARMY, France, Jan. 24 (AP).—Pvt. Walter Scribner was repairing communications lines at the front when he noticed a movement on a hill 800 yards away and quickly scanned it with his binoculars. Scribner, a 100th division rifleman, saw a German soldier, who, in turn, picked up his field glasses and trained them on Scribner. Scribner laid his glasses down, stuck his thumbs in his ears and wiggled his fingers. Then, picking up his glasses again, he saw the German put his down, stick his thumbs in his ears, and wiggle back.

'BABY' SENATORS PLEDGE F. D. R. PEACE SUPPORT

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24 (AP).—Freshmen senators today pledged President Roosevelt their support for United States participation in an international peace organization.

The 16 newcomers—10 Democrats and six Republicans—said in a letter dispatched to Mr. Roosevelt that "We believe this government should use all reasonable means to assure our allies and the other nations of the world that we intend to share in the direction of and the responsibility for the settlement of this war and the maintenance of peace."

Want U. S. in on Everything.

The senators asked for the earliest possible formation of a "united nations" organization and for American participation "in all decisions affecting the establishment of law and order in the liberated or enemy countries."

Thus Mr. Roosevelt received backing for the argument he presumably intends to put to other members of the "Big Three" at their forthcoming meeting, that there is no necessity for spheres of influence or unilateral agreements because America intends to do her part in maintaining the peace.

The new senators' pronouncement was said to have been worked out on their own, but after consultation with high ranking members of the foreign relations committee—Chairman Connally [D., Tex.], Majority Leader Barkley [D., Ky.], Minority Leader White [R., Me.], and Vandenberg [R., Mich.]. It was designed to strengthen Mr. Roosevelt's hand at the "Big Three" meeting.

Fulbright Their Leader.

Sen. Fulbright [D., Ark.], who as a house member in the last congress took the lead in putting congress on record for an international peace organization, was revealed to be the leader of the freshman group. Working closely with him and sharing the leadership was Sen. Smith [R., N. J.].

The other names on the letter were Briggs [D., Mo.]; Capehart [R., Ind.]; Donnell [R., Mo.]; Hickenlooper [R., Ia.]; Hoey [D., N. C.]; Johnston [D., S. C.]; Magnuson [D., Wash.]; McMahon [D., Conn.]; Mitchell [D., Wash.]; Morse [R., Ore.]; Moses [D., N. D.]; Myers [D., Pa.]; Saltonstall [R., Mass.], and Taylor [D., Idaho].

MAUDE BENNOT IS DISCHARGED BY PARK BOARD

Miss Maude Bennot, in charge of Adler planetarium for eight years, suspended Jan. 11 on a charge of insubordination, has been fired, the Chicago park district announced last night. She had the title of assistant director.

Decision to release her was voted in a meeting of the parks civil service board late Tuesday, but announcement was withheld until Miss Bennot had an opportunity to learn of the action, a spokesman said. The civil service board includes Robert J. Dunham, president of the park board, Blaine Hoover, superintendent of employment, and Philip S. Graver, vice president of the board.

Dunham and Hoover voted to approve a report of an investigating committee which held a public hearing on the civil service charge of insubordination last Thursday. Graver is out of the city.

Miss Bennot said last night she had not received notice of her discharge. She declared such action was "blatant with injustice" and that "the park district merit system has been tossed out the window." She called her dismissal a case of "right against might." She said she did not know whether she would bring suit against the park district.

Shows Achievements

The training which he received as a Boy Scout has helped many an American soldier to preserve his own and his comrades' lives in combat zones, Ronald M. Kimball, chairman of the finance committee of the Chicago council of the Boy Scouts of America, said yesterday at the kick-off luncheon of the council's 1945 fund campaign at the La Salle hotel.

Capt. Warren E. Carlson of the army air forces, who has 75 missions in the South Pacific to his credit, said in an address that Scout training is of value in the moral as well as the practical field.

William R. Odell Jr., chairman of the council's executive board, presided. Guest of honor was John T. McCutcheon, Tribune cartoonist. A cartoon he drew last year to stimulate the campaign, and which will be used again this year, was on display.

The goal of the drive, which will run thru February, is $154,000. This is to be used to defray administrative and executive expenses of the Chicago council, whose membership exceeds 31,000.

MEAT DEALERS UNITE TO FIGHT OPA IN COURTS

Officers and directors of the Retail Meat Dealers' association of Chicago voted yesterday to employ an attorney and institute a vigorous court fight against more than 200 charges of celling violation the office of price administration plans to file next week.

Action was taken by the association's board after a two hour conference with Marion Isbell, OPA director of the Chicago metropolitan area, in which the meat dealers urged less "persecution" and more understanding in the OPA enforcement program. Association officials said the 200 pending cases are the result of an OPA "drive" and not indicative of widespread wilful violations.

Dealers Suggest Coöperation.

John J. Tunzer, field agent of the association, said suggestions of closer coöperation between meat dealers and the OPA will be offered Isbell, including employment of a practical meat man in the OPA office to determine what violations are willful.

"We are particularly opposed to the OPA practice of being prosecutor, judge and jury," Tunzer said. "It smacks too much of those things we are fighting against."

The association, said George Dressler, chairman of the board, will not oppose prosecution where violation is plainly indicated. "We are opposed," he added, "to the continuous persecution of meat dealers caught between wholesale squeezes and retail ceilings, harassed by an acute shortage of trained help and many other war time worries, and we intend to fight it."

Association Idea Turned Down.

E. E. Seek, president of the association of 2,100 members, was spokesman for the group that conferred with Isbell. Fifteen officers and directors went to Isbell's office but only six were permitted to meet with the OPA director and his enforcement attorney.

Dressler said when the meat dealers suggested to Isbell that some action be taken against wholesalers who "short" the retailer several pounds on orders, or force him to take less desirable meats on a "tie-in" basis, the OPA director said a court test on a wholesaler had failed and that the OPA could not get retailers to file complaints against wholesalers.

Lack of Labor a Handicap.

"Why should we file complaints?" Dressler asked, "and be unable to get any more supplies? The OPA hires investigators to check us. Why can't they hire their own investigators to check the wholesalers?"

Dressler said he formerly employed four butchers, but now has himself, his wife, and daughter to help part time, and a high school boy working after school.

"It's impossible not to make mistakes under such conditions," he added.

CHARGES COURT AID ATTEMPTED $35 SHAKEDOWN

Defendant Wins Judge's Promise of Inquiry.

Judge Jay Schiller of the S. State st. court said last night that he would begin today an investigation of apparent irregularities in filling in docket sheets in his court by deputy clerks of the Municipal court. He also will investigate a charge that a deputy bailiff collected a fee to cash a pay check for a defendant to permit payment of a fine.

John B. David.

The complaint of John B. David, 35, of 347 N. Clark st., a cook on the Union Pacific railroad's City of Los Angeles, that he was unable to obtain a receipt for a $35 fine, brought to light an evident substitution for the docket sheet filled in by Judge Schiller.

Offered a "Fix."

David was arrested Tuesday night in the loop by a policeman who overheard him ask a casual acquaintance for a loan until he could cash an $80 pay check. While in jail at police headquarters David said he was approached by bailiffs with offers to "square" the charge of begging.

After his trial, he said, a bailiff told him that he would be sent to the county jail unless he paid a fine, and offered to escort him to a corner store to cash his check. For this service, David said, the bailiff demanded and was paid $4.

When they got back to headquarters, David asserted, the bailiff took him into a court other than Judge Schiller's and there he paid the clerk $35, and requested a receipt.

The clerk refused to give him a receipt, David said, and told him to get out of the building and to be thankful that he was not in jail.

Discrepancy Is Shown.

Preliminary investigation indicated that one docket sheet had been torn from the book in Judge Schiller's court and destroyed and that another, with a different notation as to the disposition of the case, substituted. Apart from the discrepancy of one sheet showing David's case had been dismissed and the other showing that he had been fined $25 and costs, the two sheets were almost exactly alike.

"This is the first time that an irregularity such as this has been brought to my attention," Judge Schiller said. "There apparently has been a great imposition put upon this court, and whoever is guilty will have to make an accounting to me.

"I intend to ask Albert J. Horan, chief bailiff, and Joseph L. Gill, chief clerk, to aid in the investigation to make sure that nothing like this will ever happen again. I'm certain that both will coöperate fully.

"I don't know at this time who is responsible. If the clerk refused to give the defendant a receipt for his money, he may have intended to take the $35. It looks like an attempted shakedown by some of those fellows."

INDIANA FIELD OUT OF SERVICE.

BEDBUGS AND COURT PUT BEE ON PAROLE BOARD'S POLICIES

If a man's room is infested with cimex lectularius, he is entitled to move without being sent to prison, Judge Elwyn R. Shaw asserted yesterday in federal District court, where Russell Gray, 42, a convict at Joliet penitentiary, appeared to ask a writ of habeas corpus.

Gray told the court that he was sentenced from Eureka, Woodford county, in 1935 to a one year to life term when he pleaded guilty to a charge of looting a farm house of $40.

He was paroled June 24, 1939, and returned as a parole violator March 13, 1942. He was paroled again July 30, 1943, and sent back to prison for violating his parole Oct. 18 of that year.

He was sent back the first time, he told the court, because he moved out of his bedbug infested room without sanction of the parole board.

"I'll continue this case until Feb. 28 to give the parole board a chance to perform its lawful duty," the court said. "Or, if the petitioner's request is denied by the state courts, he may bring his cause back here."

RAIL CROSSING GUARDS ORDERED FOR OAK PARK

The Illinois commerce commission late yesterday entered an interlocutory order requiring five railroads which use two adjoining rights of way in south Oak Park to place extra crossing guards at the Austin blvd., Ridgeland, Oak Park, and Harlem avs. crossings.

Under the order, which becomes effective immediately, there will be two crossing guards and one towerman, who operates the gates, at each of these crossings. The lines affected are the Chicago Rapid Transit company and the Aurora and Elgin line, which use one set of tracks, and the Baltimore and Ohio Chicago Terminal Railroad company and two other steam lines, which use the other tracks.

The temporary order followed the first hearing yesterday on the commission's citation against the railroads and the village of Oak Park to show cause why there should not be an adjustment made in the crossing protection. Testimony was given yesterday by witnesses for Oak Park that traffic on the two sets of tracks is too heavy to permit adequate protection with one guard. Several fatal accidents have occurred at the crossings in the last year.

LAKE COUNTY'S G. O. P. INDORSES DADY, DUSHER

Circuit Judges Ralph J. Dady of Waukegan and William R. Dusher of Rockford were indorsed for reelection by the Lake County Republican central committee in Waukegan last night.

The committee named 74 delegates to the 17th district judicial convention to be held March 24 in Waukegan and instructed them to place the two judges in nomination. The third judge in the district, William L. Pierce of Belvidere, has announced his retirement at the conclusion of his present term.

The district is composed of Lake, Winnebago, McHenry, and Boone counties. The election will be held June 4.

BUSINESS EQUIPMENT STOLEN.

PROMOTION SET FOR 56 POLICE OFFICERS TODAY

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

An order promoting 16 police lieutenants to captaincies, 17 sergeants to lieutenancies, and 23 patrolmen to sergeantcies is to be issued by Police Commissioner Allman this morning, it was announced at the city hall yesterday. The new police officers then will be given assignments, and will take up their new duties at once.

All of the officers to be promoted stand highest on the civil service rating lists for their respective rankings.

The order was made possible after action yesterday in two of the lawsuits involving six captains and a lieutenant dismissed from the department last summer after a gambling investigation. The petition of Lt. William J. Drury, one of the ousted men, for an injunction to prevent the promotion of more than 21 lieutenants was withdrawn. The order of Superior Judge Joseph A. Graber requiring that Drury be given an examination for promotion was appealed.

Suit Pending at Capital.

The six captains and Drury have a suit pending in the Supreme court at Springfield thru which they expect to be restored to the department, and because of the possibility of their success only 16 of 22 vacancies for police captain are to be filled, it was said at the city hall.

The lieutenants who will be promoted to captains are:

Redmond P. Gibbons, Michael J. Ahern, George T. Barnes, Kyran V. Phelan, Jerome C. Looney, John T. Warren, Louis A. Capparelli, Charles G. O'Regan, Andrew W. Aitkin, John J. Enright, John T. O'Malley, Michael L. Spatz, Joseph M. Graney, Matthew J. Murphy, William H. Doyle, and Thomas A. Kelly.

Sergeants Are Listed.

The sergeants who will become lieutenants are:

William J. Quilter, Michael A. Nevell, Benjamin L. Gunnell, John M. Cullnan, Matthew J. Mandernach, Richard J. Coyne, James E. Devery, Edward R. Satunas, Orin Ross, John A. Olson, John Murphy, John J. Krikava, Joseph A. Baginsik, Thomas F. Hayes, Patrick J. Coughlin, Thomas G. Moore, and Paul J. Johnson.

The patrolmen who will become sergeants are:

Edmund J. Biedke, Peter J. Lenahan, Hubert Killackey, Ernest W. Meade, Matthias J. Rauen, Charles C. Hecht, Mitchell R. Mall, Paul M. Moser, William P. Kinsella, Charles E. Coyle, James J. Penny, James T. Savage, John H. Mueller, Edmund Michalik, Clair Farquar, Clement J. Burns, William T. Franklin, Frank P. Doyle, Henry R. Carr, Joseph Hanratty, Thomas J. Mulvey, Edward H. Breen, and Alfred J. Mulvaney.

Already Fill Positions.

Many of the men promoted are now acting in the positions they will fill under civil service grading. Among the new captains, Warren is at present deputy chief of detectives, Barnes is head of the labor detail, and most of the others are in command at district stations.

Matt Murphy, who will become a police captain this morning, is at present an army captain, assigned to military police, and was last known to have been in Sydney, Australia. He was permitted to take the civil service examination for promotion while away, the papers having been sent to him and the tests taken under the supervision of one of his commanding officers in the army.

A star will be issued in his name and will be held in the office of the secretary of police pending his return to duty, and he will be carried on the rolls as on furlough for military duty.

Leaves Mayor's Office.

John J. Enright, another of the new captains, will leave the mayor's office, where he has been assigned for several years. He will swell the ranks of former bodyguards for the mayor who have become captains. With him will go one of the two sergeants working there who become lieutenants — Mandernach and Devery. Allman will decide which will stay there in place of Enright.

In permitting Lt. Drury to withdraw his request for an injunction, Judge John C. Lewe said it would be unfair to the other lieutenants to halt their promotion in Drury's interest. Atty. Stephen Love, in Drury's behalf, said Drury would continue his efforts for promotion after his expected return to the department.

50 MILLION FAKE MEAT COUPONS SEIZED; 4 HELD

Charge Quartet Is Part of Nation-Wide Ring.

Seizure of counterfeit meat coupons totaling two billion red points and a score of arrests were forecast by regional office of price administration officials last night as a result of the confiscation of 50 million bogus coupons having a face value of 500 million points here yesterday.

Gaetano Polito [top] and Gaetano Jr.

Four persons—an alien Italian, his wife, and two sons, both medically discharged war veterans—were arrested and held in bonds of $25,000 each by federal authorities, who said they formed part of a nation-wide ring of counterfeiters whose work might have disrupted the entire meat rationing program.

Cover Three Weeks' Supply of Beef.

Rae E. Walters, regional OPA administrator, said the seizure represented current coupons which, if fully used, could have involved all the beef sold in civilian channels thruout the country for three weeks and that the coupons were worth $2,500,000 at the prices at which they were being sold to meat markets and restaurants in Chicago and elsewhere.

Walters said that if the bogus coupons had been widely distributed it would have been necessary for the OPA to cancel all No. 4 ration books in the country and issue new ones to overcome "the utter chaos which would have followed."

Raid Apartment at 2 A. M.

L. D. Edwards, chief of the OPA's currency protection section, with other OPA operatives and United States marshals, obtained a search warrant at 2 a. m. yesterday and went to an apartment at 707 S. Ada st. There, said United States Atty. Woll, they found Mrs. Nellie Polito, 42, and an 11 year old son asleep. In another bedroom were shopping bags containing more than 50 million P-5, U-5, V-5, W-5, and X-5 red coupons, 6,000 B-5 gasoline coupons, and $7,100 in valid $100 bills of the Chinese Central government.

Father Has Police Record.

At 5 a. m. Gaetano Polito Sr., 54, arrived and a few minutes later two other sons, James, 22, and Gaetano Jr., 19, came home. All except the small son were taken to the marshal's office in the federal courthouse. The father said he was working as night chef at the Famous Door, 2813 Broadway, and the older sons at war plants. Walker ordered them held for a hearing Feb. 1.

Police said the criminal record of Polito Sr., also known as Fiddle and Guy, includes vagrancy arrests in 1925, a county jail term in 1936, and two convictions for operating a still in 1939 and 1940.

Enough Meat Points for the Nation

(Story in adjoining column.)

DE MILLE LOSES FIGHT ON UNION POLITICAL LEVY

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 24 [Special].—Cecil B. De Mille, veteran screen and radio producer, lost his fight in Superior court today to block the American Federation of Radio Artists from expelling him for refusal to pay a $1 assessment when Judge Emmet M. Wilson upheld the union's right to levy it.

De Mille refused to pay the assessment, levied last August, to finance a fight against "proposition 12," a proposed amendment to the California constitution which would have prohibited unions from interfering with employment whether or not an employe belongs to a labor organization.

The proposed amendment was defeated Nov. 7 by California voters, thereby retaining the closed shop principle.

Warned of Suspension.

After the election, De Mille was notified by the union that he would be suspended Dec. 11 unless he paid the assessment. Under the closed shop agreement the union has with radio stations, this meant that De Mille would be unable to continue his weekly broadcast.

At that time, De Mille obtained a temporary restraining order in Superior court against the union. He contended the assessment was unauthorized by the union by-laws or constitution and that it violated the federal corrupt practices act.

In sustaining the union today, Judge Wilson denied De Mille's application for a preliminary injunction and dismissed his demand that the union show cause why it should expel De Mille.

"I have been unable to find a substantial ground upon which it could be held that a union may not expend its funds for the purposes which its officers consider for the betterment of the condition of its members, as long as it is not used in political activities," ruled Judge Wilson.

Closed Shop Upheld.

"I do not regard such activities as including the support of legislative measures that advance their lawful aims or the opposition to those that frustrate them.

"The principle of the closed shop is one of the most revered tenets of organized labor. It has been recognized in California as a valid claim. No. 12 clearly was an issue in which all labor organizations were vitally interested."

On De Mille's contention that he was forced to help finance a movement to which he was opposed and which concerned his citizen voting rights, the judge said:

"No right of suffrage or of discussion was interfered with by reason of the fact that the official board or a majority of the members favored and authorized the use of its funds for the purpose of campaigning for or against the measure. No member was coerced in his voting by the action of his organization."

Following the judge's ruling, the union said, "in accordance with the previous action of the board, Mr. De Mille still is suspended."

De Mille said he would have an announcement about the case tomorrow. His attorney, Neil McCarthy, said he will appeal the decision. De Mille previously said he would take the case to the United States Supreme court before giving up what he considers a campaign to preserve citizen voter rights.

NAVY 'EXPLAINS' LOAFING AT SHIP YARD IN NORFOLK

Forrestal, Bard Hit Senators' Charge.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24 [Special].—Secretary of Navy Forrestal and Under Secretary Bard today hit back at the charges of Sen. Mead [D., N. Y.], chairman of the senate war investigating committee, that man power is being grossly wasted at the Norfolk navy yard.

Answering questions at a press conference, Forrestal characterized Mead's charges as "impulsive," and asserted they were not based on thoro study.

Bard, who directs navy labor and personnel policies, declared the Mead committee had lifted from the context of the navy's own industrial survey of the Norfolk yard such portions "which naturally best suited their purpose."

Admit Imperfection.

The two top ranking civilian officials of the navy department acknowledged that labor conditions are not perfect in the Norfolk yard or any other yard, but, asserted the navy, in the face of a shortage of experienced help and a 50 per cent annual labor turnover, is striving to improve conditions.

Forrestal started the ball rolling in reply to Senators Mead and Ferguson [R., Mich.], principal critics of the senate group, by pointing out one peculiarity of navy yard operation.

Navy yards repair ships as well as build them, he said. It is not always possible to anticipate in advance just how many ships are going to come in damaged, but when one does limp in, it is necessary to have labor available to put it back into shape as quickly as possible. Thus, some idle labor is almost unavoidable.

"Always Has Been Loafing."

Bard acknowledged there always has been and probably always will be some loafing in shipyards. He offered an explanation as to why the senators may have thought they detected so much loafing at Norfolk. When a ship is in port, at least half her crew remains aboard and the sailors, wearing the dungarees, cannot be distinguished from workmen, he said. Also, supervisors and even officers are in working clothing.

Forrestal said the navy welcomes all investigations which may "render profitable service," but that "we sometimes demur against impulsive action."

By this, he explained, he meant that "these inquiries by congress sometimes can be disruptive." Without implying, he said, that Mead's report was not serious, he asserted that an investigation, in order to be constructive, must be "serious."

19 Chinese Army Officers Start 8 Week N. U. Course

Nineteen Chinese army ordnance officers, ranging in rank from captain to colonel, will begin an eight week training course today in industrial management and manufacturing methods at Northwestern university. All graduate engineers, the officers will study at the technological institute and the school of commerce on the Evanston campus, under the sponsorship of the foreign economic administration.

DISMISS SUIT OF ARNOLD LUND AGAINST MURPHY

On the petition of attorneys who announced an out-of-court settlement, Circuit Judge Robert J. Dunne yesterday dismissed the suit of Arnold L. Lund, former state labor department official, and Miss Marjorie V. Maloney, a dust filter company executive, against Patrick Murphy, brother of Francis B. Murphy, former state labor department director. Lund and Miss Maloney had sued for damages on the contention that Murphy failed to fulfill business agreements after they invested $27,000 in a commercial venture.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

PRIORITIES TO THE LEFT OF CENTER.

Jesse Jones, secretary of commerce and head of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, was bounced to reward the St. Bernard-like fidelity and loyalty of Henry Wallace. Mr. Jones, making his way back to private life by hitchhiking or walking, is not the first, but he is the best known victim of the White House "A" priority. After this, Stephen Early needn't bother to make the explanations. They should come from Sidney Hillman. Mr. Roosevelt, reelected, said the administration probably would be found a little left of center. That we can believe.

Mr. Wallace himself, among many other doubts, raises the one as to whether he has been a shrewd and calculating politician, holding his natural tumults well in check, or is really the faithful St. Bernard—some might say pooch—who sticks around no matter how many times he is put out of the house. Mr. Roosevelt fired him from the board of economic warfare, and abolished the board, to end his row with Mr. Jones, and later incontinently tricked him on renomination.

Mr. Roosevelt was a blunderbuss of tricks on this nomination, for which he wanted Harry Truman. His slugs hit not only Mr. Wallace, but Sen. Barkley and Mr. Byrnes, both of whom thought they had the green light. Mr. Barkley, who was to make the nominating speech for the fourth term candidate, was so mad when he discovered what was going on that he recalled his manuscript from the press associations and was persuaded with difficulty not to bolt the job. Mr. Byrnes made no secret of his hurts. Mr. Wallace submitted to his chief's duplicity without a word of reproach and plunged into the campaign with as much ardor as if he had been running on the ticket.

For the politician this was the sensible thing to do. Carrying an intolerable grievance, Mr. Wallace could have walked abruptly out of public life with small chance of ever walking back in again. Private life now hides many men who got sore at Mr. Roosevelt when they were in the public eye. Mr. Wallace hid his scars and sang for his supper. In the world in which he lives it was the wise thing to do. In the improbable event that Mr. Roosevelt will not want a fifth term or in the better chance that he will not be able to accept it, Mr. Wallace stands ready to receive the mantle. There was a certain amount of satisfaction in bouncing Mr. Jones off the plane. It settled a grudge score.

Many people who could watch the political phases of Mr. Wallace's resurgence with only a theatergoer's interest are set back on their heels by the left of center plunge of the fourth term. Unless congress passes Sen. George's bill, or one like it, divorcing the Reconstruction Finance corporation from the department of commerce, Henry Wallace, the admirer of soviet methods, would have the management of the least limited and least audited governmental funds to do with them about as he pleases. No imagination could chart the prospects of that.

Wallace, in his first term as secretary of agriculture, indorsed the idea of governmental allocation of capital to industry, with the consequent control of output. As commissar of the government's pool of investment money the left wing whoopee would be really on. Mr. Roosevelt has made good on the old promise from the throne. He has actually given his favorite half of his kingdom. He followed it up by reviving Aubrey Williams, the youth organization left winger, and putting him in charge of rural electrification—a child of the socialist TVA which Mr. Roosevelt proposes to extend to all the green valleys of the country.

Left of center has the "A" priorities. The fourth term begins with a salute to Moscow.

CRIME IN MINNEAPOLIS.

Arthur Kasherman, publisher of an irregular journal which specialized in exposure of vice and crime in Minneapolis, was murdered by gunmen Monday on the streets of that city. He may not have been a particularly savory character. He served a prison term a few years ago for blackmailing a brothel owner.

Kasherman's former employer, Howard Guilford, was similarly murdered about 10 years ago. Nothing was ever done about it. Walter Liggett, editor of another crusading weekly in Minneapolis, was killed in 1935. A gang leader was tried for his murder and acquitted at a trial at which Liggett's widow charged that Minneapolis police were active on behalf of the defendant.

That Kasherman and his former employer were men of dubious reputation is immaterial. The fact is plain that for more than a decade organized crime has flourished in Minneapolis, that local authorities were either acquiescent or incapable of suppressing it, and that three men who undertook to expose it, from whatever motives, were murdered to close their mouths. It is beyond bounds of credibility that they would have been killed if there had been nothing to expose.

THE VIGILANTES.

Gov. Earl Warren has acted with commendable dispatch to protect Japanese-Americans who are being returned to their California homes from relocation centers. He not only has ordered the law enforcing agencies to safeguard the repatriates in their civil and property rights, but has appealed to good citizens to lend assistance to the law to prevent the rise of mob intolerance.

The Californians who tried to frighten off the first Japanese-American family to return by shooting and by firing a farm building call themselves "vigilantes," but they are abusing the memory of a movement which, if its methods lacked the sanction of statutes, at least stood for law and order. The new "vigilantes" could more accurately be described as land-grabbers looking for bargains.

The Japanese family whom it was sought to terrorize have two sons in the American army. An agent of the sheriff's office who obeyed Gov. Warren's orders made the whole case for such people when he said, "The Constitution says they've got to have protection and under my oath of office I'm going to see that they get it." Any other attitude threatens the spread of lawless intolerance from which no minority group could feel safe.

The American Legion has also recognized this in serving notice upon its post at Hood River, Ore., to restore to the community honor roll the names of 15 service men of Japanese ancestry. These men are citizens and are serving honorably, and Edward N. Scheiberling, national commander, issued a deserved rebuke to the post in saying, "The American Legion has always maintained that bigotry and race hatred have no place in American life."

BUYING IN EXCESS OF NEED.

Now that Von Rundstedt's counter-attacking army has been driven back, civilians have quite generally recovered their mental balance. Late in December they envisaged the rampant Nazis going on to Sedan and then Paris, cutting us off from Antwerp and driving our armies out of Europe. Official Washington shared these fears. How else account for the statement issued by WPB chairman J. A. Krug on Dec. 21, that "it would not surprise me if we had to reëquip the whole 1st army.

Washington, a short time before Rundstedt's campaign in Belgium, was issuing cutbacks, canceling orders, freely issuing spot authorizations to resume civilian production of goods, and encouraging people to believe that supplies for home front use would become more plentiful. In consternation at Rundstedt's successes, the procurement agencies suddenly issued orders to expand production of everything and buy up whatever supplies were in sight.

A peremptory order was served on all worsted mills directing them not to supply any more of their product to civilian customers, but to set aside everything for the army. Clothing factories were directed to devote 75 per cent of their capacity to army trousers. The underwear industry was asked to put in bids for 5 million long sleeved pull-over shirts. The military allotment of cotton textiles was increased 9 million yards, and many kinds of piece goods became entirely unavailable to housewives. Increased orders for rayon tied up the mills turning out fabrics for civilians. Military requirements of leather were revised upward 50 per cent, cutting down the home front footwear supply. The go-ahead was given on a plant to produce mortars which would not start turning out its product until August. Manufacturers of boxes and shipping cases suddenly were swamped with orders going far beyond anything known before.

These actions indirectly reduced the supply of goods for civilians; other steps directly served that purpose. A 15 per cent cut was made in the allocation of meat to civilians. Chickens for the first time were placed on allocation. Lard and other shortenings were placed on the ration list. The amount of lead for nonmilitary uses was reduced to 60 per cent of 1944, thus cutting down the amount of paints, batteries, and pipes for nongovernmental users.

Possibly all of these steps were justified by an early survey of the military plight in Belgium, but the actions were so drastic and the decision to take them so precipitate that some of the orders may now be reëxamined to see whether they aren't excessive. Now that the civilian has regained his equanimity and the war is going well on the eastern front, Washington officials might well reconsider what they did in a mood bordering on panic. Where calm judgment indicates it to be feasible, some emergency orders can be scaled down and others canceled. If this is done with an open mind, a large part of the man power problem may be solved. It will be recalled that the man power crisis developed along with the sudden demand of the government for more and more of everything.

THE FLYING DOG.

When there are so many other things that need to be straightened out in order to get on with the war and put the country on an even keel, the public may well be puzzled why the senate military affairs committee should be bothering to investigate the travels of Col. Elliott Roosevelt's dog. This cause celebre contributed nothing that hasn't already been known about the disposition of the Roosevelt clan to use government property and services for private purposes.

The military affairs committee ought to know that there are courts-martial within the discretion of the army and criminal prosecutions which can be instituted by the department of justice if there were any real desire to punish privileged offenders.

As a matter of fact, there isn't much difference in moral principle between using an army transport plane for private purposes and taking army cigarets for private purposes. The difference, practically speaking, however, is great. For the first offense, no penalty is imposed; for the second, 20 years of penal servitude is a mild sentence.

There is nothing in that contrast that requires investigation. The facts are all known and conceded.

THAT REMINDS ME——.

The invasion of Silesia reminds us of Gerhart Hauptmann, an important figure to serious playgoers of Europe and the United States in the last generation. He was born in that German province and schooled in Breslau; his most famous work, "The Weavers," dealt with industrial revolt among Silesian toilers of the 1840s.

* * *

"The Weavers" was a grim piece of proletarian realism, and hard on the nerves. When the starving Silesians of its story took to cutting steaks off dead horses in the streets, at the Chicago première more than 30 years ago a certain drama critic withdrew from the theater to become slightly ill at the curbing. [A hard-boiled looper he was, too.]

* * *

A versatile altho not a copious writer, Hauptmann became the chief literary figure of Germany before World War I. and in 1912 he was awarded the Nobel prize. The kaiser frowned upon his nonconformist tendencies and removed the insignia of state from the imperial box at a Hauptmann première in Berlin. The German republic, however, awarded him every possible honor and medal.

* * *

By the torchbearers and intellectuals of the American stage Hauptmann was regarded as Ibsen's successor. Examples of his stark realism in drab colors, such as "Lonely Lives" and "Teamster Henschel," were occasionally acted by grave little groups before small audiences of high-minded subscribers. Donald Robertson's disciples in Chicago, we think, gave these two pieces their American premières in translations.

* * *

Like Ibsen, he had a vein of fantasy and symbolism, represented by "The Sunken Bell" and "Hannele." The former was acted in Chicago by E. H. Sothern and Virginia Harned in 1900; the latter by Mrs. Fiske in 1910.

* * *

When the Nazi regime stifled Germany's free literary life, Hauptmann did not join the migration of writers. He was then in his eighth decade, too old for refugee adventures.

POEM FOR PAM—XXXVI.

Young Denny loves dolls,
But he isn't a sissy!
He's brash and he's bold,
And I'll put it in print. . . .
He will knock you out cold
If you so much as hint
That he might be a prissy!
Yet Denny loves dolls!

Yes, Denny loves dolls—
And he has a doll buggy!
He's ready and rough
(With the eyes of a doe)
And he's husky enough
For the folks in the know
To all nickname him "Sluggy,"
Yet Denny loves dolls!

Young Denny loves dolls,
And I've just heard that maybe
If Denny's real good,
And is meek as a mouse,
And does what he should
There will come to his house
A real live doll baby—
And Denny loves dolls! B. J. K.

If the two lions which stand guard at the entrance to the Art institute should suddenly be removed, I believe most Chicagoans would feel their loss, even tho subconsciously. Our family never enters the Art institute immediately. We first stop and visit the lions. Our small sons pat them affectionately, examine and admire them.

We have named them Mr. North and Mr. South. Our young Louis discovered that their personalities were quite opposite. We are more fond of Mr. North than we are of Mr. South. Mr. South's tail is the same dull green as the rest of him and it droops down behind him. Louis says this is his way of frowning. But Mr. North has a shining tail that curves up in a laugh. This tail makes a fine seat from which a child can see up and down Michigan av. Many other children of Chicago must feel the same way about those lions. If not, why is Mr. North's tail so shiny?

SUN AND SHADOW.

Do you remember watching from a hill
White clouds of billowed beauty, and the shine
Of patterned light thru fragrant boughs of pine?
How winged with loveliness the day, how still?
And then the storm that took us unaware,
Whipped us with wind until our bodies ached,
Swept mist into our blinded eyes and raked
Its cold, rough fingers thru our streaming hair?
All life is sun and storm, swift joy that spills
To overflowing, then the stab of pain;
Did we not feel at times the slash of rain,
Could we know high, glad moments on the hills?

I. F. asks: "Does a service man whose service pay exceeds the $1,500 income tax exemption by only a few dollars have to use his $500 personal exemption credit or can the wife take $1,000 for both and let him pay the tax on that portion of his income in excess of $1,500? He is overseas."

As long as your husband is overseas you can claim the full $1,000 credit, but when he returns an amended joint return must be filed within the specified period. If he has any taxable income to report, he cannot "give away" his share of the $1,000 exemption.

I. R. C. writes: "I noted in your column the other day the mention of one of your correspondents being entitled to $240 bonus. How did he get it? I tried to apply, but everybody told me that Illinois wasn't paying a bonus."

There is legislation favoring the payment of a state bonus before the Illinois legislature, but it has not become a law. The item you mention concerned a correspondent from a New England state.

K. C. C. asks: "Is a person who has been transferred to the inactive reserve still entitled to protection under the soldiers' and sailors' civil relief act?"

It would depend on the circumstances and also on the interpretation of the court phraseology employed in Article I, Sections 101 and 102 of the act. Ordinarily the service man is protected only while on active duty.

BISMUTH IN THE TREATMENT OF ARTHRITIS.

So much suffering, the result of arthritis, exists in the world that medical men everywhere are on the alert for any procedure that offers the slightest hope. Some years ago various salts of gold were advocated. While this plan is fairly drastic and cannot be adopted by every one, it is worth while in many instances.

Not long ago, the British medical journal related the experience of a physician with a preparation of bismuth. It appears that he had encountered, on the west coast of Africa [where he was then stationed], a large number of cases of yaws. He found the malady present in both sexes and all ages. It was characterized by a widespread rash over the face and body. The lesions [the acute phase had passed] remained as small tumors.

The ideal remedy was sodium-bismuth-tartrate. This was administered deep within the muscles and the aftermath was spectacular. After one or two doses, all signs of the eruption disappeared. Altho there were no complications, children tolerated the drug better than adults. In one lad of 5, who was so emaciated that death appeared imminent, a single "shot" restored health.

The thought occurred to this investigator that inasmuch as the joint pains exhibited by many of these victims were aided by the chemical, perhaps it would be of value in arthritis. Trial demonstrated that it did not influence rheumatic fever. On the other hand, several cases of arthritis deformans [the crippling type] improved. All showed the typical X-ray findings. The group that responded most favorably were those with trouble in the hands, wrists, elbows, knees, and ankles. Intense pain, limitation of movement, and rigidity were alleviated.

A police sergeant, who had been ill for more than a year, had been given hot baths, gold, and numerous forms of physiotherapy. He had little use of his hands and wrists. Three injections of bismuth at monthly intervals banished the manifestations and he was able to apply for reinstatement to his former job.

Dermatologists and experts in syphilis are familiar with the employment of bismuth compounds in the treatment of that disorder. Yaws resembles syphilis but is a wholly nonvenereal infection. It does go through the three typical stages, however, with arthritis as a terminal affliction. It was the complete relief of the latter symptoms that gave rise to the theory that bismuth would be helpful.

One writer [Hall] is fully convinced, after a two-year period of research, that considerable success can be expected in about 60 per cent of all cases of arthritis. One patient who was restored to 85 per cent of his normal capacity had received a series of gold treatments with only minor benefit. When bismuth was substituted, the change for the better was abrupt.

Perhaps this suggestion is only a straw. But we cannot ignore the marked improvement which has followed in a fair number of these subjects.

HEROIC TREATMENT.

M. J. B. writes: I have heard that people interned in concentration camps rub their gums with garlic to offset losing their teeth due to dietary deficiencies. Is this of any value?

REPLY.

Neither helpful nor harmful. The one who uses this treatment is certainly no weakling.

He Has No Children.

Perhaps it is too early to think of Hitler's retribution, but the high fever magazines have been batting their readers' heads with it for two years now, and the Russians are going in, and we are going in, and the slaughtered countries are being liberated, and from the ashes of their ruins, from the mind of many a wretched, mourning parent the world over whose child or children now will live no more, rises insistently the query: Revenge? Can we have just retribution for these, our sorrows?

The identical query arose in Shakespeare's "Macbeth." The scene encompassing it is one of the most powerful passages in English literature. Macbeth had overrun Scotland and devastated its land and people. Duncan, the king, was dead. Malcolm, his son, and Macduff, who in time was to bring Birnam wood to Dunsinane, had fled to England. To them in exile there came Ross, a friend. And Macduff asks him: "Stands Scotland where it did?"

The scene continues:

Ross: Alas! Poor country;
Almost afraid to know itself. It cannot
Be call'd our mother, but our grave; where nothing,
But who knows nothing, is once seen to smile;
Where sighs and groans and shrieks that rent the air
Are made, not mark'd; where violent sorrow seems
A modern ecstasy; the dead man's knell
Is there scarce ask'd for who; and good men's lives
Expire before the flowers in their caps,
Dying or ere they sicken.
Malcolm: What's the newest grief?
Ross: That of an hour's age doth hiss the speaker;
Each minute teems a new one.

Macduff: How does my wife?
Ross: Why, well.
Macduff: And all my children?
Ross: Well, too.
Macduff: The tyrant has not batter'd at their peace?
Ross: No, they were well at peace when I did leave them.
. . . . . But I have words
That would be howl'd out in the desert air,
Where hearing should not latch them.
Macduff: What concern they?
The general cause? Or is it a fee-grief
Due to some single breast?
Ross: No mind that's honest
But in it shares some woe, tho the main part
Pertains to you alone.

Macduff: If it be mine
Keep it not from me; quickly let me have it.
Ross: Let not your ears despise my tongue forever,
Which shall possess them with the heaviest sound
That ever yet they heard.
Macduff: Hum! I guess at it.
Ross: Your castle is surpris'd; your wife and babes
Savagely slaughter'd to relate the manner,
Were, on the quarry of these murder'd deer,
To add the death of you.
Malcolm: Merciful heaven!
What! man; ne'er pull your hat upon your brows;
Give sorrow words; the grief that does not speak
Whispers the o'er-fraught heart and bids it break.
Macduff: My children, too?
Ross: Wife, children, servants, all
That could be found.
Macduff: And I must be from thence!
My wife kill'd, too?
Ross: I have said.

Malcolm: Be comforted:
Let's make us medicine of our great revenge,
To cure this deadly grief.

"LOSING" THE DIES EVIDENCE.

Wilmington, Cal., Jan. 19.—I have just read of the transfer of the files compiled by the Dies committee on un-American activities to the attic of the old House building. The account stated this was done in the absence of any member of the new committee, also that Chief Investigator Stripling, who is the only person thoroly familiar with all of the work of the committee, was to be inducted into the army on Jan. 22.

Why is it many men in war plants, who hold much less important jobs, are granted deferments, yet this one man must go into the service immediately? And why is it necessary to move these files and make such an obvious attempt to eventually "lose" or "dispose" of this information?

Perhaps this committee is treading on the toes of some who are afraid their actions and dealings will not bear the light of public scrutiny.

I have a brother in the army, serving in the European theater, and another in the navy serving in the Southwest Pacific. Soon I will be overseas, too, and would like to know that such an agency as the committee is attempting to maintain our country as it is here at home. J, R—Y 2/C.

TO REHABILITATE NEW YORKERS.

Tallahassee, Fla., Jan. 19.—Copy of a letter from a woman who has lived "off and on" in New York for a great many years, and is now there for a few months:

"It is like going into a foreign country to be in New York [now]. There seems absolutely no war effort. The stores and people grumbling about points and shortages—most of them arrived so recently from Europe as not even to be American citizens. And an Italian mayor shouting over the radio he will attend to shortages. Wonder whether he intends to turn Schultz park [his yard] into a grazing space for cattle. No one will use oleo—even the hotels. Sounds silly to me. New York citizens should be evacuated like the Japs for a year or so . . . they could get an American viewpoint. . . ."

ALL QUIET ON THE WARD FRONT.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—I had occasion to go to Montgomery Ward's and order merchandise thru the catalog order office. Ordinarily I had waited 30 to 45 minutes from the time of placing the order till I received it, but this time it took 1 hour and 15 minutes.

Most of the employes were doing nothing, or maybe I was just there during one of the rest periods. Despite the crowd, clerks wasted much time and every one became disgusted. If the army can't run a retail store efficiently, why not let the retailers run it and get the army men in the fighting? Or doesn't Mr. James Byrnes think this advisable? RAMON.

THE FAMILY'S PRIVILEGES.

Oak Park, Ill., Jan. 20.—For some time the all-high moguls in Washington have been ranting and raving about the things they would have to do to help the railroads if people did not voluntarily curb unnecessary travel. Now we read about a trip from Hollywood to Washington by the present wife of one of the sons of the President, just to be present at the 20 minute inaugural ceremony. Surely there is nothing essential about that trip.

WHY THE SHOUTING?

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Why all the hubbub about a dog, three service men, and an airplane?

GENTLEMEN'S AGREEMENT.

Van Wert, O., Jan. 17.—The attitude taken in British circles that Hitler should not be tried and executed—but rather exiled, as was Napoleon—is enlightening to us of the common herd or the cannon fodder class.

It is closely related to the failure of the Germans to bomb Buckingham palace [except one small bomb by accident] or No. 10 Downing st.; the American failure to bomb the imperial palace in Tokyo; and the allied failure to disturb Berchtesgaden.

Slowly we are learning the rules of the game. Regardless of which side they are on, the leaders are sacred. There is no open season on them—theirs not to do and die—theirs not even to let the dead know why!

The imperial palace and Berchtesgaden are safe! Why? Shhhh—because they might retaliate and some one important might get hurt!

THE COAL OUTLOOK.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—Congratulations on the splendid article regarding coal by Philip Hampson in your Jan. 12 issue. The article gives a very clear picture regarding the 1945 coal outlook.

In the heading of the article, "Predict Mines Cannot Meet 1945 Coal Need," I wish some other word could be substituted for "cannot," because even tho it has been a struggle, and may be again, the coal industry has never failed to meet the fuel requirements of the nation. The real problem has been, and undoubtedly will continue to be, the shortage of labor in the mining, transportation, and delivery by trucks. HOMER D. JONES.

MERRIWELL FAN.

Menomonee Falls, Wis., Jan. 18.—Your editorial "The Merriwells" recalled to my mind a flood of memories. As I recall it, these magazines were weeklies at first and later there was also a monthly magazine. The boys of our neighbor next door always bought these publications and they were always kind enough to let me read them and I read my share of them. It may interest you to know that years later, when one of the boys from whom I borrowed these magazines got married, he named one of his boys Merriwell.

2 ILLINOIS YANKS NAMED IN GIRL SLAYER'S NOTES

Find Dancer Kept Books on Love Affairs.

BY JAMES SLOAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 24.—Several Chicagoland men as well as Paratroop Pvt. Karl Hulten of Boston, Mass., had their moments in the romance packed life of Mrs. Elizabeth Jones, 18, a British strip tease dancer. The girl and Hulten are under sentence to hang for the holdup murder of a London taxi driver.

The glamor crazed girl had many men friends and kept a carefully indexed ledger of her love affairs, it was disclosed today. Listed among a parade of American soldiers, of whose love letters the widow kept a graphlike tally, were a Chicago lieutenant and an Illinois colonel. Many others were listed from the midwest and most of the other 48 states.

Jealous of Hulten.

The girl had met many of these soldiers while doing her dances at shady London night clubs and bottle parties, and in dance halls where she had been a hostess.

Tho she had many other men friends it was jealousy of Hulten that goaded her into informing on him. After she learned he had picked up another girl during their six day affair she told police after her arrest of the shocking tour of crime which she had undertaken with Hulten.

This, she was reported to have said, included raids on West End stores, the loot of which netted Hulten $800, and sadistic attacks on at least two girls. One was a cyclist whom Hulten ran down with a stolen United States army truck, then beat with his fists and a crowbar, Mrs. Jones told police.

Another girl victim was a hitchhiker who had accepted a ride in the stolen truck. Mrs. Jones held the girl while Hulten beat, stripped, and assaulted her, police said the dancer confessed. The girl then was thrown into a river and only narrowly escaped drowning.

The crime tour continued even after the slaying of a cab driver when the couple attempted to strip a valuable fur coat from a woman in the heart of West End. They fled, however, when a policeman appeared.

Wears Stolen Coat.

When arrested Mrs. Jones was wearing the coat stolen from the hitch-hiker. Clothing from the hitch-hiker's suitcases was found in the dancer's room.

The trial of Hulten and the dancer, the first of an American soldier with a British girl on a murder charge, almost pushed the war out of London's tightly rationed newspapers. Column after column was devoted to sensational accounts of the trial daily, and this morning's papers carried almost full page spreads of the pair's conviction yesterday.

The British Broadcasting corporation, it was reported, tomorrow will broadcast a dramatization of the trial to France. The broadcast will be based on a script written by dramatists who attended the trial and will be carried on the "English Institutions" program.

MARTYRS' CROSS TRIBUNE PHOTO SHOW FAVORITE

A color photograph of the Cross of the Martyrs, at Santa Fe, N. M., is the most popular picture in The Tribune color studio's exhibit of 150 photographs, on display thru March 15, in the Chicago Historical society museum, Clark st. at North av.

Up to last night, approximately 7,500 persons had seen the display, which was opened to the public a week and a half ago. Among yesterday's visitors were 30 members of the Colonial Coverlet guild.

The photograph of the cross, a study in mountains and sunsets, has replaced a picture of a New England boiled dinner as the favorite by informal tally.

In second place is a color photograph of William S. Hart, actor in western movies in the days of silent films. Several visitors praised pictures of Wheaton countryside scenes as "just like oil paintings."

Admission to the museum is free except on Sunday, when the charge is 30 cents for adults. Hours are 9:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. daily and 1 p. m. to 6 p. m. Sunday.

Yanks in China Given Relief Supplies, Japs Say

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The Japanese Domei news agency said yesterday that the vessel Hoshi-Maru, which left Moji, Japan, on Jan. 8 with a cargo of relief supplies for United States prisoners of war in occupied China, had completed its mission.

SEIZE 7 IN THEFT OF MEAT BEING SENT TO TROOPS

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 24 [Special].—The theft of 18,000 pounds of choice government owned beef and lamb intended for the Yanks fighting overseas—a shipment valued at $12,000 and representing more than 255,000 red ration points—was disclosed today by the FBI with recovery of the meat and arrest of seven men.

In announcing the arrests, Chief FBI Agent Nat Pieper said his men and local authorities worked thruout the night to prevent the meat reaching black markets.

The government had contracted for a total of 64,000 pounds of meat to be delivered aboard a merchant vessel. Ship stewards signed receipts showing the whole amount was received, but only 46,000 pounds reached the vessel yesterday, Pieper said. The remaining 18,000 pounds was hauled away to cold storage in trucks, he reported.

Two ship stewards were among the seven arrested. One was seized in an empty truck as it was leaving Millbrae. A truck driver and four restaurateurs were the others arrested.

WOMAN ROBBED IN HER TAVERN.

SLED CARRIES BOY TO DEATH BENEATH AUTO

William E. Hughes, 14, of 4222 Carey st., East Chicago, Ind., was killed last night when his sled carried him beneath the wheels of an automobile in East Chicago. The boy; his brother, Robert, 12, and two other playmates were sledding down the iced steps of the Columbus dr. overpass into Kennedy av. and failed to see the approaching car. The driver was Charles F. Rodgers, 55, Negro, of 3733 Butternut st., East Chicago. He was not held.

Michael Palmer, 19, of 1250 Hoffman st., Hammond, Ind., was injured fatally yesterday when struck by a hit and run motorist in 150th st., Hammond. His body was found by two passing motorists, Charles Pine of Crete and Sol Beam of 4938 Oak st., Hammond, about 50 feet from a bus stop. The youth was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Palmer.

Timothy Heineman, 3, was critically injured yesterday when run over by the truck of his father, Arthur Heineman, in front of their home in McAree rd., Waukegan. The child was taken to St. Therese hospital there.

VOTE TO INDICT ATTENDANT IN HOSPITAL DEATH

The grand jury was reported to have voted a true bill yesterday charging murder against Stanley Gorski, 66, an attendant at the Chicago State hospital [Dunning], in connection with the death Jan. 18 of Reuben Washington, 70, of 3609 Federal st., Negro patient.

A coroner's jury had ordered Gorski held to the grand jury on a manslaughter charge. Assistant State's Atty. Clement Cody said that other attendants had testified that they saw Gorski twist a towel around the Negro's neck and kick him.

The jury also is investigating the death at the hospital of James McNeil, 69, a patient, on Nov. 19. His daughter, Mary, charged that her father was beaten to death.

MURDER CHARGE SLATED TODAY IN HAMMOND DEATH

Robert Radich, 43, of 849 Summer st., Hammond, Ind., whose wife, Lula, 30, died in St. Margaret's hospital, Hammond, after being found with a fractured skull at the foot of the basement steps in the Radich home Jan. 11, will be charged with murder today, Capt. Sandor Singer of the Hammond police said last night.

This decision, Capt. Singer said, was reached after the husband responded unsatisfactorily to a lie detector test yesterday at the Dunes Park state police barracks at Chesterton, Ind.

Radich was removed to the Lake county jail at Crown Point. He told police that his wife fell down the stairs accidentally.

GAS STATION ROBBER GETS 20 TO 30 YEARS

Lester A. Samman, 45, was sentenced to 20 to 30 years in prison yesterday by Judge John Prystalski in Criminal court on his plea of guilty to a charge of robbery.

Two co-defendants received lighter sentences. They were Edward W. Bautz, 24, fined $200 and sentenced to two years in the Bridewell, and Miss Leona Bell, 41, one year to 18 months in the women's reformatory at Dwight.

Samman was charged with the robbery and shooting of Gilbert Guertin Nov. 24 in Guertin's gasoline station at 5240 Broadway. The two others were accused of plotting the robbery.

Assistant State's Atty. Edmund Grant recommended lesser sentences for Bautz and Miss Bell because of their testimony against Samman, which caused him to change his plea during a jury trial to guilty. Samman's sentence was said to be one of the stiffest ever imposed in Criminal court on a robbery charge.

F. D. R. REJECTS RESIGNATION OF MISS PERKINS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—Secretary of Labor Perkins, whose administration has been under fire by labor leaders and congressmen most of the time since she was named to the cabinet post by President Roosevelt in 1933, will remain in the cabinet indefinitely, her office said today.

Reports that President Roosevelt orally rejected her resignation last Saturday—the fourth term inaugural day—and then sent her a letter over the week-end asking her to stay on, were confirmed by a spokesman at her office. He said Mr. Roosevelt's letter did not specify how long he desired her to remain.

Mrs. Perkins was state labor commissioner of New York for 13 years before she was appointed to the cabinet post. She frequently has been reported as desiring to resign, but President Roosevelt has retained her, preseumably because the leaders of the AFL and CIO cannot agree upon her successor.

L. B. SHERMAN, RAIL MAGAZINE PUBLISHER, DIES

Lucius Booth Sherman, 81, of 575 Sheridan rd., Winnetka, retired vice president of the Simmons-Boardman Publishing company, publishers of railway industry magazines, died yesterday in Presbyterian hospital. For many years he was on the executive committee of the Railway Supply association and a director of the National Railway Appliance association, and in 1925 he was a delegate to the international railway congress in London. He was a member of the Union League and Indian Hill clubs. He is survived by two sons, L. B. Sherman Jr., in the navy, and Stuart, and two brothers, Roger, former president of the Illinois Bar association, and Dr. P. L. Sherman, who is interned by the Japanese in the Philippines. Services will be held in the home at 4 p. m. tomorrow.

In Memoriam

AHERN—Irving T. Ahern. In loving memory of my dear son, who passed away Jan. 25, 1933.
In that great cloister's stillness and seclusion,
By guardian angels led,
Safe from temptation, safe from sin's pollution,
He lives, whom we call dead.
MOTHER, SISTERS, AND BROTHERS.

BORGE—A. G. Borge. In fond memory of our loving husband and father, who passed away one year ago today, Jan. 25, 1944.
DEVOTED WIFE AND FAMILY.

LIPPERT—Harry G. Lippert.
You said there's a star up in heaven
For every soul that has left this earth,
The measure its brightness is given
In the measure of that soul's worth.
Tonight when stars are gleaming
I know what I will do,
Pick the brightest one that's beaming
And say in my heart it is you.
LOVING WIFE, ASTRID.

MARZANO—Marie Valentine Marzano. In loving remembrance of my dearly beloved wife, who passed away 25 years ago today, dearly beloved mother of Dr. Vincent V. Jr. and George B., and dearly beloved daughter of Mrs. George B. Valentine. To live in the hearts of those we love is not to die.
DR. VINCENT MARZANO.

NELSON—Mrs. Goldie Nelson, who passed away one year ago today.

HUNT DEATH GUN UNDER RIVER ICE AT MINNEAPOLIS

Bottle Containing Bullets Found on Bridge.

BY ORVILLE DWYER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 24.—Search for the gun with which gangsters last Monday night killed Arthur Kasherman, 43, editor of an intermittently published expose and scandal sheet, late today centered on the muddy bottom of the Mississippi river.

This developed when a medicine bottle containing a dozen .38 caliber bullets was found on the 3d av. bridge. The bullets were turned over to the police department, which was a principal target of Kasherman's newspaper attacks. The bullets in the bottle are similar to the two which killed Kasherman. They will be subjected to ballistics tests.

Almost directly below the spot where the bullets were discovered, a small hole was found in the river ice. Police Chief Elmer Hilner and County Atty. M. J. Dillon assigned men to enlarge the hole in the ice and search the river bottom for the gun.

Bullets Fail to Clear.

James Mullen and Clarence E. McLasky, inspector and captain of detectives, respectively, said both gun and bullets apparently had been thrown from a passing car at the same time, but that the bullets had failed to clear the railing.

Other developments today:

1. Detectives in a second search of Kasherman's apartment, where he lived under the name of Rex Rice, found 10,000 copies of the latest edition of his Public Press, a tabloid size newspaper, in which he attacked Mayor Marvin L. Kline and the police department.

2. The Minneapolis central labor union, and the Hennepin CIO council asserted officially that the killing of Kasherman had behind it the same sinister forces and motives responsible for the murders of two other Minneapolis editors, Howard Guilford, slain in 1934, and Walter Liggett, machine gunned Dec. 9, 1935.

Resolutions introduced at the two union meetings said the Kasherman slaying "is undoubtedly another link in the chain of murders of Howard Guilford and Walter Liggett . . . and indicates the powerful influence of the underworld in our city and the extent to which the underworld's tentacles reach into the city hall."

Extensive inquiry disclosed that many persons regard Mayor Kline as a liberal public official, giving the city the type of administration it demands.

Political observers, lawyers, and businessmen, however, said that several men with sinister forces behind them long have had greedy eyes on the mayor's chair and would go to any lengths to wrest it from Kline or any other man sitting there.

Hint of Double-cross.

It was suggested that some of these forces dealing with Kasherman, in an effort to discredit the city administration and police force, had him killed because of some double-cross among them.

The 10,000 copies of Kasherman's December dated "Public Press" found hidden in his kitchen, lent credence to this theory. Only a few hours before his death, Kasherman, in the city hall was heard to be talking about "new money" behind his publication. Possibility that a dispute over this money between Kasherman and his supporters ended in his death was not overlooked.

A Kasherman safety box in a local bank was opened today by officials and 10 envelopes found. Nine were empty. The 10th contained five $20 bills.

County Atty. Dillon announced tonight that Pearl Von Wald, 34, the woman with Kasherman when he was slain, had been subjected to a lie detector test which completely absolved her of any suspicion of complicity in the killing.

The first question asked her was: "Did you put Arthur Kasherman on the spot Monday so he would be killed?" She unhesitatingly replied "No," and in every instance answered truthfully and calmly the questions put to her, the prosecutor said.

Saw Editor's Car Trailed.

Dillon also disclosed that authorities had found witnesses who had seen an unlighted car, similar to the one from which the fatal shots were fired, follow Kasherman's automobile when he drove from the city hall to the restaurant from which he emerged with Miss Von Wald at the time he was shot.

The September-October grand jury, on whose report Kasherman based much of his last attack on Mayor Kline, was headed by Oscar A. Gravrock, an insurance man. Gravrock said this jury, as a part of its investigation, visited gambling establishments and saloons which remained open after they were supposed to be closed. The jury's conclusions:

First, the police are either stupid or inefficient, or second, somebody is getting paid, or third, the police are told to lay off on orders of "higher ups."

Except for the former wide open prostitution, conditions in Minneapolis at this moment have not been much affected by the Kasherman killing. Gamblers and racketeers elsewhere generally admit that such a happening usually brings so much "heat" that at least a temporary shutdown is necessary. This is not the case in Minneapolis.

One of the biggest dice games in the city went on as usual last night. Many of the taverns and night spots stayed open after hours. Slot machines, pinball games, and other such activities received generous patronage.

Open prostitution has been largely stopped, but this is not attributed to city police activity. The army and navy are given credit for that. They have closed every vice resort they were able to find and the girls now must either do some exceedingly cautious street walking or maintain quiet, outlying individual flats.

Ordered Held

Peter Boulahanis, ordered held in the slaying of Michael Dooman, as he appeared at the inquest into Dooman's death. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

A coroner's jury yesterday recommended that Pete Boulahanis, 33, a tavern owner, be held to the grand jury on a charge of murdering Mike Dooman, 37, a small time racketeer, who was shot to death early New Year's morning in a tavern at 938 Belmont av.

Corp. J. P. Henry.

Boulahanis was identified by Corp. John P. Henry, 20, a marine stationed at the Congaree air base, Columbia, S. C. Henry said he heard the shooting, then saw Boulahanis walk to the front door. Boulahanis, who was handcuffed to police at the inquest, grinned weakly as the marine identified him. He refused to testify.

Police have attributed Dooman's murder to a fight for control of a Greek dice game called barboute.

Wife Sues Jack Oakie for Divorce Second Time

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 24 (AP).—Movie Comedian Jack Oakie today was sued for divorce a second time by Mrs. Venita Oakie. She charged mental cruelty. Mrs. Oakie, the former Venita Varden of the screen, won an interlocutory divorce decree in 1938, but a reconciliation followed.

COLUMBUS DAM CLEARED, WATER FAMINE EASED

Columbus, O., Jan. 24 [Special].—A water shortage in this capital city of 320,000, which had threatened a complete industrial shutdown, was relieved tonight by an emergency clearing of ice and debris from a dam on the city's river reservoir.

Firemen lowered over the dam with ropes and ladders removed a large amount of frozen fish, tree limbs, ice, and other debris to permit a flow of water estimated at 60,000,000 gallons daily, more than the city's needs.

Tho this work freed the water clogged in the reservoir, the insufficient supply there due to last year's drouth conditions and no melting of recent heavy snows still deprived the city o its normal supply. Mayor James A. Rhodes warned that the critical shortage "was not solved by any means" and that use of water by nonessential industries still must be curtailed.

The released supply was enough to permit the scheduled reopening of the $30,000,000 Curtiss-Wright plant tomorrow morning. The big factory, which turns out Helldiver bombers for the navy, closed at noon today when water pressure failed.

Frederick H. Weed, chief of the water supply section of the war production board's office of war utilities, was en route here by plane to assist in the emergency and determine which of the city's numerous war plants would have to close if such drastic curtailment became necessary.

With supplies reduced 50 per cent last night, many homes in high sections of the city were without water. Mayor Rhodes appealed to home owners to postpone baths and laundering, flush toilets only once daily for each member of a family, and keep faucets from leaking.

He asked about 100 firms to suspend use of all water possible. Among these were hotels, newspapers, department stores, laundries, milk and dairy companies, educational institutions, the Ohio penitentiary, and industrial plants.

West High school suspended classes at noon today and city and state offices closed in midafternoon. The Pennsylvania railroad borrowed water from the Norfolk and Western, which takes its supply from Alum creek.

City officials observed that a good thaw or a rain would melt the heavy snows lying in the Scioto river watershed and fill the city's two large reservoirs with plenty of water. But tho the mercury neared 30 degrees today, forecasts of 20 degree temperatures gave scant hope of a thaw.

Husband Slayer Freed of Manslaughter Charge

Justice of the Peace Joseph Glewartowski of Calumet City yesterday dismissed a charge of manslaughter against Mrs. Frances Miles, 47, of 3301 Union av., Steger, who shot and killed her husband, Perley, 49, last Dec. 7. A coroner's jury found last month that the shooting was justifiable homicide in self-defense.

PASTOR POINTS PERIL IN ARMY TRAINING PLAN

Fear lest post-war conscription might be for purposes other than military was expressed yesterday by the Rev. R. W. Hahn in his annual report of the student service commission at the 11th annual conference of student pastors of the Lutheran church, Missouri synod, in Hotel Sherman.

Pointing out that military training had been among the curricular activities in peace time at land grant colleges, the Rev. Mr. Hahn said the absolute necessity of a year's compulsory military training for all, and apart from the campuses, should be decided by strategists and diplomats.

"But a program of youth training, with purposes other than military, is manifestly fascistic and has no place in our democracy," he said.

SUSPECT IN NAVY; CASE ENDS.
Charges of petty larceny against Alex Hardie Jr., 18, of 5636 S. Troy st., who was arrested while carrying jewelry valued at $150, were dismissed yesterday by Judge Joseph Drucker in Boys' court. Hardie has enlisted in the navy.

Opening lead: King of diamonds.

The slogan, "Never signal with an honor," is a heritage from the days of whist, and like most of its contemporaries is only half a truth. A better way to state the principle is, "Never signal with a card that might cost a trick." Naturally, in many cases signaling with an honor will cost a trick, but where there is no such danger you may signal with any card that suits your taste. Where, for example, against a suit contract, your partner leads the king, dummy holds queen, seven, six, and you have jack, two, the jack could not possibly win a trick, therefore it is proper to signal. If, however, the dummy had held nine, seven, six it would not be proper for you to signal with the jack because partner might be leading from the king, queen, five, four and your signal would cost a trick.

It follows, therefore, as a matter of simple logic, that if your partner drops the queen on your lead of the king, you are to conclude that he has no more, and rather than set up the remaining cards for your opponent, you should underlead and permit him to ruff a small one instead of cashing your ace.

Today's hand illustrates the point. West opened the king of diamonds and East realized that it would be necessary to cash tricks as soon as possible because the spade suit in dummy would provide numerous discards. He therefore quite properly followed with the queen. The thoughtless Mr. West cashed the ace and continued with a small one. Declarer ruffed, extracted trump, cashing five hearts and five spades in fulfillment of his contract. Even if the queen of diamonds were singleton, cashing of ace had nothing to gain. East wished to convey the distinct impression of having the singleton queen so that his partner would underlead the ace, permitting him to win the second trick in order to lead a club thru declarer's king in time.

It is therefore an axiom of defensive play that when your partner drops a queen on your opening lead of a king you must underlead at trick two.

TOMORROW'S PROBLEM.

Fabric Supply Shift Puzzles Luxury Shops

Managers of Chicago shops carrying higher priced women's garments yesterday said they were confused by the fabric redistribution program announced Tuesday by the war production board and the office of price administration. The order, as outlined by WPB Chairman Krug and Price Administrator Bowles, is intended to rechannel cotton, rayon, and woolen fabrics into the low and medium priced apparel fields in order to increase the supply of "essential" civilian garments and to keep the nation's clothing bill down.

Most dealers in women's exclusive apparel said that the grade of fabrics employed in their merchandise could not be used in cheaper garments and that less expensive materials, such as those employed in work and children's clothes, never have been a factor in the manufacture of finer quality apparel.

"The order should have no direct influence on our type of stock," one shop manager said, "because it concerns chiefly lower ends of crepe and cotton. We already have been informed by manufacturers that the suit woolen situation will be grave next fall."

Another shop reported panic among customers who interpreted the order as forecasting clothing rationing. "Manufacturers already are rationing their output," the buyer said. "They receive just so many yards of woolens and apportion production equally among customers."

None of the shop managers interviewed plans to cease handling higher priced merchandise and and stocking less expensive apparel.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Jan. 24.—Raymond Chandler's original, tentatively called "The Blue Dahlia," is a romance with murder, and is being written for Alan Ladd. Chandler not only wrote "The Big Sleep" but also "Double Indemnity." It will be John Houseman's next for Paramount. . . . Metro bought "Romance of Rosy Ridges" from MacKinlay Kantor for Frank Morgan. No, Rosy isn't a girl's name. It's a post-war story, likening the days after World War II. to days after the Civil war. Jack Cummings will produce. . . . You'll double up when you hear to whom that song "Love" was dedicated.

Alan Ladd. Betty Hutton. June Storey. Frank Morgan.

I'll be helpful—initials are T. D., a rising young player. . . . Gene Autry's leading lady, June Storey, refuses pictures with all other cowboys. She's waiting. . . . Betty Hutton remained in makeup to spend an evening with "Susie Slagle" just to watch Lillian Gish act.

Signs of the Times.

Jack Warner's deal to buy Ida Lupino's house for Joy Ann Page fell thru. Now he's dickering for Hedy Lamarr's. If he gets it, it will put Xavier Cugat right out into the canyon. . . . One of the reasons Hedy moved elsewhere was because she didn't have a phone. Cugie tried six months for one. They finally came to put it in, and he sent them away, saying it was so peaceful not to have a bell ringing night and day. . . . When John Emery's wig blew off on the "Spanish Main" set, he yelled, "Turn off that wind machine—I'm too old to be blowing my top!" . . . Diana Lynn didn't get permission to go on the Eddie Bracken show. Paramount was afraid it would start a precedent. . . . It's costing Linda Darnell moolah to nurse husband Pev Marley. She's turned down two radio shows to remain at his bedside.

Sweet Freedom for Olivia.

Olivia de Havilland won't sign a long termer. She'll free lance so she can pick and choose, and if she doesn't want to work, she won't work. . . . Lela Rogers had quite a showing tonight of dance sequences Ginger Rogers and Fred Astaire have done in their pictures together. It was charming. She had it made for Ginger's Christmas. All her friends were so anxious to see it that Lela set a night. 100 Pounds of Courage.

Mme. Jacques Tartiere, who worked for three years with the French underground, spent a few days here last week with two American flyers whose lives she saved in France. Mme. Tartiere was born in Santa Monica and was formerly a motion picture actress. With her two flyers, she spoke at Lockheed, Douglas, and at air bases at the suggestion of Gen. Arnold. She told some fantastic tales, which will soon come out in book form. At her little farm near Fontainebleau, she worked with peasants in the field. When you look at her hands, you realize she didn't spare herself. They saved 197 boys. One boy had a lip nearly cut off, and she sewed it together again. She says more than 32 per cent of French children have tuberculosis. With the Gestapo everywhere, the French had to bicycle 20 or 30 miles in dead of night to get enough wheat to make bread. If caught with it, it meant certain death. She's made the world her stage. You'll be hearing much more about her as time goes on.

A Few Shorties.

The girls at Earl Carroll's dubbed Bill Goodwin "The Personality" since he's with "The Voice," and go in a body to their broadcast. . . . Leo Gorcey hopes to prove he's not a roughneck. His autobiography is called "I Never Kicked My Mother." . . . Now it's a big producer who's fallen for Lauren Bacall. . . . Spike Jones and his City Slickers, while en route from Salt Lake City to Omaha, did their bit for March of Dimes. Visiting Nurse Service Kept at Pre-War Level

BY GLADYS PRIDDY.

The Visiting Nurse association left no call unanswered and established three treatment centers for orthopedic nursing in 1944, altho operating with a war reduced staff, Miss Mary E. Westphal, superintendent, said in her report at the association's 55th annual meeting yesterday.

With a staff of 118 as compared to 134 in 1943, the association made 275,169 visits to 33,734 patients last year, Miss Westphal told members of the board and auxiliary at the meeting in the Blackstone hotel.

She said the extra duties left the staff no leaves for professional study, but that arrangements had been made for night classes. The V. N. A. also noted the epidemic count of 998 cases of poliomyelitis in 1943 and in January, 1944, established classes and demonstrations in orthopedic nursing for the entire staff. A total of 2,207 orthopedic treatments were given in 1944, she stated.

If the V. N. A. could have a hand in post-war planning, the nurses probably would ask for better housing, Miss Westphal indicated, and, in explanation, described the difficulties of teaching good health practices when, to cite one instance, a nurse may find 16 individuals living in a four room flat.

Miss Naomi Donnelley was elected 14th president of the association to succeed Mrs. Joseph T. Ryerson. Other officers elected include Mrs. Selim W. McArthur and Mrs. George A. Poole Jr., first and second vice presidents; Mrs. Frank D. Mayer and Mrs. John P. Bent, recording and corresponding secretaries, respectively, and Mrs. John B. Drake and Mrs. Bennet B. Harvey, treasurer and assistant treasurer.

Mrs. Ryerson presided to award four pins for five years of service and three pins for 10 years to members of the nursing staff. Mrs. John A. Holabird received a token in recognition of her 111 hours of service in the auxiliary in the last year.

3 OLD AMERICAN FAVORITES
Raised to New Flavor Heights!

To add a wealth of lively flavor to ordinary MEAT LOAF, extra richness to SPAGHETTI, use HEINZ CREAM OF TOMATO SOUP! Served as a dish by itself, it's truly the cream of tomato soups!

1 For better SOUP

JUST ABOUT the first thing everybody notices when they taste Heinz Cream of Tomato Soup is its extra-rich, extra-creamy texture! They're equally enthusiastic about the real tomato flavor. Only vine-ripened "Aristocrat" tomatoes and rich heavy cream could account for such full-bodied goodness. And Heinz Cream of Tomato is expertly seasoned—as are all Heinz Condensed Soups. You'll like it served alone—or in quick thrifty sauces!

2 For better MEAT LOAF

Combine an 11-oz. tin Heinz Cream of Tomato Soup (undiluted), ½ cup Heinz India Relish, ¼ cup finely chopped onion, 1 tablespoon Heinz Worcestershire Sauce and 1 tablespoon flour. Cook until thoroughly heated. Serve hot over meat loaf, Salisbury steak or hamburgers.

You'll Need—One 11-oz. tin Heinz Cream of Tomato Soup, Heinz India Relish, onion, Heinz Worcestershire Sauce.

3 For better SPAGHETTI

Sauté ½ cup chopped onion in 3 tablespoons bacon drippings. Add ½ lb. ground beef and brown. Add an 11-oz. tin Heinz Cream of Tomato Soup, 1½ cups water, 1½ teaspoons salt, dash pepper. Cover. Simmer 30 minutes. Serve over ¾ lb. spaghetti, cooked and drained. Sprinkle with sharp cheese. Serves 8.

You'll Need—Onion, ½ lb. ground beef, one 11-oz. tin Heinz Cream of Tomato Soup, ¾ lb. spaghetti, Parmesan or sharp cheese.

Chicago Navy Officer Tells of Skiing in Iran

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE war has its lighter moments for service men stationed in far overseas posts who, in what spare time they might have, attempt to continue or to find substitutes for favorite diversions. Lt. Everett L. Millard Jr. of the naval reserve was able to indulge in his favorite sport of skiing while in Iran, and his Chicago friends are interested in reading his account of the sport there as published in the current issue of Ski Illustrated.

Called "Teheran Skis," the article discloses how Teheran skiers gather early in the morning in crunching snow on the street corners of that city waiting for a ski bus to take them up the mountainside to Lash-Karek pass. The road parallels an ancient caravan trail, and the bus sometimes passes a camel train. The king and queen of Iran are enthusiastic skiers, Lt. Millard says, and often come to the pass for a day of sport, while the Persian girls in their "simple, chic ski togs look like school or college girls in anybody's language."

Language was the pitfall of Lt. Millard's skiing experiences there. Unable to speak Persian, he exchanged ski lore with local residents in French thru a friendly interpreter. Lt. Millard also related that Walter Stope has sent plans of his ski tows at Wilmot Hills, Wis., to the officers of the Alborz club, one of two ski clubs in Teheran, as a tow is needed at the pass. Lt. Millard, a member of Chicago's Snow Chase club, has spent many hours on the slopes at Wilmot.

Arizona Notes.

Lt. Millard's mother, Mrs. Millard, and two other Highland Parkers, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Harmon, are on holidays in completely different surroundings, at the San Marcos hotel in Chandler, Ariz. Sounding almost like a page out of the Arabian Nights in these days of shortages of everything from transportation to service is the description of that desert resort from our correspondent there.

"A comfortable old world hotel," he writes, "verdant gardens, fragrant citrus which delights the eye and nose at once, an excellent golf course a short iron shot from the hotel, cuisine unexcelled, and a corps of Koreans to keep the place neat and shining, all serve to make the San Marcos the sort of place that Sewell Avery would choose for respite after a go-around with the government—which is exactly what the executive has been doing for the past fortnight."

There are many other Chicagoans enjoying Arizona sunshine at the resort, among them Mr. and Mrs. Arch W. Shaw of Winnetka, who are back at the hotel for their 23d season; Mrs. Raymond E. Durham, Mrs. Walter A. Strong, Arthur G. Cable, Phillip R. Clarke, Oliver M. Knode, Mr. and Mrs. J. Horton Fall Jr., Herbert W. Sanborn, the William N. Lanes and their daughter, Mrs. Robert French, and the Thomas Gatkes of Oak Park.

Wedding News.

In a quiet ceremony yesterday Mrs. Edna Bunte Bernerd of New York and California became the bride of Fred L. Mandel Jr., of Highland Park. Only the bridegroom's brother, Col. Leon Mandel, and Mrs. Mandel and the bride's sister, Mrs. Jack Cribbin of New York, were present. Mr. Mandel and his bride are at home in his Highland Park house.

From Mrs. Charles Daniel Peacock III. comes the news that her mother, Mrs. Bruce Potter Smith, will be married to C. Daniel De Barry Saturday in St. Ita's church. The ceremony will be followed by a wedding breakfast in the Edgewater Beach hotel for relatives and close friends. Mrs. Smith, who, like her fiancé, is a Chicagoan, will be attended by Mrs. Carl A. Moore Jr., and Julian De Barry will be his father's best man. After a six week trip to Florida, Mr. De Barry and his bride will live on the near north side.

The chapel of the Fourth Presbyterian church was the scene of the marriage at 4:30 p. m. last Saturday of Miss Hilogene Davis to Lt. [j. g.] Herbert S. Gay Jr. of the naval reserve, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gay of Llewellyn Park, West Orange, N. J. The bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Davis of Portland, Colo., gave a reception following in the Drake hotel.

The bride was graduated from Northwestern university and Lt. Gay, whose mother is a former Chicagoan, received his degree from Williams college. He and his bride are at home in the Pearson hotel while Lt. Gay is instructing at the naval reserve training school at Northwestern university.

Engagement News.

Lt. and Mrs. Robert Meade Smith of Haverford, Pa., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Eleanor Pope Smith, to Lt. Alan Rogers Johnston of the naval reserve, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Johnston of the Moraine hotel, Highland Park, formerly of Glencoe.

Miss Smith was graduated from the Agnes Irwin school in Philadelphia and from Bryn Mawr college and has been pursuing a business

Matching Spring Hat and Bag

Dramatic matching hat and bag set made of belting ribbon, in new copperish color called Russian leather, to accompany spring suits. Youthful, high crowned cloche is trimmed with white braid. Set designed by Hattie Carnegie.

Belting Ribbon to Be Popular on Accessories

BY REA SEEGER.

Faced with increased shortages, the bag and hat makers have fashioned spring models of belting ribbon, a material so far not needed by the military forces. You'll see some of the smartest costume accessories made of this wearable, decorative material, in all colors and in such varied sizes and shapes as to rival anything in seasons when all kinds of fabrics were plentiful.

Trim, smart belting ribbon comes in many widths, and tho used almost exclusively for the first mid-season hats in former years, it now is used for anything the enterprising designers can turn out. No less a designer than Nettie Rosenstein uses belting ribbon in swish, swank ruffled lapels, both in suit jackets and in slim daytime dresses of crepe. These complicated revers are tremendously effective, as they provide contrast in fabric texture as well as a sharp, crisp outline to winged lapels—a trick, incidentally, that couldn't be achieved with any other material of less crisp quality. Coats of soft wool also boast insets and applique motifs of this ribbed material.

Stunning spring handbags, large, medium, or small, are made of belting ribbon, in street shades and brilliant color, a wide assortment ready for accent duty with spring clothes. Pert, small hats, ideal in silhouette for wear with winter coats of fur or fabric and later with slim street suits, also have vivid color. Some flaunt such unusual trim as braid in contrast color, some have rick rack, and some soutache. Others are made in the demure little sailor model with shallow brim in round ingenue manner with a narrow band and bow. All the smartest new accessories come made of belting ribbon, smooth and neat, ideal loot for the first spring wardrobe.

Thru the Looking Glass

It's a great mistake to carry over into the 40s the makeup habits of the 20s. As women mature they should adopt certain tricks of makeup that tend to give their faces a more youthful life.

One of the most important of these is the placement of rouge. It should be applied, ever so carefully, high on the cheek bones and close to the eyes, never brought down below the nose. When you do draw it down you give the whole face a downward shadow that increases the very illusion of "droop" that the middle aged woman should make every effort to avoid.

And, if your skin is coarsening in texture as you get older—it usually does—be sure that if you err in the choice of a powder shade you err on the side of too dark a tint rather than picking one that's too light. As a matter of fact, many women find that using less instead of more powder as they get older is a flattering makeup secret.

If your eyebrows arch down very definitely at the temples get busy with your tweezer. Don't go wild, but do "lift" the line at the outer eye corners to defeat that additional bit of droop that you can't afford.

Hair arrangement is vitally important. Ninety-nine times out of a hundred the mature woman will look younger and crisper if the side line of her hair is up instead of down. The lovely smooth crowned fashion, with hair falling down at the sides, is charming for the very young girl, but it is murder for her mother when mama's chin and face contour is beginning to slide.

And watch out for the blatant, hard reds in lipsticks. Something softer is usually better for the woman who is frankly middle aged.

'Lucia' to Open Met's Season Here April 30

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

The Metropolitan Opera association of New York opens its spring engagement in the Civic Opera house Monday evening, April 30, with Donizetti's "Lucia di Lammermoor, starring Lily Pons. This is the first of seven performances, which may be extended to 10 if the theater can adjust previous arrangements with "One Touch of Venus," scheduled to open April 1, with Mary Martin as the goddess who devastated Broadway.

The engagement is by invitation of the Chicago Opera company, and is part of an extended tour being coördinated for the Metropolitan by S. Hurok, veteran impresario of ballet, concert, and opera fame, who said that the usual visits to Boston, Baltimore, Cleveland, and Chicago will be augmented by trips to St. Louis, Minneapolis, Milwaukee, and possibly Des Moines, if transportation permits. This all fits in with Edward Johnson's plan to make the Metropolitan a national opera company, which might grow into an organization that can keep singers, orchestra players, and dancers employed 52 weeks a year.

As usual, the Metropolitan will take most of its settings from our warehouse, tho in the case of Wagner's "Die Meistersinger" it will be returning what it recently borrowed. It will bring its own orchestra of 85 players, its chorus of 95 singers, and a ballet of 50. The repertory, in addition to "Lucia" and "Die Meistersinger," will be chosen from Mozart's "Don Giovanni," Wagner's "Tristan and Isolde," Ponchielli's "La Gioconda," Strauss' "Der Rosenkavalier," with Lotte Lehmann; Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Coq d'Or," revived in English with Emil Cooper conducting; Rossini's "The Barber of Seville," Wagner's "Die Walküre," and Puccini's "La Boheme." All will be given if the 10 performances can be arranged. Conductors and casts will be approximately those of the New York season.

It has been generally understood that the Metropolitan repertory has been chosen not to conflict with Fausto Cleva's plans for the Chicago Opera's season of six weeks, which probably will open Monday night, Oct. 8. Abner J. Stilwell, president of the resident opera, said yesterday that there definitely will be a season, and that a board of directors meeting is scheduled for next Monday to set plans in motion.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

Priority.

Dear Mom: You say I do not write
As much as you would like.
With transportation as it is
I often have to hike
These many blocks to get to work
And thus lose precious time
That I could put to better use
To write you, mother mine.

Today I started earlier
And vowed that I'd do better;
I'd get down to my desk at eight
And type a nice, long letter;
Today the boss came early, too;
He said "I'm glad you're here—
Get set to take a letter now."
So—more the next time, dear!

MAGDA.

How Do I Look?

The Transcription Supervisors' association of New York City has worked out a personality chart for the successful business girl, as follows:

Wearing Apparel.

1. Coat or suit—of conservative cut and color.
2. Dress—modish but not extreme in length of skirt and sleeve and in depth of neckline; even hemline.
3. Accessories—immaculate; free from rip and tear; feminine.
4. Hat—modish and becoming, but not rakish or bizarre.
5. Shoes—clean, straight of heel, conservative. [Fragmentary heels and toes in poor taste.]
6. Jewelry—appropriate to the costume; unobtrusive.
7. Restraining garments—girdle, etc., worn when necessary.

Personal Grooming.

1. Hair—clean, vital, neat, suitably coiffed for day time wear; of natural color.
2. Skin—clean and clear.
3. Brows—following natural lines.
4. Teeth—free from stain.
5. Nails—well tended; free from nicotine or other stain; restrained tinting permissible.
6. Make-up—restricted; suited to day time wear and to one's natural coloring.

Posture.

1. Carriage—body erect; shoulders back.
2. Walk—toes in; step light and springy.
3. Hands—quiet; avoidance of swinging in wide arc on walking.

Turnabout.

And have you heard about the boss who told his wife his secretary didn't understand him? DEE.

Dis and Data.

A head waitress in the grill of a wholesale firm, Elizabeth Clements, has received three citations from the treasury department for selling war bonds. . . . The Rock Island News Digest reports that "a long time ago, when respectable ladies were not supposed to travel alone, railroad conductors were puzzled by large dolls abandoned in the coaches at the end of the run. It developed that ingenious ladies carried these 'infants' in their arms to secure the respect and coöperation of other passengers en route." . . . There is a wife-husband law partnership in California called Austin & Austin. Are there other such firms?

Readers: What Is a Good Date Age for Girls?

BY SHEILA DALY.

[Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune.]

on the SOLID side

It's still an open question. At what age should a girl begin to date? Often, at 16, a gal is something just this side of Lana Turner, and often, at 16, another gal is just one step out of the pigtails-and-pinafore department, content to stay at home night after night, doing her homework and dreaming about Van Johnson. Some smooth girls go out for an occasional coke and movie date at 14; other equally smooth gals don't hit the bright lights till they are 17 and older.

The answer all depends on the girl, the circumstances, and the parents involved. Here are three typical letters from the junior miss department, all from puzzled honeychiles who wonder when they will be old enough to get in there and have fun like the rest of the girls:

"I am 14, and, like all other girls in high school, I would like to go out on dates. I am not outstandingly pretty, just attractive. Last Saturday night my girl friend and I took a walk and we passed some boys on the street. I overheard one of them say, 'Wouldn't you think those girls would have a date on a Saturday night?' Naturally I felt so unhappy I wished I were dead." . . . "I've never gone anywhere with fellows and just don't seem to be popular with them. I am just over 15. I have gone to a few mixed parties and had a wonderful time. Maybe I am still 'green,' but I know many girls my age who go to dances and movies with boys all the time." . . . "A good friend of mine, a boy, told my mother that the fellows at school think I'm a fine girl, but 'too young' to date. I'm 16, have many friends but never go out on dates. Maybe I should flirt more."

And what do you think? Are these gals too young, using the wrong approach, or just worrying too soon? Maybe you know the answer. To pass the information on to girls who are just beginning to date, or are just beginning to wonder why they don't—at what age do you think a girl should date? Send in your opinions, we'll total them up to the "ideal age" and let these gals know whether they are on or off the beam.

'Private Investigator Maclain'.....

By Baynard Kendrick

(Copyright: 1945: By Baynard Kendrick.)

SYNOPSIS: In the sumptuous terrace apartment of Larmar Jordan, novelist, a cocktail party is in session. Capt. Duncan Maclain sits alone with his Seeing Eye dog, Schnucke. He is joined by Sarah Hanley, Larmar's agent. Out on the terrace Sybella Ford, his fiancee, is chatting with Paul Hirst, Larmar's secretary. Troy Singleton arrives. Bob Morse, reporter, tells Maclain he is doing a profile on Larmar, whose wife, Lucia, is charming, and whose latest inamorata is Troy Singleton. Troy insists she received an invitation. Larmar accuses Lucia of sending it for some dramatic purpose. Ellis Brown Mitchell, gun expert, seeks Hirst's aid in cataloging Lamar's gun collection, which Larmar is going to sell. Paul realizes there is something catastrophic to make him dispose of his prize collection. Next day, alone in his apartment, Larmar is studying his financial status, depleted by Troy's demands, when she visits him. As the chimes of Trinity sound, Troy, seated on the terrace, slumps down, shot thru the heart. No one is near. Larmar removes the body to the gun room. Police arrive, summoned by Mrs. Oliver in the apartment above, who heard the shot and saw Larmar carry the body inside. Lucia, accompanied by Bob Morse, returns home. Police find a strange pistol in the privet hedge and a handkerchief caught on a twig close beside it. Larmar admits the pistol is his. When police see blood on his cuff, he is held for murder. Lucia appeals to Capt. Maclain, whom the police try to discourage. Instead he tells them the gun used has a set trigger and suggests they find out who sent the invitation to Troy. Then he calls upon Mrs. Oliver, who is sure no one was there. Lucia finds no escape from the murder charge. She has taken a room in a hotel, but visits the apartment and finds Maclain getting expert advice on guns from Brownie, who is familiar with Larmar's collection.

INSTALMENT XVI.

EXAMINING LARMAR'S GUNS.

Lucia was glad it had grown dark outside. Morbid fascination kept drawing her attention to the terrace doors.

"Larmar already had planned to sell the gun collection," the captain told Lucia. "I got that from Paul. But Brownie's dead against it. He says that it might be sold off piece by piece, but as a collection it wouldn't bring a 10th of its value. Too much income tax and war. However, that isn't what I wanted to know. I wanted information on the pistol that killed Troy."

"You're going to prove it wasn't Larmar's gun?"

"The police have already proved it was. I'm working on an idea so crazy that I hesitate even to confide in you. I talked to Mrs. Oliver upstairs this afternoon. She ran to her window within seconds after that shot was fired. I'm convinced that she saw no one leave the terrace—because there was no one there."

"But somebody shot her, captain. Who was it—if it wasn't Larmar?"

"A man in a tower across the street," said Duncan Maclain. "I hope to prove, with Brownie's help, that Troy was killed by the man who plays the carillon."

Bob Morse dropped in shortly after 9. Bob had always hated murder stories. During many years of newspaper work he had managed to conceal a disturbing streak of sentiment under a slowly growing layer of fat and a carefully cultivated brittleness of manner. He knew that his susceptibility toward other people's troubles had been a definite handicap in his newspaper career.

The whole thing was most discouraging. It had finally driven him to the social suicide of profiles, where the friendship of important figures could be alienated by subtly laying their soft spots bare.

Bob's story for the Globe-Tribune was handled with thoughtful care. Lucia had read it that morning before she consulted Duncan Maclain. She was full of appreciation for the sensitive and understanding way in which Bob had covered her married life with Larmar, yet when he arrived at the apartment she simply said, "Thanks, Bob. Will you have a drink?"

"Not tonight, Lucia. What's new? Did either of you talk to Larmar today?"

"I did, Bob. I had dinner with Sarah Hanley tonight, too."

"Humph," Bob grunted morosely. "Sarah's not so bad. Why do you dislike her so?"

"It's her type. She's one of those dames who's so efficient she irritates me."

"There're times when she makes a lot of sense," said Paul. "She wants Larmar to go on with his book."

"Paul and I were just discussing it."

"I told you so." Bob held up 10 fingers and traced a per cent mark in the air.

Lucia said, "That's not entirely true. We will need the money and nobody else seems to care. At Sybella Ford's suggestion, I retained Capt. Maclain today."

"Maclain? Can I use that? He and his dogs are good copy. What's he working on?"

Lucia started to say what the captain had told her and changed her mind. "You'd better ask him yourself, Bob." She pointed toward the gun room. "He and Brownie are in there."

"I'll take a look." Bob left.

The captain was seated on the table, threading the length of a peculiar looking whip thru one hand. Brownie in a chair beside him was concentrating on a long barreled pistol.

Maclain said, without turning his head, "I was wondering when I got mixed up in this how long it would be before the gentlemen of the press arrived. Come in, Mr. Morse, and sit down."

"I'm not a gentleman. I'm practically a member of the family. Furthermore, I haven't been drinking. How did you knew it was me? Unless the memory of our last conversation is a blank, I have an idea you should associate my presence with an odor of imported gin."

"With footstep light as floating thistle down," Maclain said softly, "and a hand upon my shoulder, soft as drifting flakes of snow."

Bob sighed. "So my footfalls betray me. I've been telling myself for years, 'Look, Pigs Knuckle, it's time for your dieting to begin!'" He leaned closer to examine the long barreled gun and asked "What do you call that thing?"

"It's a lace tree whip from Jamaica," Maclain said. "It's all in one piece, made out of fiber from which the bark has been removed. Look at the butt. It feels like several layers of woven cloth to my fingers but it's still all part of the tree."

"Awkward to shoot a dame with, I'd say."

"O, I take it you're referring to the gun."

Bob said dryly: "Yeah. Is that the one?"

"Scarcely," Brownie put in. "The one, as you call it, is down at police headquarters tagged Exhibit A, but this is very much like it."

Bob took it gingerly.

"It's not loaded," said Brownie. "I've covered enough accidental shootings," Bob told him, "to have heard that one before." He restored the pistol to its velvet box. "Is that part of Larmar's collection?"

"Well, not exactly," Brownie explained. "This is a Stotzer Perfeckt Pistole. Larmar used this and the other one in target matches. This is a .22. Most target pistols are .22s, but the gun which killed the girl was a Buchel which Larmar had had specially made. It was a nine millimeter, a larger bore."

"I want you to take a look at the trigger, Mr. Morse," said Maclain. "You'll notice there're two. Show him, Brownie."

The gunsmith made a quick skilled movement of his hands and said. "I showed the captain this just before you came in. I've cocked this gun. Now I'll pull the rear trigger down."

Morse leaned still closer, listening intently for the click of the hammer fall. Finally he said, "What happened? Has it gone off?"

"The rear trigger doesn't fire it," Brownie explained. "When I pull it, it merely sets the front one. This is a real hair trigger gun with an extremely heavy mainspring and an extremely short hammer fall. It takes a lot of practice to learn to shoot one. You see, I put my index finger very carefully on the edge of this front trigger, but I'm pushing away from it instead of pulling. Now, all I need to do is relax the muscles of my hand."

Lutheran Charities to Discuss Welfare Work Techniques

Technique of welfare work will be discussed tomorrow by representatives from the 23 agencies comprising the Lutheran Charities of Chicago, meeting in the Central Y. M. C. A., 19 S. La Salle st. The speaker at a luncheon will be the Rev. H. F. Wind of Buffalo, N. Y., president of the Associated Lutheran charities. Sectional meetings will follow.

The Rev. Henry J. Whiting, executive secretary of the Lutheran Welfare Society of Wisconsin will be the principal speaker at meeting on child care; the Rev. P. H. Nordlander, superintendent of the Augustana home, will speak on "New Trends in Old Age Care," and the Rev. E. F. Valbracht, St. Luke's church, will preside over the section on hospices which the Rev. Edgar F. Witte will address on "Streamlining Our Hospice Work."

Seminars will be held for social workers and pastoral counselors, and Frank Loomis, executive secretary of the Chicago Community Trust, will speak at a general session at 4 p. m.

Last year's meat production was a record of 25 billion pounds. This year there'll be 2 billion pounds less, according to present predictions. The government is purchasing more than a third of the total production of the meat packing industry, including 50 per cent of pork meeting federal specifications, and 45 per cent of beef.

Few meats are point free. None of the old favorites can be bought without red stamps. This should give us an opportunity to become more versatile in our meat eating and meat cooking.

Ask 10 people what they think of kidneys as a meat dish and you'll probably meet one enthusiast and nine persons who make faces. The nine who sneer at the maligned kidney do so because they were brought up on beef and pork roasts, steaks, and chops, and never learned that kidneys are one of the most savory of dishes, as any real epicure will affirm.

Kidneys cost no points and they're rich in minerals and vitamins. Use them soon after purchase, for they're as perishable as fresh fish.

Scrambled eggs with pork kidneys is a dish recommended for a late Sunday breakfast with or without guests.

Scrambled Eggs with Kidneys.

[Serves four.]

2 pork kidneys
Salt water
Flour for dredging
2 tablespoons bacon fat
Salt, pepper, paprika
4 eggs
¼ cup milk

Cut kidneys in half; remove outer membrane and heavy veins. Soak for an hour in cold salted water [½ teaspoon salt, 1 pint water]. Drain. Add fresh cold water and bring to boiling point. Drain and cool under cold water. Cut into thin slices. Flour lightly and cook slowly in fat for 30 minutes. Season with salt, pepper, and paprika. Remove to platter and scramble eggs with milk in same pan. Serve garnished with parsley.

The French chef sometimes uses champagne in the preparation of kidneys, which certainly indicates his esteem for this kind of meat. I wouldn't recommend such extravagance for the average American family, but if you have a bottle of sherry or madeira on hand, try this chef's way with the kidneys.

Sauteed Kidneys with Wine.

[Serves five.]

5 lamb kidneys
Salt, pepper, margarine
1 cup sherry, madeira or other wine
1 tablespoon meat extract

Wash kidneys and remove outer membranes. Split in half lengthwise. Season lightly and brown gently in margarine. A teaspoonful or more of minced onion may be added at this point. Cover and cook gently about 15 minutes. Remove to a hot serving dish. Pour wine into hot skillet and swirl it about so that it takes up the drippings and meat flavor. Boil until reduced by half, then add the meat extract, stir well, and pour over kidneys which have been kept hot. Serve with hot boiled rice.

This is a dish fit for a President.

$5 PRIZE RECIPE

Marshmallow Sauce.

[Makes two cups.]

1 egg white
¾ cup powdered sugar
½ cup white corn sirup
½ teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon salt

Beat egg white until stiff. Gradually add sugar, continuing to beat with electric mixer or rotary beater. Add corn sirup, vanilla, and salt and beat until fluffy. Good served on spice cake, gingerbread, or ice cream. MRS. C. L. CUTHBERT,

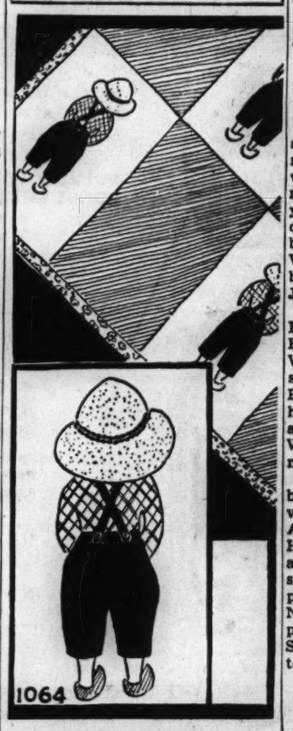
Black Lingerie

It may be the desire of the woman who wears overalls all day long in a war plant to have something feminine to wear off duty, but whatever the reason, black lingerie, lace trimmed, is popular this year. These patterns make a brassiere, panties, and a slip. Style No. 3811 is designed for sizes 34 to 50. Size 36 requires ⅝ yard of 39 inch fabric with ¼ yard contrasting. Style No. 2836 is designed for sizes 14 to 48. Size 36 requires, for slip, 2¾ yards of 39 inch fabric with 1½ yards of lace; panties, 1¼ yards with 1½ yards of lace.

Order Clotilde patterns from Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, NEW YORK CITY. Print name and address; state size. Each pattern is 10 cents, plus 2 cents for mailing.

Quilt Pattern



BY NANCY CABOT.

The "Dutch Boy" applique pattern is ideal for a child's crib cover, curtains, towels, pillow tops, and wall hangings. Scraps from the rag bag may be used for the shirts, and each block may be of a different color. When used for a quilt pattern, the applique and plain blocks may be set together in an alternate arrangement.

For the "Dutch Boy" quilt pattern, No. 1064, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth av., New York 1, N. Y.

U. S. Pamphlet Outlines Child Feeding Advice

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1945: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

If as a nation we did as well for all our boys and girls as we do for the babies, we would have a better-fed, better-nourished lot of youngsters. Unfortunately, such is not the case, says the children's bureau, U. S. department of labor, for far too many in the older group are not well nourished. Much still needs to be done to spread knowledge of good nutrition among all income groups, "for mothers can do better if they know better."

Not all babies, it goes without saying, are properly fed, but, by and large, a better job is done on their behalf. Mothers follow the doctor's orders in feeding them, say the bureau's nutritionists, "and as a consequence the baby is apt to be the best-fed member of the family, the older children and the mother the poorest fed."

Income alone is not the measure of whether or not the children are well fed, the nutritionists add, altho sufficient money to cover food needs is essential. Beyond that minimum, however, much depends upon the skill and knowledge of the mother and her alertness to the child's nutritional needs at every stage of his development.

Helpful advice to mothers in feeding their children from infancy thru adolescence is outlined by the children's bureau in its publication, The Road to Good Nutrition, which has recently been reissued. Chapters are included on infant feeding, food needs in early childhood, and nutrition for school age youngsters. Included, too, is a chapter on pregnancy diets, for what women eat during pregnancy has much to do with the kind of start their babies have in life. A check list which mothers can use to determine whether or not their children are getting sufficient food of the right kinds also is offered.

Single copies of the children's bureau pamphlet, The Road to Good Nutrition [children's bureau publication 270], may be had free upon request to the children's bureau, United States department of labor, Washington 25, D. C. Copies also may be purchased for 10 cents each from the superintendent of documents, United States government printing office, Washington, 25, D. C.; a discount of 25 per cent is given on orders for 100 or more.

High Schools of City Graduating 6,723 in Mid-Year Exercises

Chicago high schools will graduate 6,723 pupils in midyear ceremonies which opened last night and will continue tonight. This is 10 more than were graduated at midyear a year ago. The graduating class at the three junior college branches numbers 131; at Chicago Vocational school, 41; at Washburne Trade school, 35, and at Jones Commercial High school, 58.

Exercises were held last night at Englewood, Farragut, Harper, Hirsch, Lindblom, Parker, Taft, Von Steuben, and Waller High schools and Herzl Junior college. Programs will be held at the other high schools tonight and at Wilson and Wright Junior colleges and Washburne Trade school tomorrow night.

Wilson Frankland, member of the board of education, will address the vocational school graduates, State's Atty. Tuohy will speak at Kelly High school, Frank L. Beals, assistant superintendent of schools, will speak at Spalding School for Crippled Children, and Vernon L. Nickell, state superintendent of public instruction, will speak at Schurz High school in programs tonight.

THE QUESTION.

What is the cause of most of the arguments in your home?

WHERE ASKED.

203 N. Wabash av.

THE ANSWERS.

Alice Huiner, secretary, 1318 S. 61st av., Cicero—I have a younger sister who goes to high school wearing my best skirts and sweaters. She even wore my gold locket when she went swimming. I have another sister who won't let any one touch her clothes. When my little sister wears her clothes there's going to be an argument.

Annabell Madonick, secretary, 4211 W. 14th st.—Mother wakes me up early in the morning when I've gotten to bed late the night before. This makes me furious. "If you got to bed early you wouldn't be tired now," she says. I can't see what difference it makes when I go to bed or when I get up but she sees it differently.

Jeanne Johnson, student, 67 Bellevue pl.—My home at present is one room where I live with a friend. When I'm combing my hair I don't like to have her talk to me because I can't concentrate on what I'm doing. I sometimes get angry and we start arguing. But other than that—everything is in complete harmony.

David Chattin, photographer, 933 E. Marquette rd.—We've only been in Chicago a short while and haven't been able to get a telephone. My wife likes to plan dinner for 7 o'clock. It's a matter of guess work when I'll be home tho. It's never the same time. Much too often I'm a half hour to 40 minutes late. This upsets her.

Rosalie Grossman, receptionist, 3325 N. Paulina st.—We don't agree on clothes I want to buy. I like the latest styles tho sometimes they are impractical. Mother insists on the practical kind. I always take her with me when I go shopping. You can imagine what a time we have trying to agree on anything.

June Pertell, musician, 1216 S. 59th ct., Cicero—Arranging of time is the cause of most of the disputes in our home. My brother works in a war plant and leaves early in the morning. Dad works on the swing shift. I'm a musician, and have no set hours. Mother tries to keep up with all of us, and it's too much for her.

career in New York. Lt. Johnston recently returned from the central Pacific area and is on duty at the naval training center in Miami, Fla. He is a graduate of Phillips Andover academy, Princeton university, and the University of Michigan law school.

Chief Specialist and Mrs. Harry M. Livingston of Great Lakes announce the engagement of their daughter, Joan Yvonne, to Cadet Thomas C. Bailey, son of Capt. and Mrs. C. A. Bailey, also of Great Lakes. Miss Livingston, a graduate of Marshalltown High school, Marshalltown, Ia., is entering Lake Forest college. Cadet Bailey recently returned from two and one-half years of service with the merchant marine in the Pacific and is being graduated this month from the officers' training school for the maritime service at New London, Conn. Capt. Bailey is chief of staff for Adm. Arthur S. Carpender.

On Today's Calendar.

The Arts club will be crowded at noon today when members of the American Friends of Poland gather for a luncheon to hear a talk by Lt. Jan Karski, author of 'Story of a Secret State." Lt. Karski, who has served as liaison officer between the Polish government in England and the Polish underground, will be introduced by Robert Hall McCormick, who will preside at the luncheon. Mr. McCormick, an officer of the French legion of honor, has been nominated as a director of the American society of the French legion of honor, of which the honorary president in Gen. John J. Pershing. The purpose of the society is to further the knowledge of French art and culture in the United States and of American art and culture in France.

Mme. Marcel Garancher, whose husband is head of the French War Veterans' association, will speak at a meeting of the Alliance Francaise this afternoon. Mrs. S. Howard Pattison will preside at the tea table.

Household Forum

By Louise Bargelt

Mrs. Amy B., Peoria, Ill.—To melt chocolate I line the upper part of my double boiler with waxpaper, then put the chocolate in the paper and melt it. When it is ready to remove I take out paper and chocolate and my boiler is clean. Saves on cleaning time.

Edna H., Chicago—I dampen fine blouses the following way: I wet a towel and wring out all the water I can. Then I wrap the blouse in the towel and let it stand about 15 minutes.

Marion B., Springfield, Ill.—When we move our household furniture I tag it. When a basket or a box has been packed I fasten a tag to it, showing the room in which box is to be placed. This is a help in arranging household articles and a big time saver.

Registration Is Opened for A. W. V. S. Classes

Registration for the winter term of the training department of the American Women's Voluntary Services, which will begin the first week in February, now is open at the organization's headquarters, 160 N. La Salle st. Three classes in Spanish, basic, intermediate, and advanced, have been arranged to meet the increasing interest in that language. Lessons in poise, grooming, and posture will be included in the personality building course. Camera enthusiasts will be interested in a new class in photography.

Splendid Cough Relief Is Easily Mixed at Home
No Cooking. Makes Big Saving.
To get quick and satisfying relief from coughs due to colds, mix this recipe in your kitchen. Once tried, you'll never be without it.
First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. A child could do it. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.
Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. This is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well-known for its prompt action on throat and bronchial membranes.
Put the Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This makes a full pint of splendid medicine and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and tastes fine.
And for quick, blessed relief, it is amazing. You can feel it take hold in a way that means business. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and eases the soreness. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you sleep. Money refunded if not pleased in every way.

WILSON'S WEEKLY Bulletin
By George Rector
Food and Nutrition Consultant to Wilson & Co.
HELLO NEIGHBOR!
The art of eating, like music and painting, is a common bond among people of all nations. Most countries put a national stamp on their cookery and today's main dish has the hot spices that are used to season the dishes of our next door neighbor—Mexico.

CHILI CON CARNE—From Across the Border
The new Wilson's Certified (condensed) Chili Con Carne is so easy to prepare. Simply add one pint of liquid (water or vegetable liquid) to the contents of the package. Bring to a boil and simmer for ten minutes, breaking up the sections with a spoon. Add about ½ pound of well-cooked chili beans (about 2 cups cooked) and heat through. Serves 4.
Clip directions here
THE MEXICAN TOUCH
Chili is made for entertaining because it s-t-r-e-t-c-h-e-s to accommodate an extra guest or two. Wilson's Certified (condensed) Chili Con Carne is easy to keep on hand in the refrigerator, takes little time to prepare and you'll find the flavor's to your liking. Look for it at your meat market packed in a red cellophane wrapper (see illustration).
When planning a chili dinner a la Mexican be sure to include green vegetables and plenty of cold milk. Slice a hard cooked Clear Brook Egg over the top of the tossed greens in the salad bowl for extra nutrition and serve a chilled fruit compote with oatmeal cookies for a simple, quick dessert.
Try packing Wilson's Certified Chili in a vacuum bottle as a lunch box surprise. It gives a wonderful "lift" to lunches these cold days.
• • •
Bread on the Bias
Have you ever sliced a loaf of French bread on the bias? Slice it diagonally, not quite through, and for an extra treat spread Wilson's Certified Margarine between each slice. You'll welcome the points saved. Heat in a hot oven a few minutes until the margarine melts and the crust is crisp. It's an attractive addition to your Mexican meal and it's just right for "easy eating."
• • •
EXCELENTE!
Excelente! would be the Mexican exclamation for Wilson's B-V which adds excellent meat flavor to beef, veal, pork and lamb. The reason? B-V is a concentrated blend of rich meat juices and selected vegetable flavors.
Delicious! will be your exclamation when eating food seasoned with B-V, and you'll rejoice when you see your family eating heartily of B-V flavored foods for you know how nutritious B-V is. Yes, it has a high iron content and contains copper, too. So a cup of Wilson's B-V once or twice a day is an excellent help to blood donors and others who need to build up their red blood cells.
Sincerely,
GEORGE RECTOR

SIX 'Y'S' TO BE REPRESENTED IN GOLDEN GLOVES

Enter 15 Boxers in City Sectionals.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Fifteen amateur boxers, representing six branches of the Y. M. C. A. in the metropolitan area, will compete in the Chicago sectional Golden Gloves tournaments which open Monday night at St. Sabina gymnasium, 78th st. and Racine av. All of these boys will report for preliminary physical examination tomorrow night at the C. Y. O. gymnasium, 31 E. Congress st.

These 15 Y. M. C. A. boxers come from the following branches: Maxwell st., Evanston, South Chicago, Oak Park, Irving Park, and Duncan. In addition, Duncan Y. M. C. A. will enter a team of eight boys. All of these lads took part in the tournament held last week at the South Chicago "Y." Several of them won championships, including Harold Morgan, middleweight. The names of the Y. M. C. A. boxers follow:

More Fighters This Year.

Leroy Woodfork, Robert Miller, Ralph A. Snyder, George Muzma, Harold Morgan, Charles Walker, Joseph Cordero, James Shelton, James Rada, Ruben Gamino, Warren Nass, Salvadore Melendez, Fred Winesburg, Robert L. Jackson, and James Ortiz.

One hundred and eight reported at the C. Y. O. last night for their preliminary examinations. With this group, and the C. Y. O. boxers who passed examinations last week, the number eligible for the 1945 sectional tournaments equals that of last year.

Any boy who has received a letter of instruction and a parental consent card may report for the final examination. In several instances, boys were unable to report previously at the time assigned. The parental consent card must be presented, however, to the clerks in charge. The hours are from 6:30 to 8 p. m.

Veteran Announcers on Job.

The south side tournament opens Monday at St. Sabina and will conclude on Tuesday. The north side trials start next Wednesday at Loyola university gymnasium, Loyola av. and Sheridan rd. The finals of the north side matches will be held a week from tomorrow night. Semi-finals are scheduled a week from this evening.

Sectional tournaments start at 7 o'clock and all contestants report for a second physical examination and to be weighed between 4 and 6 p. m. One pound allowance is permitted in each weight class. Admission for all nights at the sectionals is 85 cents.

The same group of announcers, which has assisted in conducting Golden Gloves tournaments for many years, will introduce the boxers at the sectionals next week. The announcers are Frank M. Kalteux, William Kerwin, Leonard J. Sterling, Ted Canty, Chester Coyner, and Sam Abruscato.

EX-SAILOR PASSES TEST

Francis Feid, who was given a medical discharge from the navy last Dec. 5 after serving four years as a coxswain, passed an examination by Dr. W. Lloyd Kenny in C. Y. O. center last night to qualify for competition as an open middleweight in the Loyola tournament.

Feid, 22, lives at 2740 N. Racine av. He was mustered out of the service after action in the South Pacific. He was a former pupil of Waller High school, class of 1939.

Luke Baylark and Joe Lindsay, 1944 city Golden Gloves and Catholic Youth organization heavyweight champions, respectively, were among the 97 passed by the physicians. Lindsay, 20 year old 194 pounder, appeared after work in a steel plant.

Loyola academy will be represented in the north side trials by Billy Roche, light heavyweight, and Le Roy Cordell, welterweight. They are novices and each is 17.

Ten Madison Athletic club representatives, who were escorted to the C. Y. O. by Coach Bob Howard, successfully passed their physical tests. These included Mike Hoban Jr., 16 year old middleweight novice, who is a son of Detective Mike Sr., attached to Town Hall police station; Alex Tsakiris, 17 year old senior at Proviso Township High school, and Anthony Greco Jr., 17 year old junior at Lake View High.

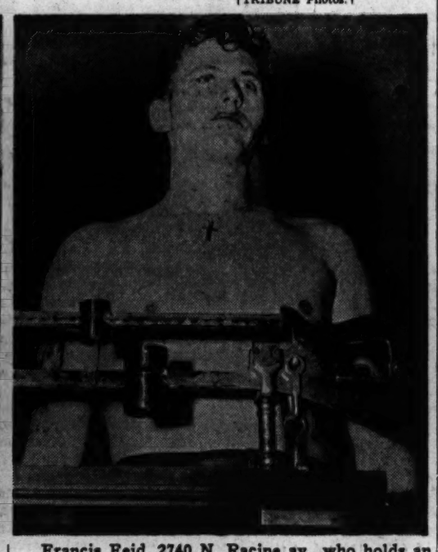
Young Hoban attends De Paul academy, where he played tackle on the football team last season. Tsakiris was a reserve lineman on the Proviso eleven in 1944. Alex, a powerful puncher, resides at 1514 St. Charles rd., Maywood. Greco also is regular guard on the Lakeview junior basketball team.

Oldest candidate to qualify at last night's examinations was Joe Gors of Coulon's gymnasium. Gors, father of two boys, Duane, 9, and Robert, 4, will fight as an open middleweight in St. Sabina. He is an assistant foreman at the Wisconsin steel plant, 106th st. and Torrence av. and first competed in Golden Gloves 13 years ago. He has lost 25 pounds since opening workouts two months ago.

THE FIGHTING COMES LATER, YOUNG FELLOWS!

Eight of the 108 who registered last night in the Catholic Youth organization gymnasium, then took physical examinations for competition in the north and south side sectional Golden Gloves tournaments. Left to right: Richard Brewer, James Mason, Edward Earl, Lee Cordell, John Ciardullo, Charles Rascher, Ray Sangan, Don Lonergan. Seated, left to right: Otis Taylor, Arthur Dalton, John Gunderson. (TRIBUNE Photos.)

Ray Sangan, 18, of 4849 Irving Park blvd., looking over his registration slip. Ray will fight in the welterweight division. South side meet will be held next Monday and Tuesday nights. North siders will box at Loyola Jan. 31 and Feb. 1-2.



Francis Feid, 2740 N. Racine av., who holds an honorable discharge after four years in the United States navy, is in a serious mood as he contemplates how he'll fare in the 160 pound open division competition. The former tar is 22 years old.

ROBINSON BOUT WITH COSTNER GETS NEW DATE

The 10 round boxing bout between Ray [Sugar] Robinson and George Costner originally scheduled for Feb. 9 in Chicago Stadium, has been postponed until Wednesday night, Feb. 14, Irving Schoenwald and Jack Begun, promoters of the card, announced last night.

Ray Robinson.

The promoters' decision to change the date of the bout came following a request by telephone from Robinson in New York. The fighter said he is suffering from a sore throat and asked that he be given an additional five days for training purposes.

Robinson's request for a delay came in the midst of a heavy demand for tickets to the bout. The promoters expect one of the Stadium's biggest fight crowds.

OAK PARK MAN KILLED IN FREAK FISHING MISHAP

Cocoa, Fla., Jan. 24 (AP).—Alvin W. Rowe, 72 year old sports fisherman from Oak Park, Ill., was instantly killed yesterday morning when struck by a taxicab while fishing from a bridge across the Indian river. Police who investigated said the cab driver was blameless.

Rowe held the 1944 all-tackle record for salt water trout, an award made by the International Game Fish association. Last year he caught a 13¾ pound trout on a plug.

Mr. Rowe, who resided at 600 Washington blvd., left Oak Park during the Christmas holidays for his winter home in Florida, in company with his wife. He also is survived by three sons, Frank, Arthur, and Harold, all living in metropolitan Chicago. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

Owners Strike; Cancel Today's Races in Havana

HAVANA, Jan. 24 (AP).—A horsemen's strike pending the settlement of the dispute over the size of purses was announced today resulting in the cancellation of tomorrow's racing card at Oriental Park.

President Indalecio Pertierra of the track board of directors said owners and directors failed to reach an agreement after hours of negotiations.

The horsemen plan to meet tomorrow to seek means of enforcing their demands for increased purses, claiming they had accepted reduced prizes until Jan. 15 to help the track recover from last year's heavy storm damage. The increase demanded is from $8,350 weekly to $11,300 in weekly purses.

The track said its agreement with the horsemen called for the current payments to continue until the end of April; claiming purses this year had already been increased $1,500 over last year's weekly average. The management, however, expects to continue negotiations with the horsemen tomorrow.

SNAVELY WILL TAKE 2 AIDS TO NORTH CAROLINA

Ithaca, N. Y., Jan. 24 (AP).—Carl Snavely, who has resigned as Cornell's football coach to return to the University of North Carolina, said yesterday that two of his assistants, Max Reed and J. Russell Murphy, will go with him to Chapel Hill.

Simultaneously, Robert J. Kane, university director of athletics, disclosed that George K. James and Lt. Comdr. Mose Quinn, who came here with Snavely from North Carolina in 1935, would remain. James will be director of the army-navy-civilian physical training program and Quinn will coach baseball on his release from service.

Reed, Snavely's line coach and chief assistant, is a graduate of Bucknell university and veteran of six years play in the National Football league.

Murphy, backfield assistant, was graduated from the University of Colorado in 1926 and joined Snavely in 1939.

BASEBALL MAY DELAY START TO WAIT WAR TURN

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The major league owners, while hoping for the best, are rapidly approaching a state of panic over the possibilities of war pressure forcing them to call off their 1945 pennant races. Latest development is the possibility the season's opening will be delayed a month, possibly longer, in the hope baseball's status will be clearly defined by that time.

Will Harridge.

Even those, judging by expressions from different sectors of the major league front, who have preferred to keep their lips buttoned and await developments were somewhat stirred up yesterday over the fact that Ford Frick, president of the National league, and Clark Griffith, owner of the Senators, had conferred at Washington with Lewis B. Hershey, director of selective service.

Those believing that Washington should do the directing or ordering feared the Frick-Griffith snooping might be construed by the general public as an official baseball scheme to get a blanket exemption.

Frick Tells of Crisis.

Frick was unofficially quoted in New York yesterday as saying that the major leagues, at their meetings there Feb. 2 and 3, would pass on the advisability of going out of business for the duration or proceeding with their training trip arrangements.

Frick, immediately upon returning from his Washington hegira, had declared "Hershey told us exactly what we could expect under the current rulings and that was all we wanted to know."

Under "current rulings" the greater portion of the player supply would simply vanish into war work or Uncle Sam's uniforms. However, the season doesn't open until April

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 24 [Special].—De Paul university's basketball team tonight scored its second victory in a week over Hamline university, 49 to 40. Last Saturday the Blue Demons beat the St. Paul quintet in Chicago Stadium, 44 to 41.

Tonight Hamline outscored De Paul in the second half by a single point after trailing at the intermission, 30 to 20. With 11 minutes to play, George Mikan, giant De Paul center and scoring leader, was forced to leave the game on fouls with Hamline trailing, 39 to 29. His 17 points led the scoring, tho, for De Paul. Howie Schultz had seven field goals and seven free throws for Hamline.

Allen Sparks a Drive.

Mikan's brother, Ed, succeeded him at center and dropped in an importan field goal with five minutes to play after Hamline had cut the De Paul lead to 45-38. Big George committed four fouls in the first half.

At one time in the first half, Hamline led, 19 to 17. Then Jack Allen tied the score with a field goal and George Mikan's shot gave the Demons a lead they never relinquished. After the score was 21 to 20, De Paul made nine points while holding Hamline scoreless and six of these came on field goals by Allen. He shot six in the first half and added another one in the second period.

GEARS DEFEAT CLEVELAND PRO QUINTET, 59-50

Holding the lead thru most of the game, tho the margin was not safe until the final minutes, the American Gears of Chicago defeated the Cleveland Transfers, 59 to 50, in a National Basketball league game last night in the Chicago Coliseum. The White Liners girls' team from the American Gears plant was beaten, 30 to 26, by the Boeing Bombers of Wichita, Kas., in a preliminary game.

Mel Riebe of Cleveland, leading scorer in the National league, did more than his share for his team, setting the pace with 21 points, but six members of the Gears provided better scoring balance. Stan Patrick was the leader, with 16 points. The Gears led at the half, 28 to 27. Lineup:

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

COLLEGE sports followers everywhere are awaiting with lively anticipation the appointment of a successor to the late John L. Griffith as Big Ten conference commissioner. . . . Fritz Crisler of Michigan and Tug Wilson of Northwestern both would be receptive to an invitation provided certain considerations were effected. . . . We can think of no men better equipped for the job than Wilson and Crisler. . . . They have a great fund of common sense and have exerted a stabilizing influence that has helped to keep the Western conference on something approaching an even keel. . . . Equally as important as the selection of a commissioner is the kind of office the Big Ten will give him to operate. . . . Under Maj. Griffith the commissionership carried little or no authority. . . . It was a clearing house for grievances among universities and the handling of other secretarial chores. . . . The major was a master at smoothing out rough spots and patching up personal and institutional feuds. . . . He brought a tone of culture to athletics the like of which no other man in amateur sport can claim. . . . He was the best man for the type of work he was called upon to perform. . . . However, conditions have changed since Maj. Griffith was appointed to the office. . . . Proselyting and recruiting, the twin evils which often have endangered the continuance of college athletics, will be worse than ever after the war. . . . Maj. Griffith foresaw the trend and worried about it. . . . While some athletic directors and coaches spent their time decrying the rise of professional football, they ignored professionalism which was steadily engulfing amateur sport, the only kind of professionalism with which they had reason to be concerned. . . .

The Big Ter has a grand opportunity to save college athletics. . . . It need not place a shotgun in the hands of its commissioner, which the Pacific Coast conference, figuratively, has done. . . . But it must give him power to correct irregularities which every honest administrator knows exist. . . . The Southeastern conference has tried legalized subsidization of athletics and has found it hasn't established a maximum for the aid a school can give an athlete. . . . The Pacific Coast group has gone to the other extreme. . . . Somewhere between is the solution. . . . The Big Ten has a sensible code. . . . It needs only to be enforced. . . . We say that the Big Ten is in position to save athletics because its affairs are not merely midwestern in character but of national importance. . . . Its conduct of affairs and its policies will have much to do with the setting of standards in all intercollegiate associations.

MacPhail Not Candidate for 'Co-Ordinator'

New York, Jan. 24 [Special].—Col. Larry MacPhail, who brought joy and a pennant to Brooklyn in 1941, today removed himself as a candidate for the proposed post of national sports coördinator.

"There is no need for such a co-ordinator," MacPhail said, "and even if there was one he would not be able to accomplish anything." After serving in the army for two and a half years, MacPhail is now in New York on furlough and on Feb. 10 will be retired to inactive status.

The man who once had many irons in the fire says he has nothing in immediate view. "First of all, I must get my personal affairs in order," he explained. "I plan to go home to Grand Rapids, Mich., as soon as possible. My brother died about a month ago and there are many matters in connection with his estate that need attention."

Larry's last position in baseball was as president and general manager of the Dodgers, posts he relinquished in 1942 to enter the army. The jobs now are held by Branch Rickey, who is starting the third year of a five year contract.

UNBEATEN ARMY FIVE WINS 21ST STRAIGHT GAME

West Point, N. Y., Jan. 24 (AP).—The army basketball team remained undefeated after turning back Penn State, 33 to 28, today.

A reserve forward, Johnny Nance, paced the Cadets' attack for the second time this season when he scored six field goals.

For the first time in the 21 game winning streak, which now is in its third season, the Cadets were forced to freeze the ball in the waning minutes after being held to a 15 to 15 tie at the intermission.

The Blackhawks—cruelly deceived as to their hockey class last Sunday night when they beat Toronto, 4 to 0, while the New York Rangers were losing to Boston, 14 to 3—took a 4 to 3 licking from the Rangers in Chicago Stadium last night. A crowd of 10,506 mourners witnessed the flop.

So ended the dream of our tailenders to achieve their first two game winning streak in 29 games played since the season opened Oct. 29. It was the Hawks' second trimming at the hands of the Rangers on Stadium ice. The two also-ran outfits have struggled thru seven games this season. There have been four ties and the Hawks won one, way back on Nov. 1.

Effect Three Ties, Then Lose.

It wasn't that the Hawks didn't try. They simply can't play two good games successively. Last night they effected ties in each period. They wilted in the last minute of the first period to see a 1 to 1 tie disappear; they wilted in the last minute of the second period to dissipate a 2 to 2 tie, and in the third period they were able to hold a 3 to 3 tie only 18 seconds.

The Rangers' winning goal was scored by Kilby Macdonald after the puck had rested for seconds in front of the cage while Joe Shack, and Goalie Mike Karakas were piled up at the side of the nets. Most of the Hawks were in the other end of the rink while Macdonald was skating up to bat home the goal. It was Macdonald's second tie-breaking goal. He skated half the rink solo to break the 2 to 2 deadlock.

Bill Mosienko, one of the several Hawk players who can keep going two matches in a row, scored two of the Chicago goals, both with fine professional finesse, just as he did in last Sunday night's surprise victory. The other Chicago counter was by Wilf Field, another of the pros on the Hawk roster.

Mosienko Effects First Tie.

The Rangers led 2 to 1 at the end of the first period. Phil Watson, assisted by Bob Dill, scored the first goal of the evening for the New Yorkers 5 minutes and 15 seconds after the opening face off, on a long shot from Goalie Karakas' left.

The Hawks tied the count at 15:00 on Mosienko's shot from close in after he had captured Cully Dahlstrom's long carom which went around the boards at the rear of the cage.

The goal which broke this tie caused a delay of five minutes while the entire Hawk cast debated its validity. At 19:01 of the opening period Ab de Marco shot from a spot well to Goalie Karakas' left. The red light indicating a goal, flashed but the puck caromed right on from the cage. The goal umpire and a linesman said the puck went in and bounced out, a rare occurrence because of the manner in which the nets are draped for the purpose of preventing such controversial happenings. The referee allowed the goal—and the futile debate followed, De Marco was credited with the goal, Fred Thurrier and Hank Goldup were awarded assists.

Hawks Again Blow a Tie.

In the second period the Hawks again effected a tie and again blew it in the last minute of the session. Wilf Field, unassisted, tied it at 2 to 2 in 15:41 of the second period when he poked the rubber home after circling the cage.

In 19:12, Macdonald picked up the puck in front of the penalty box and dashed unmolested to Karakas' toes before cutting loose with the marker.

Joe Cooper and Don Grosso were marked with assists on a brilliant goal by Mosienko in 12:45. Then in 13:03 Shack and Macdonald teamed up for victory as the tired Hawks looked on.

GOLF CLUB HIRES DETROIT GIRL AS PROFESSIONAL

Hope Seignious to Report at Milwaukee in Spring.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Move over, men [again]!

This time the ladies have taken over the job of running a golf shop and giving a full course of instruction in how not to hook or slice. Their champion, according to reports from Milwaukee, will be Hope Seignious, 28 year old Detroit native, who will be on hand come spring to meet the members of that city's North Shore Country club.

Hope Seignious.

Played in All-American.

Hope will be remembered in these parts for her seventh place performance in the women's division of the All-American tournament at Chicago's Tam o' Shanter club. Val Beyers, North Shore golf chairman, announced yesterday that Miss Seignious will be available for the full club professional's repertoire—teaching, hiring caddies, handicapping, mending clubs, and will be happy to sell you golf balls if you turn in old ones for reprocessing.

Miss Seignious was a familiar figure in amateur competitions before she became a professional. She was runner-up to Edith Estabrooks for the 1936 W. W. G. A. junior championship in Detroit, and captured the Michigan woman's title seven times. Before going to Greensboro, N. C., as assistant pro to George Corcoran, Hope worked for two years in a Detroit war plant. North Shore will not be new to her, for several seasons ago she traveled it in a tidy 79.

Solves Man Power Shortage.

The North Shore committee, Beyers said, looks upon Miss Seignious' appointment as a solution to the man power shortage during the war and as a recognition of woman's place in a club professional's role.

The new Northwestern University Golf club, nee the Wilmette Country club, will be the scene of the 1945 Western conference golf tournament, a 36 hole medal play event, on Saturday, May 26. Ted Payseur, Wildcat coach who has been the most energetic figure in the game in sustaining intercollegate competition, prophesies that the old Wilmette fairways and greens will be in top shape for the boys when they start swinging for the title won by Johny Jenswold of Michigan at Medinah last year. . . . The new property, located at Lake av. and Harms rd. in Wilmette, was purchased by the university last October. . . . Its 132 acres will be devoted to golf for faculty and staff members and students. . . . A number of homesites also are expected to be available. . . . The Wildcats will use the course for the four matches they already have scheduled: Purdue on April 21, Wisconsin on April 28, Notre Dame and Minnesota [triangular] on May 5, and Michigan on May 12. . . . They also have scheduled a dual match with Illinois in Champaign on May 19.

The Chicago District Golf association is assembling its handicap card system for 1945, with distribution to all member clubs set by April 15. The card this year will have an innovation making it a complete evidence of the holder's golfing identification. . . . In addition to the holder's name, handicap, and his home course's rating, it also will carry the signature of his home club secretary. . . . The professional posts at Riverside and Medinah are still open. . . . The latter club has narrowed its candidates to three men and is expected to announce a decision within three weeks. . . . Among the Chicago district golf clubs where curling is flourishing are Indian Hill, Exmoor, Skokie, and Glen View. . . . The war service committee at Tam o' Shanter, headed by Chairman Jim Lowder, supplied more than 300 decks of cards and 500 puzzles, games, and books to army hospitals in this vicinity. . . . Among the recipients have been Vaughan, Hines, Fort Sheridan, Camp Grant, Camp Ellis, Gardiner, Mayo in Galesburg, Percy Jones in Battle Creek, Fort Custer, Mich., and Camp McCoy, Wisconsin.

POSTPONE STEEL GROUP MEETING TILL NEXT WEEK

A meeting of a group of Chicagoland steel plant executives interested in the continuation of competitive sports as a war time morale builder, scheduled for tomorrow, has been postponed until next week. The change was decided upon yesterday because of the illness of Howard M. Reineman, general manager of Industrial Metal Fabricators, Inc., and chairman of the committee of nine steel plant representatives.

In the meantime, members of the committee are continuing their work of contacting presidents and personnel directors of additional steel manufacturing and fabricating plants in the Chicago area. They report their project to carry a request for a green light on American sports to Washington is being well received.

The day of the committee meeting will depend on Reineman's recovery from an attack of flu.

North Shore Badminton Meet to Open Saturday

The annual class B tournament of the North Shore Badminton association will be held Saturday and Sunday on the courts of Central school, Glencoe. Competition will be conducted in men's singles and doubles, women's singles and mixed doubles. Richard Oelerich of the Kenilworth Garden Badminton club is chairman of the event.

SURVEY PLANS PROTECTION FOR YOUNGER BASS

BY BOB BECKER.

Altho the Illinois natural history survey has made the suggestion to the Illinois department of conservation that bass fishing could be improved in this state by reducing the crappie and bluegill population thru commercial fishing, it is not known now if and when such a regulation will be put into effect in this state.

Livingston Osborne, director of the conservation department, points out that the survey has been studying the fish populations of certain waters in this state for many years. We've known for some time that the men who are making these investigations constantly are stressing the fact that the competition between the bass and the large numbers of panfish is hurting the bass fishing. In view of this situation the survey, backed by its years of fact finding, made the suggestion that regulations be changed to permit a bigger take of panfish.

Bennett Gives His Opinion.

One of the respected fish experts on the staff of T. H. Frison, chief of the Illinois natural history survey, is George W. Bennett. Here is Bennett's letter to this department on the bluegill controversy:

"The sportsmen of the state apparently are raising the deuce about our recommendations that crappies and bluegills be placed on the list of commercial species in Illinois. Our studies of fish populations indicate that crappies, bluegills, and other sunfishes are in a large measure responsible for the poor bass fishing in that the young of these species compete with the young bass, so that the latter are unable to survive in large numbers.

"Therefore it is impossible to build up large bass populations against the competition. It is our belief that commercial fishing of our very extensive stocks of bluegills and crappies would relieve the pressure on the bass and thereby improve the bass fishing.

Thinks Other States Will Act.

"The sportsmen claim that we are favoring commercial fishermen in our recommendations and they are out to convince the legislature that things should go on as they have in the past.

"Within a period of 10 or 15 years I predict that crappies and bluegills will again be on the commercial list in all states where they are abundant."

Illinois is not the only state where authorities are admitting that heavier fising will [paradoxically] improve the sport. Michigan also is thinking about lifting regulations to permit a heavier take of panfish.

Lanes, De Vito Tenpin Meets Start Saturday

Two major bowling tournaments with 216 total entries listed, will open in Chicago establishments Saturday.

At the Bowling Lanes, 5221 Broadway, the fourth annual Individual Classic, Chicago's largest house event for women, will start with a completed entry list of 182. This will be a six game test across 12 lanes, and will end Sunday.

At Park Manor, 100 E. 75th st., the third annual Dom DeVito Classic will open with a final list of 734 entries in an eight game contest across 16 lanes. This tourney will run daily thru Feb. 11.

Four Squads Saturday.

The Bowling Lanes tourney was won last year by Rose Barnes of Cicero with a 1,208 score. The other previous winners of the tournament, who are Tillie Kagel Jardina of Indianapolis, 1942 winner, and Edwardina Coy of Detroit, 1943 winner, also are entered.

Four squads are scheduled for Saturday, starting at 6, 8, 10, and 12 o'clock. The final four squads will bowl Sunday at 4, 6, 8, and 10 o'clock.

Schalk Winner to Bowl.

The DeVito meet will present three squads on its opening day, scheduled at 5, 8, and 11 o'clock. Featured on the opening day of participation will be Tom Owen of Louisville, winner of Schalk's meet a year ago, and Frank Mataya and Cone Hermann of St. Louis. Both former champions of the event, Sgt. Ed Easter of Madison, Wis., 1943 winner, and Fred Thoma, Peoria, Ill., last year's victor, will appear later in the tournament.

Baseball May Delay Start of 1945 Season

17 and, even if Frick heard discouraging news from Hershey, the more optimistic magnates feel there is no need to come to a decision one way or the other at a meeting only eight days hence.

Harridge Favors Waiting.

Will Harridge, president of the American league and member of the three man advisory council, repeated yesterday when asked to comment on the alleged lugubrious Frick statement that it would be wise to mark time.

"Naturally, when we meet in New York we are going to discuss such an important subject as the playing season," said Harridge, "but it is a problem that may definitely solve itself one way or the other even before the training trips."

The magnates, at least those not inclined to get panicky about the present dark outlook, are reported to have informally discussed, even at this early date, the possibilities of delaying the opening of the season instead of canceling everything without regard to the chances that the war situation might improve. The present schedule calls for an April 17 inaugural but this could easily be set back a month or more and the playing chart reduced from 154 games to 140 per club.

Answer May Be 17 Year Olds.

The magnates, if their present stock of players should be pretty well cleaned out by war demands, could turn to the 17 year olds as vehicles for fan entertainment, but whether the critical customer would go for this class of play is questionable.

There are quantities of pre-draft age players with minor league experience but if the majors, in order to keep going, were to buy up this supply it would bring a shutdown of some of the few minors now operating.

CLEVELAND BARONS WIN.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 24 [AP].—The Cleveland Barons outpointed the Pittsburgh Hornets, 4 to 3, tonight, hampering the Hornets' chances to dislodge the Barons from runner-up position in the Western division of the American Hockey league.

HAWKS STIFLE RANGER OFFENSE—TEMPORARILY

A Ranger finds himself surrounded by Blackhawks in an attempt to essay a solo scoring effort in last night's National Hockey league game in the Stadium. Wilf Field (No. 11) takes the puck (arrow) while Hawk Teammates Harvey Fraser (15) and Cully Simon (17) prepare to discourage the ambitions of the Ranger. Three Teams Still Share in Classic Lead

A three way tie for the Classic league lead remained after last night's bowling in Marzano's, 5533 W. 63d st., with the defending champion Meister Braus replacing Congress Arcade which went into the session as a share holder of the top rung.

The champions swept their series against the Arcades with an aggregate of 3,187 on games of 1,103, 973, and 1,051. The Meister Braus won honors in team totals and rolled high single team game with the opening 1,103. Joe Sinke rolled a 696 series on games of 267, 142, 287. Paul Krumske of the Meisters contributed his fourth successive 613 series.

RUBBER PARLEY REPORTED HELD TO WAR NEEDS

No Post-War Trade Division Studied.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—Delegates of the United States, Great Britain, and The Netherlands, who began meeting here this week to study the world rubber situation, believe that the combined production of natural and synthetic rubber will be insufficient to meet world demand for two or three years after the war ends, it was learned today.

The representatives opened their executive sessions Monday and probably will end them Saturday. Members of the two foreign delegations then will visit synthetic rubber plants and rubber manufacturing and reclaiming plants.

No World Pact Considered.

Nothing in the nature of a world agreement on rubber production and marketing or future policies of the respective countries is under discussion, the delegates regarding such an agreement as a problem for the remote future.

The delegates also were reported not considering the possibility of eventual saturation of the market by the combined production of American synthetic plants and the restored plantations some time after the war. Trying to determine ultimate post-war rubber demands would be sheer guesswork, the delegates are said to believe.

Secretary of Commerce Jones last week reported that, altho synthetic production costs average about 33 cents a pound, some plants have produced at less than 18 cents, the average cost per pound of natural rubber in the 10 years before the war. Some observers assert the synthetic product can be made for substantially less than 18 cents and predict it may eventually determine the world market price.

Study Rehabilitation Problems.

Instead of considering such issues, the delegates, under the chairmanship of B. F. Haley, director of the office of economic affairs of the state department, are reported confining their conversations to the probable conditions of the rubber plantations seized by the Japanese, the outlook for bolstering the dwindling stockpile of natural rubber, and measures to put the rubber growing countries of the Netherlands East Indies and the Malayan peninsula into production when they are recovered. Opinion is that it will probably take two or three years to get natural production restored to pre-war figures.

The only natural rubber available to the allied countries since the Japs overran 90 per cent of the rubber producing areas comes from Ceylon and South America. The allies are relying very heavily upon the synthetic rubber produced in United States plants developed since the war started at a cost of 700 million dollars.

Ceylon and South America have increased production of the natural product, but the stockpile is dwindling, it was learned. However, American synthetic production is in excess of 750,000 tons annually and is considered at a satisfactory level. Russia also is making synthetic rubber but her allies have not been told how much.

Report 'Much Progress' on Oil Agreement

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—President Roosevelt's committee on the Anglo-American petroleum agreement, a pact which recently handed the administration a major foreign policy defeat, announced today that "much progress" had been made toward reconciling differences between the government and the oil industry as to its wording.

The agreement was signed in Washington last Aug. 8 by Secretary of State Stettinius, then undersecretary, for the United States, and by Lord Beaverbrook for Great Britain. The pact was promulgated as an instrument to assure the orderly development of petroleum resources for international trade and to provide a basis for a world-wide multilateral post-war oil accord.

Industry Assailed Pact.

The American oil industry vigorously assailed the pact as an attempt to regiment this country's petroleum interests and subject them to international cartel agreements. Congressional opposition developed on the grounds that the agreement might lead to British domination of American oil companies and because the pact was drafted with little open discussion.

President Roosevelt had submitted the agreement to the senate for ratification late in August, but withdrew it on Jan. 10 and promised to revise the document after it became obvious the pact would not be approved.

Joker Found, Brooks Fights Bill.

Sen. Brooks [R., Ill.] had called for the defeat of the agreement while it was pigeonholed in the senate foreign relations committee after the discovery of a "joker" which guaranteed maintenance of the British commercial system.

The revised pact will be submitted to Mr. Roosevelt for his consideration and for determination of a course of action preliminary to another meeting with British representatives. Committee members and members of the national oil policy committee of the petroleum industry war council met recently and drafted revisions acceptable to the government on the basis of industry opinions the new oil organization should be a purely advisory body and not seize state powers.

British Poor? U. S. Chamber 'Raises Brow'

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24 (AP).—The Nation's Business, magazine of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, said today that this country "may well raise an eyebrow at any suggestion" that Britain is "impoverished or discouraged."

In an article entitled "How Broke Is Great Britain?" the chamber of commerce publication cited figures and quotations of British leaders as evidence that the empire is not bankrupt and that it intends to emerge from the war to become again the world's leading nation in international trade.

Contrary to U. S. Objectives.

In this connection, British officials reported they had submitted to the American state department plans for a British government monopoly on cocoa produced in British West Africa, which is about half the world's supply.

The state department placed the plan before private dealer groups in this country, which reportedly criticized it as contrary to American economic objectives for free world commerce. The criticisms have in turn been given to the British embassy for consideration.

British officials said one of the purposes of organizing the government monopoly would be to get the best possible price for the cocoa. State department officials declined immediate comment or information.

Statement of Magazine.

The chamber of commerce magazine article said:

"On the theory that high wages in the United States increase production costs and that its own domestic economy can be controled, Britain is ready to meet its only worth-while competitor after Germany and Japan have been eliminated."

WARNS INDUSTRY NEEDS EARNINGS FOR PEACE USES

Industry's financial stability after the war may be weakened unless manufacturers get a better opportunity to reinvest a larger proportion of their earnings for post-war use, J. E. Otis Jr., president of Dodge Manufacturing corporation, warned yesterday in his annual report to stockholders, which showed increased net income and reduced sales.

He said manufacturers generally in the last five years had not been able to strengthen their financial position materially, and that Dodge's net worth had increased only $610,047 from its operations, despite unparalleled sales activity and conservative dividends. Taxes were 3.3 times funds set aside for the future.

Net income in the fiscal year ended Oct. 31 was $288,570, or $3.60 a share, compared with $212,077, or $2.65 a share, in the preceding year. The 1944 figures included profits of Etching Company of America, wholly owned subsidiary, since its acquisition last April 1. Sales declined to $7,805,836 from $8,744,669.

POST-WAR PLAN AHEAD OF NAZI FALL ADVISED

Commerce Group's Work Reviewed.

The need of concentrated post-war planning before Germany is defeated was emphasized yesterday by Leverett S. Lyon, chief executive officer of the Chicago Association of Commerce, at the organization's annual meeting in the Hotel Sherman.

Lyon reviewed the association's work last year as extending a task started in 1941 to assist Chicago businesses in their war production activities, and help them adjust to regulations affecting prices, wages and salaries, rationing, transportation, foreign trade, and man power.

"There is no sharp line between war problems and post-war problems," he asserted. "Contract cancellation, renegotiation, reconversion pricing, relaxation of priorities, and the disposal of war plants —all war problems—obviously have important post-war significance. Each of these subjects was comprehensively treated in the war problems schools and in war problems bulletins [of the association].

Tells View on Planning.

"The association believes that unless much post-war planning has been done by the time Germany falls the national economy and, with it the Chicago area, will suffer unduly long delay in reconversion. It believes, also, that it can contribute most to the achievement of high post-war production and employment by stimulating and aiding individual business men to prepare for the reconversion of their own enterprises.

"Our efforts in 1944 were highlighted by action to encourage the conversion to peace time production of a high percentage of the city's war time plant expansion, and to draw to Chicago not only new industrial plants, but operators for such government owned war plants as become available for civilian use."

Court Ruling Acclaimed.

Lyon discussed the importance of the Illinois Supreme court's approval of the law giving county officials significant powers in the foreclosure and sale of properties 10 or more years delinquent in tax payments. The association for more than five years had worked steadily to obtain constitutional legislation giving such powers, he said.

He asserted this ruling and the recent decision upholding the neighborhood redevelopment corporation act were milestones in Chicago's progress toward fiscal and physical rejuvenation and provided a real foundation for attacking the problem of blighted areas.

Thomas B. Freeman, president of Butler Brothers, was installed as the association's new president. Arthur T. Leonard, vice president of City National Bank and Trust company, became vice president for revenue, and W. A. Patterson, president of United Air Lines, general secretary.

GRAINS LITTLE CHANGED AFTER DIP, RECOVERY

Grain markets were unsettled yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade, reflecting rapid changes in professional sentiment and the character of the European war news. The close was uneven. An early break carried the markets off moderately to a new low on the current movement with Decembe. wheat and September oats at seasonal lows. Short covering brought a strong rally, but prices turned easy again in late trades.

Wheat closed ⅛ cent lower to ⅝ cent higher. Corn was ¼ cent lower to ⅜ cent higher and oats unchanged to ½ cent lower. Rye finished ⅝ cent higher to ¼ cent lower and barley was unchanged to ⅜ cent higher.

PEOPLE AND EVENTS

Philip R. Clarke yesterday was elected a director of the Pennsylvania Railroad company to succeed the late D. R. McLennan. Clarke has been president of the City National Bank and Trust company of Chicago since 1932. He is a director of various corporations including United States Steel corporation. He is also a trustee and vice president of Northwestern university, vice president of Presbyterian hospital, and a member of the board of governors of the Chicago Civic Opera.

Philip R. Clarke.

Appointments of Robert Flynn, Dan Buck, and George Douma as district sales managers of Wilson Brothers was announced by Charles H. Eaton, general sales manager. These follow the earlier selection of Robert Otte and Larry Hovermale for similar assignments.

The membership of the Chicago Board of Trade has received a card from Lt. Julian M. Marks, a prisoner of war in a German camp for the last year and a half. The card read: "Keep a seat at the table, gentlemen. Maybe not for tomorrow, but soon." Lt. Marks is a member of the board.

Cheng Pao-Nan, director of the midwest branch of the Chinese News service, will address members of the Association of Chicago Bank Women today in the Hotel Sherman.

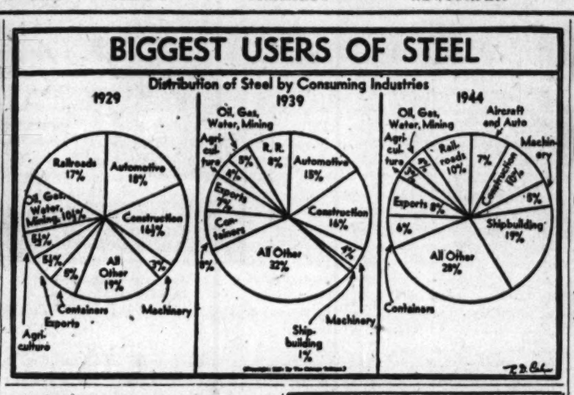
Bentley G. McCloud, president of the First National Bank of Chicago, was elected to membership in the Chicago Board of Trade.

John H. Martin, chairman of the production readjustment committee of the war production board, Washington, D. C., will address the Chicago Association of Commerce Wednesday in the Hotel Sherman.

Morgan L. Fitch yesterday was elected president of the Charles Ringer company, succeeding Charles Ringer who became chairman of the board. Other new officers include G. Irving Thunander, vice president; Frank Reilly, secretary, and Louis E. Dietrich, treasurer. Fitch formerly was president of the Chicago Real Estate board and also the Illinois Association of Real Estate Boards, and is a director of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

Morgan L. Fitch.

Holman D. Pettibone, president of Chicago Title and Trust company, announced the appointments of Harry E. Frey and Gordon Marcovitz as assistant secretaries.



7 Realty Sales Involve Total Above Million

BY AL CHASE.

Seven real estate transactions were reported yesterday involving a total investment of more than one million dollars. The largest was the 12 story Mayfair apartment hotel, at the northwest corner of Hyde Park blvd. and E. 55th st., 70 by 150 feet. It was sold by Metropolitan Trust company to the Trust Company of Chicago, trustee for an undisclosed syndicate, for $430,000 thru Hoffenberg & Kopp, broker. Julius J. Schwartz was attorney for the buyer. A $285,000 10 year 4 per cent mortgage was negotiated with the Connecticut General Life Insurance company, thru Sharon Mortgage company.

Sells Michigan Av. Building.

The four story building, 48 by 132 feet, at 320-22 N. Michigan av. was sold for $155,000 by the Harold McCormick estate, Judson F. Stone, trustee, to the S & S Building corporation of which Herman Spak is president. The new owner placed a $105,000 mortgage on the property at 4½ per cent. The assessed full value of the land and building was $248,698. Philip B. Heller was attorney for the buyer and Wilson & McIlvaine for the seller.

Samuel W. Banovitz, attorney, bought the seven story Carleton Plaza apartment hotel at 612 Fatterson av. from the Chicago Title and Trust company, trustee, for $141,000 thru Morris R. DeWoskin & Co.

Apartment Buildings Sold.

Ludwig Kahn of A. G. Stahl & Co., was broker in the sale of three apartment buildings for a total of $262,000. The 24 apartments at the northeast corner of Rockwell and Fitch sts. were bought by Simon E. Karsten from Abraham Laskey for $137,000. The 36 apartments at the northeast corner of Lawndale av. and Arthington st. were sold by Liberty National bank, trustee, to an undisclosed buyer for $98,500 cash. The 10 apartments at the southwest corner of Ridgeway av. and Ohio st. were sold by Robert T. E. Pentland to Hannah Mantell for $26,500 cash.

The 44 apartment building at the southwest corner of Karlov and Maypole avs. was sold for $100,000 by Northern Trust company, trustee, to Hyman W. Guroinick, who placed it in trust with the La Salle National bank. Joseph Rolnick was attorney for the buyer.

STOCK MARKET ENDS UNEVEN IN SLOWER TRADE

New York, Jan. 24 (AP).—Rail leaders advanced in the stock market today, and a variety of other issues improved fractionally before the recovery move stalled. The close was irregular. Southern Railway paced the move and was up 1½. Santa Fe, Great Northern, Delaware and Hudson, and New York Central followed.

Bethlehem, Chrysler, Standard Oil [New Jersey], and Goodyear were up fractions at the close, and Allied Chemical rose 1½. Du Pont was ahead 2⅛ on slim turnover. Activity tapered, aggregating 1,012,460 shares, against 1,365,850 Tuesday.

BONDS END MIXED.

New York, Jan. 24 (AP).—The bond market underwent alternate advances and declines today which left the main corporate list mixed at the end. Sales of $9,247,800 compared with $11,875,600 on Tuesday.

CHICAGO LIST EASY.

Prices were easy and turnover declined to 38,000 shares yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange. Among volume leaders were Chicago corporation common, up ⅝; Commonwealth Edison, Admiral, and Libby, McNeill, all unchanged, and Cherry-Burrell, down ¼.

REPORT RECORDS BY CONTINENTAL INSURANCE UNITS

Continental Casualty company net premium writings increased $6,631,851 to a peak of $38,307,620 in 1944, nearly 21 per cent above the preceding year, Roy Tuchbreiter, president, reported yesterday. He said half the increase was in accident and health business.

Continental Assurance company had a record $498,638,894 of life insurance in force at the end of the year, an increase of 12.4 per cent. The $55,208,915 gain in insurance in force was exceeded only in 1941, Tuchbreiter said.

Zenith Radio Earnings in Six Months Increase

Zenith Radio corporation, Chicago, yesterday reported net income for the six months ended Oct. 31, 1944, was $1,437,722, equal to $2.92 a common share, compared with $1,300,121, or $2.64 a share a year earlier.

EASTERN TRADE CUTS CHICAGO'S SHARE OF SCANT MEAT SUPPLY

The Chicago meat trade is losing about three million pounds of meat daily to eastern interests, principally New Yorkers, thru some of the stiffest buying competition for meat animals in the history of the stock yards. This buying drive by eastern packers opened soon after the start of the year when a tighter live stock situation thruout the country became apparent in meager meat supplies in the east.

In the first 24 days of this month the meat animal supply offered in Chicago was 9 per cent smaller than in the corresponding period last year. The amount purchased by the Chicago meat industry, however, was 15 per cent below a year ago. Trains leaving the Chicago stock yards hauled out 15 per cent more cattle than in December, 34 per cent more hogs, and 35 per cent more sheep and lambs. Compared with a year ago, they took 9 per cent more hogs, 16 per cent more cattle, and 87 per cent more sheep and lambs.

Only 14,000 hogs arrived yesterday, the lowest Wednesday total since Oct. 11 and 46 per cent under the average of the last three weeks. Almost all types sold at the price ceilings.

Lambs were bid up 15 to 25 cents to a seven months' top of $16.10. Cattle ruled strong to 25 cents higher.

Low Air Rates Urged to Gain Fruit Traffic

Air freight rates must be reduced substantially before any large volume of perishable commodities can be flown to market, officials of the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable association said yesterday at a meeting in the Stevens hotel.

Representatives of aircraft manufacturers, air lines, and several hundred producers and distributors of perishable fresh foods attended the meeting, which was called by the association to study speedier methods of distributing perishable foods after the war.

All Lines Studying Freight.

All of the air lines have intensive market studies for air freight under way. American Airlines, however, is the only one that has published a complete rate schedule, covering a variety of products from machinery to shoes.

William Garfitt, association vice president, said the industry requires air transportation "at costs not only commensurate with the food value and merchantability of the products themselves, but at cost levels which will attract the largest volume of air freight, for ours is a mass distribution and mass transportation industry."

Dr. Spencer A. Larsen, director of air cargo research at Wayne university, Detroit, reported that experiments with air freight from California to Detroit proved that many relatively high priced fruits will be bought at premium prices by housewives preferring naturally ripened products.

Urges 6.55 Cents Per Ton Mile.

The average ton mile freight rate of American Airlines is 26 cents, too high for fresh fruit growers, said Richard K. Waldo, commercial aviation consultant. Waldo said his investigations indicated a rate of 6.55 cents a ton mile could be offered by contract carriers devoted exclusively to freight.

Air line cargo experts said rates would be established at the lowest levels possible, and asked for definite data from the shippers concerning products, quantities, and shipping points from which they want service.

REMINGTON RAND DECLARES 5 PCT. STOCK DIVIDEND

Directors of Remington Rand yesterday declared a dividend of 5 per cent payable in the company's common shares. A similar dividend was paid June 1, 1944. A cash distribution of 30 cents also was voted. Both are payable April 2.

Lone Star Gas company declared a quarterly dividend of 15 cents on the common, payable March 12. This distribution is in line with an announcement last month that beginning in 1945 dividends of 15 cents would be paid quarterly to be supplemented by a year-end extra if conditions warranted.

Best & Co. declared an extra dividend of 40 cents and a quarterly payment of 40 cents on the common shares, both payable Feb. 15.

NATIONAL CYLINDER —GAS COMPANY—

COMMON, DIVIDEND NO. 35

A dividend of twenty cents (20¢) per share on the common stock of this Company has been declared, payable March 8, 1945 to stockholders of record at the close of business February 9, 1945. Transfer books will not be closed. Checks will be mailed.

CHICAGO ARMS OUTPUT, BIG IN '44, TO BE HIKED

District Production 74 Pct. Critical.

War producers in the Chicago ordnance district are in a production period as serious as the emergency after Pearl Harbor, Col. John Slezak, district chief, said yesterday in a review of accomplishments in 1944 and a discussion of this year's needs. He said present contracts are valued at more than 3 billion dollars.

Contractors have been called upon to carry their biggest production load of the war to fill the urgent need for weapons and ammunition on the fighting fronts.

"More than 74 per cent of our production in the Chicago district is currently devoted to items classified as 'critical' by the army service forces," Col. Slezak said. "This compares with 33 per cent six months ago and is indicative of the tremendous responsibility, as well as production load, that private industry must carry at this time."

Expect New Record.

He explained that altho last year's production of finished ordnance material by district contractors decreased 164 million dollars from the 1943 total of 1 billion 672 millions, the result of several large contract terminations, the output in 1945 is expected to set a new record.

Of the present 3,091 contracts in the district, totaling 3 billion 36 million dollars, approximately 60 per cent is held in the immediate Chicago area.

Companies in the Chicago district, largest artillery production area in the country, have received instructions to go "all out," and by next June are scheduled to have increased their production of 90 mm. shells by 120 per cent, 105 mm. shells 60 per cent, and 155 mm. shells 500 per cent.

New Lines in Operation.

"The anticipated large stepup in the output of 155 mm. shells is based on the fact that four new production lines for this item recently went into operation and two more are scheduled to begin production soon," Col. Slezak said. 'Three of these plants are located in Illinois, two in Minnesota, and one in Wisconsin."

The production of 105 mm., 8 inch, 155 mm., and 240 mm. howitzer carriages and 57 mm., 90 mm., 155 mm., and 8 inch gun carriages is in urgent demand by Gen. Eisenhower on the western front and the high level of production last year will be maintained in 1945, he predicted.

"The tremendous expenditure of heavy ammunition on the European front has worn out gun and howitzer barrels at unprecedented rates," Col. Slezak said. "As a result the district has entered a program which will see this type of production in March double the monthly figure of a half year earlier.

Sighting Equipment Needed.

"Production of 81 mm. trench mortars attained a rate in December, 1944, which will quadruple the June output. Other items scheduled for sharp 1945 increases are carriages for 57 mm. anti-tank guns and sighting equipment for all types of artillery.

"Manufacturers in the district have an important share of the army's highly critical truck program, and they are being asked to go the limit in their production. Currently the most urgent items in the district's small arms program are steel cores, case cups, bullet jackets, and metallic belt links for .50 caliber armor piercing machine gun cartridges. Production of these items in 1945 will top 1944 figures by several hundred million."

New orders let in 1944 totaled 2 billion 150 million dollars, against new terminations of 517 millions. He said the majority of terminations were made to permit companies to start production on new or improved items.

GIMBEL TO VOTE ON EXCHANGE OF SENIOR SHARES

New York, Jan. 24 (AP).—A special meeting of stockholders of Gimbel Brothers will be held Feb. 28 to vote on a directors' proposal to reclassify the outstanding 179,779 shares of $6 cumulative preferred stock, Bernard F. Gimbel, president, said today.

The plan provides that each present preferred share become one and one-twentieth shares of $4.50 cumulative preferred with the stipulation that the dividend be held at its present rate for the quarter ended April 30 and thereafter at the new rate.

Gimbel said directors recommended the change "as in the interests of the preferred stock holders who will be able to retain their investment without the federal tax liability and the reinvestment problem which would exist were the present stock to be redeemed."

River, Harbor Spending Set at 4½ Billions

Government expenditures after the war for river and harbor work, flood control, and multiple purpose projects may exceed 4½ billion dollars, Maj. Gen. Eugene Reybold, chief of army engineers, said yesterday.

He told the closing session of the Associated Equipment Distributors meeting in the Edgewater Beach hotel that the total included projects adopted by congress amounting to 3 billion 63 million dollars plus economically justified projects recommended to congress.

"Of the program authorized by congress, detailed construction plans and specifications are ready for a volume of work estimated to cost 500 million dollars and distributed general thru the country," he said.

Tells Waterway Benefits.

Telling of war time benefits of existing waterway improvements, he asserted that thousands of miles of improved inland waterways had relieved other modes of transportation of vast tonnages that "might have broken the back of our entire transportation system."

"These benefits are the result of the important steps that have been taken over a long period of years on our waterway program," Gen. Reybold said. "The Illinois river, at one time just an unimportant tributary of a large river, has been canalized and connected with Lake Michigan. Thus it is now an important connecting link between the navigation system of the Great Lakes and the Mississippi river system to the Gulf of Mexico."

Defense Value Emphasized.

As the United States is brought in closer proximity to other big countries because of rapid transportation, increasing consideration must be accorded to the defense values of flood control and navigation improvements, he asserted.

William E. Warne, assistant commissioner of the department of the interior's bureau of reclamation, said the first item in the bureau's post-war plan was to increase the irrigated area of 17 western states from 21 to 43 million acres which, thru the building of many dams, will provide the west the lowest cost hydro-electric power in the United States.

Extensive use of construction equipment in railroad maintenance after the war was expected by G. M. Magee, research engineer for the Association of American Railroads.

FEDERAL LIFE'S ASSETS UP MORE THAN 1½ MILLION

Assets of Federal Life Insurance company last year increased $1,573,000, L. D. Cavanaugh, president, said yesterday in his annual report to stockholders. Holdings of United States government bonds increased more than 2½ millions.

L. D. Cavanaugh.

Total income was $5,319,171, with premium income on life and accident and health business $4,070,155. Claim and other payments to policyholders and beneficiaries and increase in the reserve funds held for their benefit amounted to $2,925,870.

After setting up a pension fund liability of $50,000 the surplus increased $421,865 to $1,142,511. This surplus added to capital and contingency reserve provides a total excess security to policyholders of $2,442,511, representing 10.7 per cent of the total admitted assets of the company, Cavanaugh said.

LONG NEGLECTED CHEMICAL GAINS WIDE USE IN WAR

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 24 (AP).—Monsanto Chemical company today said it soon will begin volume production of melamine, a century old Swiss chemical neglected for years, but found to have a wide range of war uses and almost limitless peace time possibilities. It is used in ignition and electrical control systems of military aircraft.

Monsanto research technicians have reacted melamine with formaldehyde and introduced the resin into the microscopic hollows of individual textile fibers, making the fabric more resistant to shrinkage and crushing without changing its texture appearance.

FINANCE FACES MAJOR PEACE TASKS: MERRILL

Must Help Channel Flow of Funds.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

The nation's financial business faces two major responsibilities to the public in the post-war period, Charles E. Merrill, head of the investment banking and brokerage firm of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Beane, said yesterday in the annual report.

Charles E. Merrill.

These responsibilities are:

1. To familiarize the owners of 37 billion dollars of E, F, and G war bonds, augmented by other individual savings estimated at 63 billions, with the principles of sound investments to prevent unwise speculation and competition for the purchase of goods which could make these savings a threat to the national economy.

Private Capital Urged.

2. To make sure that private capital furnishes industry with the funds needed for the reconversion from war to peace, for growth, and for the marketing of new products.

Merrill said that a recurrence of the "blind buying of securities" that occurred in the 1920's would be disastrous to the country. He urged every investor to investigate before investing.

He asserted it was the duty of the financial community to differentiate as to the source of capital for industry in need of funds. Some of the money needed will be of the risk type and some of investment type. He said the financial business must see that funds for each of these types of enterprise are obtained from the proper sources. Persons who cannot afford to risk their savings should not have their money diverted to ventures of too speculative a character.

Profits Decrease in 1944.

Merrill said 1944 profit of the firm, largest of its kind in the country, was $4,421,733 after partners' salaries and 6 per cent interest on capital. After federal and state taxes $921,733 remained as net profit to be divided among the 67 partners. Profit before taxes was $4,853,874 in 1943, with $1,103,874 net to be divided among the partners. Gross income for 1944 was $18,662,459, compared with $17,321,381 in 1943.

Total assets of the firm increased from 105 million dollars to 135 million, and net worth increased from $7,800,000 to $10,250,000. A total of 46,000 new accounts was added.

Indicating that the firm had no desire to take over speculation lost by the bookies when the race tracks were closed, Merrill said the firm made it a part of its policy last year to discourage small speculative margin accounts which may represent the total savings of investors. There had been reports that erstwhile customers of the bookies had been moving into low priced stocks.

Merrill emphasized the importance of the small investor, however, and said the firm's services would be available to this large group.

TIME REQUIRED TO CLEAR EAST'S FREIGHT TIEUP

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24 (AP).—Embargoes placed on civilian freight and bulk grain shipments yesterday will have little noticeable effect on relieving the railroad traffic jam in northeastern states before Friday or Saturday, an official of the Association of American Railroads predicted today.

The embargoes, effective until midnight Saturday, were ordered by the office of defense transportation to alleviate a tie-up in the northeast because of weather conditions.

A. F. Swinburne of the association explained that many freight shipments already were en route when the embargoes were announced and would have to be handled within the next few days.

In Chicago, John Hayden, manager of the A. A. R.'s car service division, said it "appears from this end that good progress in relieving the tie-up is being made."

GREEN AND KELLY MAY CONFER ON PROBLEMS HERE

Discussion of Transit Muddle Foreseen.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 24.—Gov. Green said today he is looking forward to a talk with Mayor Kelly here next Tuesday. Politicians say the paths of the No. 1 leaders of the Republican and Democratic organizations are converging for an unprecedented effort to solve some of Chicago's old problems.

Altho there is no definite appointment for the meeting, Kelly will be in Springfield for a Jackson day dinner and it is believed that his main purpose for the trip is to see Green.

"These problems are far too important to let precedent stand in the way of possible solution," the governor said. "The people want service from government, regardless of which political party is in control.

"I'll be glad to see Mayor Kelly when he is in the state capitol building Tuesday. I think that every other mayor in Illinois has called on me to talk about public problems, and there were many Democrats among them. In one day I met 15 mayors."

Leans Toward Boston Plan.

The governor said he feels he has broad aspects of a Chicago program sufficiently well in hand to make discussion profitable. Details can be filled in after there is agreement on outlines, he said.

As to Chicago's traction muddle, the governor is reported to be leaning toward the so-called Boston plan, which provides for dividing control between the governor and the mayor. Kelly has talked about a Chicago port authority to run all forms of local transportation. They are agreed, in Green's words, that good local transportation is "perhaps the greatest need" of Chicagoans. They may talk about the various superhighway projects.

Slum Clearance.

Slum clearance is another topic on the Kelly-Green agenda. Kelly is expected to support the state housing board's bill to permit Illinois insurance companies to invest up to 10 per cent of their assets in projects under the neighborhood redevelopment act.

The mayor may ask for reciprocal aid for the bill introduced by his legislative spokesman, Sen. Daley of Chicago, to give the city power to acquire blighted areas by condemnation and to sell or lease the properties to private companies for redevelopment.

Kelly Praises Green.

Kelly praised Green yesterday for recommending that $250,000 in state funds be spent to buy up blighted property near the Chicago west side medical center. Land thus acquired would be used for a "quiet zone" park belt which also would be available for expanding the 11 institutions in the district.

Green also suggested legislation to make 50 per cent of the cities' share of gasoline tax revenues available for other than strictly highway uses—policing, lighting, and drainage.

The governor was warned by two callers today that Democrats threaten to make great inroads in the best Republican territory of Cook county —"the country towns" outside of Chicago.

William Busse and William Erickson, county commissioners and suburban G. O. P. leaders, said that Democrats with CIO aid will present tickets in township elections for the first time this spring. They asked for more patronage for the "country towns," but did not contend this would be enough to block the threat. Green asked for a report analyzing the situation in each of the 30 townships involved.

TWO FINED $25 AS BOOKIES IN CALUMET CITY

Arrested Dec. 16 as keepers of a handbook at 16 State st., Calumet City, Raymond Dahlkamp, 678 Douglas av., Calumet City, and Anthony Palombo, 417 E. 109th st., Chicago, were fined $25 and costs each yesterday by Justice of the Peace Joseph Giewartowski in the county highway police court in Calumet City.

Alphonse De Sabeo, 3647 Washington st., Lansing, and Joseph Barnett, who gave his address as the Jerome hotel, Hammond, Ind., were fined $5 and costs each as inmates of the gambling place.

Ray Kirges, 1420 Park av., Chicago Heights, arrested Dec. 9 on a charge of accepting bets in a tavern at 2202 Chicago rd., Chicago Heights, was fined $10 and $5 costs. Joseph Kumiega, 101 Pulaski rd., Calumet City, charged with possessing a slot machine in his tavern on Dec. 30, was fined $25 and costs. All the arrests were made by Chief John McGinnis of the county highway police.

WINS $105,000 TRIPLE DAMAGES IN MOVIE SUIT

Thomas Murray, 70, of 3555 Madison st., former owner of the Thalia theater, 1807 Allport st., was awarded $105,000 triple damages yesterday against seven individuals and companies in the motion picture industry by a jury of five men and seven women in the federal District court of Judge William H. Holly.

Murray had accused the defendants of conspiring, in violation of anti-trust laws, to ruin his business by depriving him of first run pictures which he charged were given to a competitor, the Milo theater, 1821 Loomis st. As a result, he alleged, his business fell off until he was forced to close the theater.

Defendants were the Milo Theater corporation; its owner, John L. Manta; Van A. Nomikos, operator of a chain of 14 theaters; Henry Elman, president of Monogram pictures; Capital Film Exchange, Inc.; Loew's, Inc., and Twentieth Century Fox Film corporation.

SENATE GROUP APPROVES NEW AIRPORT LAW

Early Test of Bill's Legality Sought.

BY ROBERT HOWARD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 24.—Revised legislation to create local airport authorities in downstate Illinois was recommended for passage today by the senate committee on aeronautics and military affairs.

Sponsors hope the bill can be passed quickly by the general assembly so a friendly suit to test its constitutionality can be submitted to the Illinois Supreme court at its March term. Airport authority legislation passed in 1943 was rejected by the court.

Springfield, Danville, Rockford, and Freeport created airport authorities under the old law, and several additional municipalities, anticipating federal grants, are eager to operate under the revised bill, said Chairman Peters [R., St. Joseph], one of its sponsors.

Could Issue Bonds.

An airport authority would be required to buy, thru appraisal and condemnation proceedings, any existing airport now operated on a municipal basis, said Corporation Counsel Hugh J. Dobbs of Springfield. In an effort to meet court requirements ruling the duplication of governmental functions, the bill followed provisions in the law creating the east side levee and drainage district in St. Clair and Madison counties. Sen. Thomas [R., Belleville], said cities in that area are interested in an airport district.

Authorities would have power to levy taxes up to 1½ mills to operate and maintain airports and could issue bonds to finance all or part of construction and expansion costs up to 1 per cent of total property assessments.

The proposed law could be adopted by Chicago, with or without the authority also taking in suburban municipalities, but Dobbs said amendments probably would be needed in that case.

Leverone Approves Bill.

Louis E. Leverone, president of the Illinois Aviation conference, issued a statement approving the bill and adding:

"If the Chicago territory wished to adopt the act it may be desirable to provide for the appointment of commissioners upon a basis in this territory different than downstate. Whatever plan is acceptable to the Chicago area will be acceptable to the downstate sponsors of the bill, who believe this bill can be made to fit the picture of a port authority suggested for Chicago and provide a lake front airport, as well as for other airports within and adjacent to the city of Chicago.

"One great advantage would be the placing under one agency of all airports within the Chicago region, thus avoiding duality of control and double taxation and permitting systematic and efficient airport development of the entire area."

Takes in Adjacent Areas.

Since downstate communities need to go outside their city limits to find airport sites, the authorities would take in some adjacent territory. Sen. Carpentier [R., East Moline], said Rock Island, Moline, and East Moline are considering an authority under which the three cities would join in supporting one modern airport. In that event, the bill provides that each mayor would appoint one member to the airport commission, with the county judge naming two, one of whom would represent the unincorporated territory.

Any city of 5,000 population could form an authority, subject to a referendum. Single city authorities would have three members appointed by the mayor and two by the county judge.

REPORT BADGER DEAN NAMED TO DYKSTRA'S POST

E. B. Fred May Get U. W. Presidency.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 24 [Special].—A. Matt Werner, Sheboygan, chairman of the special University of Wisconsin board of regents committee charged with nomination of a successor to President Clarence A. Dykstra, said here tonight:

"The committee has agreed upon a candidate."

Werner said the regents will meet at 9 a. m. tomorrow to hear the committee report and to vote upon the appointment. He declined to reveal the name of Dykstra's successor.

Unofficial sources, however, indicated the committee will recommend E. B. Fred, 58, dean of the university college of agriculture. Dykstra has resigned as 11th president of the university to become provost of the University of California at Los Angeles.

Dean Fred, a native of Middleburg, Va., attended Randolph-Macon academy, Virginia Polytechnic Institute, and the University of Goettingen in Germany. He joined the Wisconsin faculty in 1913 as assistant professor of agricultural bacteriology. He is a veteran of World War I.

WOMEN PETITION LEGISLATURE TO ERASE OLEO TAX

Madison, Wis., Jan. 24 [Special].—Charging the Wisconsin state tax of 15 cents per pound on oleomargarine is "unfair and discriminatory," two women's organizations of La Crosse today filed a petition in the Wisconsin legislature demanding "immediate repeal of the measure, which was enacted in 1935 at the behest of Badger state farmers and dairy interests."

The petition was signed by 57 members of the La Crosse League of Women Voters and the American Association of University Women. The petition asserted that the tax was especially burdensome because of the "exigencies of war time food rationing and shortages."

In addition to taxing oleomargarine sales, Wisconsin imposes annual license fees for handling margarine. The fees are: Manufacturers, $1,000; wholesalers, $500; retailers, hotels, and restaurants, $25; boarding houses, bakers, and confectioners, $5.

Any consumer buying the butter substitute from an out-of-state source is taxed $1 per year.

State Sen. John Cashman [P., Denmark] fostered Wisconsin's oleomargerine tax and license regulations. Cashman, a member of the 1945 legislature, was absent today when the La Crosse women's petition was submitted.

Judge Hangs a $5 Fine on Rope Skipper, Age 47

Vincent Myslewski, 47, of 5131 S. Washtenaw av., a mechanic at the Dodge plant, was fined $5 by Judge Jacob M. Braude in Women's court yesterday for skipping rope Tuesday night at State and Randolph sts. Traffic Policeman Coe S. Young testified that Myslewski had joined a group of sorority initiates.
